

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

The following volume contains what may be properly enough denominated the Original of the most valuable portion of Bishop Lesley's well-known history of Scotland, printed at Rome in the year 1578. That work, as described by the author, consists of two parts. In the first seven books, he gives an abridged account of the more memorable occurrences in early Scottish history, prior to the accession of King James the Second, in the year 1436; of which a more extended narrative had been already published, in the first edition of the work of Hector Boece, and in the Scottish version of Archdeacon Bellenden. In the last three books, he presents to his countrymen, for the first time, a copious detail of events from that æra, down to the ear 1562.*

^{*} The general title of Bishop Lesley's work is as follows:—"De origine, moribus, "et rebus gestis Scotorum, Libri decem. E quibus septem, veterum Scotorum res in "primis memorabiles contractius, reliqui vero tres posteriorum Regum ad nostra "tempora historiam, quæ hucusque desiderabatur, fusius explicant." The title prefixed to the second part is,—"De rebus gestis Scotorum posteriores libri tres, recentiorum regum historiam, quæ hucusque desiderabatur, ab anno Domini MCCCCXXXVI.

In the dedication of this latter part of his history to Mary Queen of Scots, Bishop Lesley alludes to its first composition in the Scottish tongue, as one of the expedients which his affectionate zeal in her service had prompted him to employ, for sustaining the fortitude and constancy of his ill-fated mistress. "Ad quam rem cum plurimum momenti allaturam historiæ lectionem putarem, res gestas posteriorum nostrorum Regum (quas nullus antea tetigerat) nostra lingua scriptas, ego, cum legationis munus apud Anglos obirem, septem jam abhinc annis, præsens Majestati Vestræ dederam. Verum cum temporis nostri calamitas me publicis Reip. muneribus excluserat, nolui in hoc meo otio ita languere, ut nulla plane ex meis laboribus utilitas ad Remp. nostram manare videretur. Quare ne hoc meum otium sine ullo fructu Reip. periisse existimetur, non solum quæ antea vulgari lingua festinans effuderam, latino sermone explicavi, verum etiam anteactæ ætatis integram historiam in unum volumen arctius ad nostrorum commoditatem compressi."*

To this part of his own eventful life, and to the fate of his historical labours, Bishop Lesley also alludes in the general dedication of his work to Pope Gregory XIII. After setting forth, in no very measured terms, the dignity and utility of the history of his native country; in which, as he is pleased to imagine, was so eminently displayed the invincible adherence, and devoted submission of her Kings and Saints, Confessors and Martyrs, to the faith and spiritual dominion of the Catholic church, and from which her rebellious sons might derive so much wholesome correction and reproof, this unflinching advocate of the Unreformed Religion thus proceeds: "Nec hee modo utilitas hinc ad Sectarios de-" rivabitur: verum illa quidem multo uberior ad Catholicos nostros per-" manabit, qui cum viderint se non commentis hominum, ut hæretici, " sed divorum plane oraculis affigi, non solum studium in comminuenda " hæresi acrius collocabant, verum etiam exilii ac egestatis labores, quos "Religionis causa subiverunt, animo multo quidem placatiori tolera-" bunt. Quarum rerum recordatio quanta et quam solida voluptate " mentem meam perfudit in illis angustiis, quas domi forisque, Reipu-" blicze, Principis ac Religionis causa libentissime pertuli, facilius qui-" dem et jucundius multo cogitando quam scribendo assequi potero. " Quare quem ego fructum ex his longe uberrimum percepi, eundem a " reliquis nostratibus delibare posse cum intelligerem, Scotorum his-" toriam, quam in carcere rudiorem informaram, indeque tanquam nau-" fragii tabulam in Italiam importaram, texendam, seu potius a princi-" pio denuo retexendam, qua potui diligentia, curavi; quam cum per-" poliissem, multisque antiquorum annalibus non parvo labore conqui-" sitis cumulatius auctam absolvissem, statui ut, si emanaret in vulgus, " tuo in primis nomine (Sanctissime Pater) tanquam numine quodam " communita emanaret," etc. *

To the readers of Bishop Lesley's Work it will readily occur, that in these epistolary addresses to the Pope and to the Queen, our author gives utterance to his own excruciated feelings in a strain which would have ill suited the more severe style of historical narration, but which is not without its use in unveiling the motives and purposes of the author, and in marking the real character and tendency of his celebrated work. At present they are referred to merely in proof of the fact, that the latter portion of Bishop Lesley's History is a Latin version, with additions and corrections, of a composition originally framed in his own vernacular tongue, and presented by him to Queen Mary in the year 1571, about two years before his final retreat to the Continent.

Of the fate of the manuscript presented to the Queen, nothing has been ascertained, and whether it may not still exist, can only be matter of vain conjecture. It may, however, be readily presumed, that it could not have been thrown aside or neglected, either by the Queen or by the several intelligent persons who followed her misfortunes, and in her dreary captivity continued to attend her till her death. Among these was Sir Andrew Melville of Garvock, her Master of Household, the brother of Sir Robert Melville of Murdocairnie, created Lord Melville in 1616, and of Sir James Melville of Halhill, author of the well known Memoirs of his own times. That the original manuscript may have remained in the possession of Sir Andrew Melville, after the death of his mistress, is by no means improbable; and that either he or one of his brothers had obtained a transcript of it, there is the strongest reason to believe; for unquestionably the earliest copy known to exist, is that in possession of the family on whom have descended the honours of the first Lord Melville. It is apparently in the hand-writing of a contemporary English scribe; and were it not for the errors of transcription, particularly in proper names, by which it is occasionally deformed and obscured, and which could scarcely have been overlooked by the author, the credulity of an antiquary might have been tempted to recognise it as that which was prepared for presentation to the Queen of Scots.

This manuscript appears to have suffered some lamentable mutilations, which had been supplied by another hand about a century later; but subsequent injuries and neglects have still left it in an imperfect state. It was communicated to the Editor by the late Earl of Leven and Melville, and has been adopted as the text of the present publication,—its defects having been supplied from a copy of later date, (probably of the earlier years of the seventeenth century,) preserved among the manuscripts of Archbishop Laud, in the Bodleian Library.*

The only other manuscript which the Editor has had any opportunity of examining, is that in the Yelvertonian Collection, formerly belonging to the Lords Viscounts Longueville, and now in the possession of their descendant, Lord Calthorpe. * It was obligingly communicated by his Lordship, but was found to contain only a small portion of Bishop Lesley's work, abridged and modernized by a transcriber of the latter part of the seventeenth century.

Among the manuscripts in the possession of Sir Henry St George, Clarencieux, as described by Smith, + there was a copy of Bishop Lesley's Scottish work, apparently complete; but its age is not specified; and of the fate of that collection no traces have been found.

In the library at Dupplin, there is a copy of the work, of which only a transient inspection has been permitted by the present owner. It appears to be nearly of the same age with that of Archbishop Laud in the Bodleian Library.

The readers of this volume, who may take the trouble of comparing it with the Latin version, will readily perceive that the alterations made by the author on his own original sketch do not consist merely in correction and enlargement; but that, in numerous instances, he has been induced to suppress or generalize those more minute details and domestic occurrences which he may have found less susceptible of that classic attire in which he was naturally ambitious of exhibiting his historical work. In this respect, the present publication may be found to contribute some few particulars to the materials of our national history; but a still higher value will probably be attached to it as a specimen of pure and vigorous composition, in his native language, by one of the most able and accomplished Scotchmen of the sixteenth century.

It is scarcely necessary to add, that in the preliminary Epistle to the Queen, and at the conclusion of the work, will be found some minute but not uninteresting particulars, relative to the views and intentions of the author in the composition of the following History, as well as to the very unfavourable and inauspicious circumstances under which it was begun, and which must have distracted and overwhelmed a spirit of less energy and sanguine confidence.

TO THE RIGHT HEICH, RIGHT VERTUOUS, AND EXCELLENT PRIN-CESSE MARIE, BE THE GRACE OF GOD, QUENE OF SCOTTIS, AND DOWARIER OF FRAUNCE, YOUR MAJESTIES MAIST HUMIL SUBJECT AND SERVITEUR, JOHN LESLYE BISCHOPE OF ROS, PRAYIS PROSPEROUS HELTH, INCRESE OF HONOR, AND PERPE-TUALL FELICYTE.

THE noble wife and prudent Senatous Romane, callit Cato, (maift excellent and gracious Soueraine Lady,) travaillit fo cornellie in the common wealthe of his countrey, takend pleasair at all tymes to be vertuously occupeit, haifing nothing in grytar distance nor yddines, that commonly he was wont to faye, Se nunquam minus etiofum fmiffe quam cum otiofus, neque minus folum quam cum folus effet; quhilk is, that he was never more biffie occupeit nor quhen he was idle, or yit les folitare nor guhen he was allone. Be thir wordes, the eloquent and learned philosopher Cicero declaris this ancient counsalour to haife meanit; Quhen foevir he was sparit from the senate, and treating of the publick effaires of the counsell and Impire, than he employed his haill cure and studie to reide these buikes, be knauledge of the quhilkis he micht be mair abill to gife wife prudent and holesome concell for the comone wele of his cuntrey: And fus in ydilnes, (quhilk was but vacant time from the concell) he was studiouslye and ernistly occupeit; and being seperate fra the company of the senatours, was well accumpaneit with his buikis. Quhilk faieing is worthy to be notit and followit be all thame quha hes ony entres in governing of the comone weill of thair countrey, that they continually travaile for increase of knawledge, in fic things principallye as falbe maist comodious for the honor and weill of the fame. And albeit that all kinde of honest knawlege and learning bringes fum fingular commodite to thame quha studiouslye travailles thearin, yit the lyese of man being sa schort, sufferis nocht the time to be sufficient to reide and comprehend all that is wreittin; thairfore maift comonly men dois employe thair studie to the reading of fic buikes as are maist facile, hafing delectatione and proffeit joyned theirwith. Quhilkis thingis can not be had so perfitlye, (eftir the judgement of many learned and wife men,) as be the diligent studye and reading of historyes; lyik as Cicero in fewe wordes hes comprehendit, faying, Historie is the witnes of time, the licht of truth, the life of memorie, maistres of life, and meffenger of antiquite; for all uther sciences and artes hes certain preceptis and reulis prescrivit, quhilk without teaching and demonstratione of expert maiftreis, and also knawledge of utheris artis joined thairwith, can nocht be learned, yet this science is sa facile that the same misteris no help of utheris, but be hearing and reherfe only as also be reiding may be onderstand. As the maist excellent and godly Historiographer Moyfes, efter the compleitinge of the devine Historie quhilk he wraite, with the lawe of God infert thairintill, fayis unto the pepill, Thow fall reherfe this unto thy children fonnis and utheris, that the same may be haldin in perpetuall remembrance; mening that the historie micht be eafilye learnet and kepit in memorie, althoughe the written buik therof hed perischeit; being only tauld and repetit fra fader to sone, and fra one to ane uther, and fwa neidit nocht the teaching of any uther maister. The delectatione and pleafure heirof is fa gryit, that quha fo ever enteris in the pleasand studye thairof sall thinke the same so delectable, that he wald never withdraw him felfe therfra with his will. And fon-dry hes taken fo gryit plefour tharintill, that being fare vexed with feiknes, and gevin our by the medicinares as incurable, throch the heiring of histories hes recoverit thair helth: As we reide of Alphonfus, kinge of Spaine, be the historie of Titus Livius; and Ferdinandus, kinge of Sicilia, be the historie of Quintus Curtius; and Laurencius Medices was deliverit of his feiknes be the heiring of the historie of Conradus the therd emperor; quha being at the fiege of Guelphus duke of Bavare, and determinate to destroye him and the haill towne quharin he was inclused, yit moseit with the pitious tearis and request of all the honest wemen of the same quha com to the emperour for releif, he grantit unto thame licence frelie and faufelye to depart of the towne, with ia mekill only as they micht carie on thair ichulderis: And thairfore thay with ane stoute curage, steirit up with godlye pietie and luf towart the duke, thair parentis, thair husbandis and children, careit thaim upon thair schoulders furth of the town, leiffing all uther thair gudes within the same. The gud emperour seing the luffing behaviour of the nobill wemen, not only commendit thair doingis, but als for thair cause sparife the towne, and contracted peax with the duke, and remittit all injureis bygane.

As to the utilite and proffeit to be gaderit of histories, it evidently dois appeire; for quha will diligently reide and confider the devine and godly historie of the holy scripture, thairby fall they knaw the mervalus workes wrocht by the almichty power of the eternall God in the creatione and redemptione of man; of the devine admonitiones of his propheitis; the will of God declarit in his lawe and comandementis, be the quhilkis we may discerne godlines fra impietie, and knaw quhat is acceptabil to his godly majeste, and quhat thingis provokis his wraith; quhilk is ane persite rewll to a christiane man to direct his liefe to the plesour of God, embrasing and following vertew, and declining fra vyce and syn. Quha lystis also to reid the naturall histories wreittin be Aristotle, Plinius, and divers utheris philosophors, they may weill knaw the naturall cause of every thing, be the quhilk trenth fra fallet may be difcernit and feparated. Be the humane histories, the lyefis of princeis and noble valyeant men and verteous wemen are descrivit, quha leifit godly, honorabilly and vertuously, to be followit; as also the liefis of the ungodly wicked, wrangus, quha leifit with shame and infamic, to be declinit and eschewit. Be historie we keip in lively memorie thefe things that, mony hundreth yeres past, wald otherwife bene buried in oblivione. We remembre thairby our erestione and beginning, and may fee, as in a verray mirrour, the exemphis of theme that ather for obedience to Godis holy will hafe ben deuly rewardit, or for disobedience and murmering aganis the samyn hes ben justly punished. And ficlik, be perpetuall observing in historeis, the fulfactis are admonifeheit to obey their prince and magistrate; for that rebellioun hes always brocht gryt harme to the comone weill, and never ony gude to the authoris tharof, bot utter ruine to thame, and decay in the end. We have also in minde the famous deides and verteus of mony nobill men, and the horrible vices of monye wicked personis; and tharby allway dois remaine amongis us, alfweill the glory and prayle of the gud, as the ignominie and reproche of the evill. Quharfore, with exemplis of bothe treulye fett furth in historeis, we learne be following the ane, and eschewing the other, to lead our liefes with vertu and honeflye, mickell better then be the inflructione of ony philosopher. Cicero thairfore justly reportit the praise of histories to be the maiftres of lyfe.

Bot at this present, my purpose is not to sett furth the use and commodite theirof, qualite diverse authors hele wreitin at lenth. Thus only I thoust gud in maist humill maner to make knowin unto your Majeste, that following the exempil of the wife senatour Cato, and the concell of the elequent and prudent philosopher Cicero, I being retairit fra the Court of Ingland, (quhair I was relident for a gryit space of the tether yere, in 1568, at your Majesteis command, in treating of your wechtie effaires with the Quenes hienes of Ingland and her confell,) and therefter remaning at Burtown apon Trent, awaiting only on your Majesties service, yit not the les nether haising the commodite to exerce my selfe in youre Majesties service for that I was be commandement restranit, nor yit for the present haisling that place to give councell in the effaires of comone weill of my native cuntrey, or in administratione of justice, as I was wont to do in Scotland, being ans of the confailours and fenatours thereof, (albeit I acknowlege my felfe unapte therfore,) and fwa fra both sequestrate; thocht verray necessarie to spare fum parte of my time in reidinge of historeis, as maist facile, pleasand and profitable studie for the present, principallie nocht haising the commodite in . these partes to exerce my time in the divine study of the scriptures, or of the lawis, for lake of buikes in these faculties, as also of the reforte and conference of expert and learnit men in these sciences, sic as I was wont to accumpany withcall in Scotland; and thairfore tuke me to reide the historeis of the realmes of England, thincking wele to have the commoditie to gett the principall buikes therof in this countrey, as I dyd; and also that the knawledge of thaire histories is maist necessarye unto us before all other nations. And fua I employed emittly my labouris in reiding the historeis written by Polidorus Vergilius, Beda, Sir John Freffard knight, Fabian, Edward Halle, Languett and Copperis Cronicles, with the fummary wrytten lately by John Stowe: In the quhilkis I confider mony and fundry thing is fett forth by thir encthouris, of the deedis and proceeding is betwix Scotland and England, far contrar to our annales, registeris and trew proceeding is collectit in Scotland. And albeit the trew historeis of our countrey be largely, truely and eloquently treated and wreattin be that cuning and eloquente historiographe, Hector Boscius, yit he wreittis only to the deathe of Kyng James the first, quhilk was in the yere of our lorde god 1436 yeires, sen the quhilk time nevir ane hes preassed to gif furthe any thing in wreitt; swa that the history of oure country sen that time, and the deides of the foure last noble king of oure realme, called Jamesses, your Majesties progenitours, of quhom ye are be line and grees lauchfully descendit, they being your fader, gudeschire, grandschire, and forgrandschire, and to whom your Heighnes most justly be inheritaunce succedes, are like to be erdit in oblivione, as also the estaite of your Majesties owne reigne and governement, for lake of wreitting; it being lest frie to uder nationis to wreitt of the estait of our countrey at thaire plesoure, albeit of tymes beside the treuth.

Quharfore, most dreid and bening foveraigne Lady, leift that cancred oblivione fuld deface the glory and deidis of theife foure princes, and that fum part of the estate of youre owne tyme maie be holdin in memorye, I hase in this vacant time compiled and gathered (and nocht maide) out of diverse, asweill foreine as Scottis wreittaris, this sempill treatise for the commodite of my countrey; only nocht takand upon me to wreitt ane Historie, for I knowe weill quhow unmeit I am thairto, but that your Majestie and your countrey maie hase som schort abbreviatione or fummarye of the principell deidis in these dayes, to serve only qubil it fall please otheris better learned, and more diligent in searching of the haill historeis and circumstanceis, to set fourth the samyn at grytar lenth, for the honour and weill of oure natione and countrey. Quhilk wark I intendit at that tyme to have endit, bot in the meane feafon I being comandit be your Majestie to retourne againe towart the Quene of England your gude fifter, for treating of your effaires, I behoved thereby for a time to lat the same rest till farder oportunyte; and swa all the hail fymer in the yeire 1569, I was earniftly occupied with the Quene of England and her confall, and quhill the monethe of Februar; at quhilk tyme being sequestrate likwise in the Bischope of Londons house in the cite of London, I entered againe to reide over, confider and revise theife thingis quhilkis I had collected in my first restrainte. And having more aboundaunce of historeis, becaus I was fo nere the librairies, I therefore corrected and reformed ane part conforme to the veryte of the hiftorye, and proceidit in the rest sa laifer was given to me, compiling the hole as it were in a fummary. In the quhilk, I absteyne fra wreiting of the deidis of uther countreis, (but in fo far as concernis your Heines realme,) becaus everye particuler natione hes hed thaire awne wreittaris diligent aneuch to that intent. Also in reporting these thingis quhilk hes ben of late tyme done, I must of necessitie speake of alteration of religion in our countrey, yit I doe witheowte reprochfull wordes reherfe the thing as yt wes done, adding thairto no odious judgement of my awne, bot leaving to the reader to juge of thingis as he fall thincke gude; and becaus I hase not presently all heir quhairwith I maie trye and examyn the treuth of this little warke, (albeit I did bring fum notes gathered of thes noble kingis with me furth of Scotland,) thairfore intends not to put the same to light, quaill it be more diligently overseene and corrected. Befeiking your heich Majestie to take this sempill and rude collectione, according to your accustomed gudeness, in gude parte, nocht regarding the warke bot my gude will to youre Heines and my native countrey, that the fame thair of fuld not be darkened and defaced: Praieng the eternall God to fend yow victorie our your enemies, peace with your confederates, increase of honoure, with lufe of your subjectes, and in conclusion, perpetuall joye and eternall felicytie.

Your Majesteis maist humil and obedient subject and serviteur,

JO. ROSSEN.

JAMES THE SECOND.

The noble, wife, vailyeant and vertuous Prince, Kinge James the first of that name, being mischeantly and traysonablie put down and deceissit, James the secound, his eldest sonne, beand than bot six yeires of aige, were by the quene his moder, and Sir William Creichtoun, chauncellour of Scotland, keped in the castle of Edenburgh, qubill the three statis of the realme was thaire convenit the xxth daie of Marche in the yeire of God 1436; quhair he was convoyt with greit tryumphe, savour and blithnes of the haile people, from the castle throch the toun of Edinburgh to the abbey of Hallirudhous, and with all dewe solemnities required, was crowned kinge of Scotland, the 102 kinge of that realme fra Fergus the first; Charles the sevint than beinge king of Fraunce, and Henry the fixt king of Ingland.

During the haill time of his minoritie, thair wes greyt trouble and civill feditione in the realms, but at the last he stanchet the same be suppressing of his enemyes. Efter the quhilk, he had sume wearis with Ingland, and was ane valyeant prince, and grytly doupted of his enemyes, and weilbeloved of his subjectis in his lait yeiris, because he kept gryt justice throch all the parties of his realms. He was called James withe the fire face, be ressounced and bread reid spott quhilk he had upon ane of his cheikis.

Upon the next daie efter this coronation, thaire was ane parliament halden at Edenburgh, quhair the thre eftatis, confidering that the kinge was yong and of tendir aidge, and fua unhable to governe, thaie thairefore chefit Sir Alexander Levingstoun of Callender, knight, governour of the king and realme, and Sir Williame Crychtoun, knight, chancellour, was continowit in his office as he was of before; and the king was committed into his credit and kepinge within the castle of Edenburgh, and certane bischoppis and nobill men chosin, quhois counsell the governour sulde use in all his proceding of the common weill of the realme.

In this meyne tyme, Archbalde Erle of Dowglas remanit in his owne cuntrie of Douglas and Annerdaill, and wald not obay the governouris aucthoritie; quhilk ministred the occasioun to fundrie utheris to do the like be his example, being a man of sa gryt power, sua that schortlie thair raise gryt factiouns, disobediens and misrule in mony partis of the realme. And at the last certane seditious persons, be thaire evill confell and persuasions, maid the governour and chancellour to be devidit in twa partis. The governour with the quene remanit in Striveling; the chancellour haissing the king in keiping within the castle of Edenburgh; and quhat the ane of thame commandit to be done, the uther dischargit; quhairthroch thaire wes na obedience to the aucthorite nor executione of justice, bot throch all the partis of the cuntrie thair wes used greit spulyeis and oppressione, without any feir or puneisment.

The quene seinge the truble so greit arrising within the realme, excogitate ane waie quhow she might sett forduart the governours sactione, and passit fra Striveling withe ane quiet cumpany to Edenburgh, under colour to persuade the chancellour to unity with the governour, and to sett downe all civile and intestine divisione amangis the nobillis, that her sone the king micht be obeyit and justice ministrate. And albeit the same was proponit by the quene under dissimulatione, yit not the less the chancellour gaif credit thairto, and aggreit to her desyris: and thairethroch she wes receaved to ludge within the castle, and to intertany the king hir sone. But schortlie within thre daies thaire estir, to performe hir awne purpose she departit furth of the castle in ane mornynge, dissimuling to go in pilgrimage to the Quhit Kirke, and causit cary furth the barne the kinge, as ane birding of her awne clathes, to Leithe, and thairfra convoit him be boit to Striveling; quhom the governour gladlie ressavit, and gaif gryt thankes to the quene, praising her wisdome and ingine for that she had circumvenit sa wise a man as the chanceller, beand bot an woman.

And fuddanly the governour convenit all his affiftars, and raifit ane armye, and feigit the chanceller within the castle of Edenburgh. Bot he, feing him fua diffavit be the quene, and being fiegit on this wife, and his estait standing in sa gryt hazard, send to Archebald Erle of Douglas, defiringe his affiftance and help contrair the quene and governour, promyttand faithfully, gif he wald fa do, that he fulde be his in all tymis cuminge. Yit the Erle of Douglas refusit ather to affift to him or to the governour, alleiging thame baith to be oure ambitious of the governynge of the realme. The chancellour thairfore feinge na fupport to be had, appointed with the governour, under certaine conditions, that he foulde keipe still the castle of Edenburgh, and remane chancellour in his office; and thay both confentit with gryt hatreit contrair the Erle of Douglas. Bot in the meane time, this Erle of Douglas deceiffit at Leftalrig, fra the incarnation 1439, and left behind him Williame his sone, beinge bot xiiij yeres of aige; quha succedit Erle, appering to be of ane gude nature in the beginning, bot fone eftir be evill cumpany and counsell became insolent.

This Erle Williame of Douglas fend Malcolme Flemynge of Cummernauld, and Allane of Lawder, to Charles the fevint, king of Fraunce, and obteyned a newe gift of the duchery of Turaine, quhilk Archebald Erle of Douglas gat of before at the battaill of Vernoil in Fraunce, and the last Erle, his faider, bruikit the same all his daies; quhilk gift maid this young Erle more insolent nor of befoire.

About this tyme, James Stewart, commonly callit the blake knight, fone to the Lorde of Lorne, mariet the queue weddow, the king is moder, and affiftit to the infolence of the Erle of Douglas. Quhairfore he and his breder Williame Stewart and the queue were put in ward, within the caftle of Striveling, be the governour; but fone eftir wer releifit be the labors of Sir Williame Creyghtoun, and Alexander Setoun of Gordoun, quha come fouertie for thaire gude rule under grit paynis.

Quhan thir troubles was betwix the governour and chancellour, thairs was fundrie gryt flaughters done within the realme; and fpecially Allane Stewart, Lord Darnley, was flane at Pulmais thorne be Sir Thomas Boyde; and the next yeire thairefter, Sir Thomas Boyde was flaine be Alexander Stuart Buktuth and his fones; through the quhilkis thaire raife gryt trubles in the west parties of Scotland. Likewise Lauchlane McClane and Murdo Makoneill, Captanes of the Ilis, with ane wickit cumpany of Ilismen, heryit, spulyeit and brint the cuntrye of Lenox, and slewe Johne Colquhone laird of Luce under assurance, and slewe wifes and bairnis, and heiriet the haill cuntrie thairabout.

Thir trubles and cruelties happenit be refloun of contentione for the government of the realme; for at ficlike tymes all justice and executione of law ceasis, and thairfore the wickit and ungodly is than maist biffye to seike thaire privat revenge aganis thaire neichbouris, and workes all kinds of mischief, to the destructione of thair cuntrye, and of the best and verteous men thaireof.

Thaire was greyt derth this yeir and the nixt yeir following in Scotlande, fic as was nevir of befoire, and vehement pest ovir all, that nevir ane escapit quha tuik the sampn. And swa the realme wes plaiggit with reif, oppression, derthe and pest, as just and dew punishment for the offencis baithe of the reularis and people.

For appealing of all thir troubles, the governour cawfed and parliament be haldin at Strivelinge, the xiij daie of Marche, in the qualit thrise was certane linetennentis appointed throch all the partis of the realme, for kepinge of gude rule, and punishing of thaim that brake the common quietnes, to the effect that the kingis lieges might lief but harme or Yit schortlie thairester, the governour tuik the haile adminifiration of the realme upon him onlie, quhairwith fondrie of the nobilitie, but principallie the chancellour, beinge offendit, past fea Striveling, quhair he had remanit certane space with the kinge and governour, to Edenburghe, and inventit ane waie to recover againe the kinge in his kepinge. And to that effect he convenit ane gryt cumpany of his frenche in quiet maner to the Torwood, and passit himselfe thairfra secreitly, accumpaniet with xxiij gentlemen onlie, wele horfeit, in ane mornynge to the park of Striveling, quhair the kinge was at his huntinge; quhome he perfwadit to passe with him to Edenburgh, and sua he was convoit thair be four thousand men, quhilkis ware convenit to the Torwood be the chauncellour to that effect; quhair of the governour, beinge then absent in Perth, was verrey fory, and feing himfelfe fus diffavit, and unhable to refift this interprise, raid in quiet maner to Edenburgh, and thair perswadit twa godlie and wise bishoppis, Johne Innes bischop of Murray, and Henry Lichtoun bischop of Aberdene, to labor concord betwix him and the chancellour, quhilk they did in this wyfe; -that the kinge fuld remane with the chancellour in keping, and the governour to be continewit in his office. And fua, be this concord, bath the factions ceased and war joyned together.

During all the tyme of thir trubles, Williame Erle of Douglas, following his fatheris tred, wold not obey the governours sucthoritie, nor yit affift the chancellour in any his enterprises, quhilk moved thame both to feik revenge of him. And to the effect thay micht the better get thair intent execut, immediathie eftir this concord, the governour and chancellour caused warne all the nobles of the realme to come to ane counsell to be haldin in Edenburgh caftell; quhair Williame erle of Douglas come amangis the reft, and entred within the caftell. And eftir he was fet down to the burd with the governour, chancellour and otheris noble men prefent, the meit was fudantlie removed, and ane bullis heid presented, quhilk in thay daies was ane figne of executione; and incontinent the faid erle, David his broder, and Malcolme Fleming of Cummernald, wer heidit before the castell yett of Edenburgh. Thairestir the estate of the realme become moir quiet nor of before; and fuccedit to him James Douglas barrone of Abircorne his fader brodir, quha was ane man of gryit stature and verrey fatt, and levit onely bot the space of thre yeiris. All his tyme he preissit to na thing bot to life quietlie. The saide erle Williame had bot ane fifter, quha was callit the fair maidin of Galloway, and was mareit on William Douglas fone to James last erle, before his deceis, that the heretage micht remane together, becaus his fader fucceidit to the erledome of Douglas be tailye; and the to Wigtoun, Balvany, Annerdaill and Ormound, by lyne.

The faid erle Williame, eftir the deceis of his fadir James, begouth to be infolent, and to followe the maners of the uther erle Williame heidit of before. And mony in divers partis of the realme, be his perfuatione and mainteining, diffobeit the authoritie of the governour and chancellour, and findre gryit flauchters and oppressionis war committit.

The governour and chancellour causit convene ane parliament at Striveling, in the moneth of August 1440, whair it was ordanit be the estatis that the king shuld ryd in proper personn throch all the realme, and haild justice airis; quhilk he did, accompaneit with sindre of the nobilitie and counsell, the twa nixt yeiris following, quhilk was the caus of suddan alteratione in that court. For, libertie being permitted to every man to speik with the king, at lenth, be sum privat consel, he was persuadit to take the government in his awne hand, notwithstanding of his yong aige. And fua schortlie estir this, quhousone he become neir to the aige of xiiij yeiris, be the consell of sum quha invyit the governouris estat, and preissit to have ane change of court, he tuik upon him self, and in his awn handis the government, and causit ane parliament to be haldin at Striveling the sourt day of November 1443, in the quhilk the King himself sat in propper persoun.

At quhilk tyme thair was ane legat in Scotland, quha come fra Eugenius the Paip, be quhais persuasione thair was ane act maid in the saide parliament, for the obedience of the Seit of Rome, and maineteaning of the spiritual jurisdictione; and that na personis, spiritual or temporall, change the same obedience, quhill the King and realme ordane and decreit thairupon.

The Erle of Douglas hering that the king had takin the government upon him, paffit unto the King at Striveling, and put himself and all that he had in the Kingis will, defyring to be remittit of his offensis bygane, promitting faithfullie to obey and ferve truelie in tymis cuminge. The King perceaving his guid mynd, not only remittit him, bot usit him as maift familiar and fpecial confalour in all his effaris: be quhais perfusion, within short space, remembring on oulde injureis, he procured Sirs Alexander Levingston and Williame Creychtoun to be removed fra the king, and depryved of thair offices, and all their favoraris to be put furth of court. And thay war fummonit to compeir before the King, and becaus they durft not compeir, war denuncit rebellis, and put to the Kingis horne. Than the Erle of Douglas raifed ane army, and heireit thair landis; and suddantlye Sir Williame of Creychtoun spulyeit the Erle of Douglas landis, throch the quhilkis thair was gryit cummeris in the haill cuntrey; and the landis of Strabrocke, Abircorne, and the toun of Blacknes war brint. And this procedit, as the use is in all change of courtis and authoritie, rather of privat hattrent and revenge, nor for zele of guid government or executione of justice.

This Erle of Douglas had the haill reul of the King, and maid Archebald his brodir Erle of Murray, be mareing him upoun Janet Dunbar, heretrix thairof: and Hew Douglas was made Erle of Ormondie; and he maid bandis with the Erle of Craufurd, and with Donald lorde of the Ylis, and Erle of Rofs, to take part every ane with other, and with dyvers uther noble men also.

Thair was ane parliament haldin at Perth the xiiij day of July 1445, quharin it was statute that all the landis quhilkis was in the Kingis fatheris possession the tyme of his deceife, fuld remane with the croun quhil he war of lauchfull aige, and all proces and demandis to ceife in the meinetyme. In the nixt winter following, the Erle of Craufurd, (folicified be the Erle of Douglas,) tuik ane gryit pray of guidis furth of the landis in Fife, perteining to the bischop of Sainct Androis, called James Kennedy, fifter-fone to King James the first. And lykwise he purpofeit to haif spulyeit the Abbay of Arbroth, pertening to the said bishop; and for defence thairof, the Ogilvyis of Angus convenit to the Abbay, quhair it chanfed the Erle of Huntley in his jurney returning north from court, as the use of hospitalitie of the Abbaies was in theis dayis, to be ludgit, accumpaneit with his ordiner houshold fervantis only, and fum barronis with him; quhen fuddantlie the Erle of Craufurd and the Ogilvyis joynit in battell, quhilk was verrey crewellie fochin on boith the fydis, and the Erle of Craufurd was flayne, and mony barronis of Angus, fic as Robert Maxvell, laird of Telyn, Williame Gardin of Burrowfield, Sir Johne Oliphant of Abirdagy; and of the Erle of Huntleis cumpany war flayne, Johne Forbes of Petiligo, and Alexander Barclay of Gartullie; and in the haill, above the nombre of fyve hundreyth men. The maister of Creatfurd tunk the laird of Arley presoner, quha was principall of the Ogiluyis at that tyme, and the Erle of Hunt-This field was firickin the 28 day of Januar 1445. Theireftir this maifter of Cranford Succeidit to his fader, and was called Erle Bairdy, quha was a verrey awfull and rigorus man to all the barronis and gentlemen of the cuntrey, and keift down mony of thair houses in Angus, quha wald nocht affift to him, quhairof findre remanis yit on-biggit agane in this our dayis.

The foresaid Erle of Douglas causit the King require the castell of Edinburghe fra Sir Williame Creychtoun; and becaus he refused to delyver it, thairfore it was feigit the space of ix moneths be the King and the Erle of Douglas, Sir Williame Creychtoun being thairintill, bot at last gevin owre to the King upon certain conditions; and the faid Sir Williame Creychtoun made chancellour of new agane, bot wald not medle with the government of the Kingis effairis, bydand ane better tyme and change of court. At the fame tyme, Sir James Stewart, called the black knycht, the Quenis husband, becaus he had spokin sum thing of the misgovernement of the King and realme quhilk offendit the Erle of Douglas, was banished, and, passing to Flaunders, was taken on the fey be the Flemingis, and fone eftir deceiffit. The Quene hering of his death, shortlie eftir departit fra this mortall lyf, and was buryed with King James the first, her first husband, in the Chartar-house of Perth, the xv day of July 1446. The Quenis name was Jane Seymmer, dochter to the Erle of Somersyd; and King James the first spoulyt her in Ingland, to help to paie his ransome, and to louse him furth of Ingland. And the buir to him aucht childrene; tua of thame fonnes, James, eldeft, then presentlie King, and Alexander, quha dieit young; and fax doichters, quhilkis war all honorablie mareit: The first, Margareit, with Lewys, Dolphine of France, fone to King Charles; Elenor, with the Duke of Britanye; the thirde, with the lorde of the Fear in Zeland; the fourt, on the Duke of Austriche; the fyst, on the Erle of Huntly; the fixt, on the Erle of Mortoun. And the buir alfua three fonnes to James Stewart, her second hulband, quhilk eftir war Johne Erle of Athole, James Erle of Bouchane, and Androw bischop of Murray.

The faide Lady Margareit was mareit with the Dolphin of Fraunce before the deceife of the King her fadir, in the toun of Toures, in the yeir of God 1436; and being honorablie interteneit with her husband, and King Charles the fevint his father, the fent for tua of hir fifters to cum in Fraunce, to remane with hir quhill thay shold have bene honorablic marcit. And quhen thay war cum to Flaunders in thair jornay, thay war thair advertefed that the Quene thair modir was deceiffit in Scotland, and madame the Dophins wif thair fifter was deceifit also, in the toun of Chailons in Champagny, quhais body was erdit in the cathedrall kirk thairof: bot quhousone Leuis the elevint, hir hufband, com to be King eftir the deceife of his fadir, he causit transport her body to the kirk and abbay of Laon of Thouars in Poytow. Alwaies the faid twa young ladies war convoyeit to the King of France, quhair thay war honorablic receivit and intertenit quhill thay war boith marieit, the ane upon the Duke of Britanye, and the uther upon the Duke of Austriche.

Thair was a parliament haldin at Edinburch, in the quhilk Sir Alexander Levingstoun of Callender, last governour, James Dundas and Robert Dundas knychtis, be the persuatione of the Erle of Douglas, war forfaltit and condamnit to perpetuall presoun in Dumbartane. And James Levingstoun his eldest sone, Robert Levingstoun thesaurer, and David Levingstoun knycht, war heidit. And the said James, before his executione, maid ane wise oratione to the people, declaringe the instabilitie of fortun and change of court, exhorting all men to bewar thairwith, for envy sollowit ay the hiechar estait, and the wikit will nevir suffer guid men to lyse or governe according to justice.

In the same parliament Sir Williame Creychtoun was alfua forfaltit for divers causis, bot principallie becaus his servandis resused to delyver the house of Creychtoun to the Kingis herauld, quha chargit thame thairfore; quhilk forfaltour was led be vertew of ane Act, the quhilk the said Sir Williame, quhen he was chancellour, causet mak, and was the first inventar thairof, and sua wes first practiset aganis himself. Bot not lang estir this parliament, Sir Williame Creychtoun was reconcyled to the King agane, and was send ambassadour to the Duik of Gilder, for mariage of his dochter callit Marye to King James the secound; whilk was compleitt be the counsell and assistance of Charles the sevint, than King of France; and scho was honorably send in Scotland, accumpaneit with the Prince of Orange, the Erle of Nassoun, the Bischop of Camerage, and with mony otheris nobillis and gentlemen; and ressait be the assistance of all the nobles of Scotland, with gryit banquetting, mirrynes and intertanement of the said noble men strangearis.

Quhill this order was keiped in Scotland, thair was gryit trubillis in Fraunce betuix the Frenche and Inglishemen, quhairof war suddanlie rased upon the bordouris of Scotland for the favour of Fraunce sum appearance of warreis, and sum gryit spulzeis and invasiounes was maid betuix Scotland and Ingland. Drumfreis was brint in Scotland, and Anwyk in Ingland; bot sone thairestir trewis war tane for the space of sevin yeris, and gryit promeiss maid be Ingland to the King of Scotland to ceis the wears; becaus the gryt trubles was thaire betuix thame and Fraunce, and also of civile seditione in England, betuix King Henry the saxt, and Edward Duik of Yorke, for the crown, was than begun.

In the yeir of God 1449, thair was ane parliament haldin in the moneth of Januar, quhair fyndre actis wais maid for stanching of reiff, spulyeis and oppressions in the cuntrey, so that the realme was at ane griter quietnes thairestir; and divers uthers guid lawis maid, speciallie concerning the seurty of the Kingis majesties persoun, and punishment of tressone; quilkis actis war maid be the procurement of the Erle of Douglas, bot principallye war execut aganis himself, and his awn assistant and frendis estirwart.

The realme standing this wies at fum quietnes, the faid Erle of Douglas being ane man of gryit power and welth, to shaw his magnificence in France and uthers cuntries, tuik his jorney towart Italie, with ane gryit cumpane with him, to pas his tyme and vysie the cuntrey; and wes at Rome this yeir, being the jubiley, and lest behevnd him Hew, Erle of Ormondie, his brodir, quha had the cure of his haill landis. Bot in his absence, the King (be the counsell of thame quha wes with him for the tyme,) fummonit the Erle of Douglas to compeir upoun three score dayis warning; and becaus he comperit not sa sone, he wes put to the horne, and his landis invadit, and guidis takin up to the Kingis Quhowsone the advertisement com thairof to him in Italie, he returnit with gryit speid into Scotland, and send to the King to knaw his plefour. And he being fend for to com to Striveling castell, wald not com thair quhill he reffavit ane affurance fra the king under his great feall, (as wes commonlie reportit,) quhilk being had, and he cuming to the kingis presens within the castell of Striveling, the king alleget that the faide Erle of Douglas wes preissand to the croun, and to that. effect, that he had maid him felf stark, making bandis with the Erle of Crawfurd, and the Lorde of the Ilis, and divers utheris gret men: And that he had maid his twa bredir erls, the ane of Murray, the uther of Ormondie: And the Erls of Angus and Mortoun being of his furname, with divers uthers gret barronis and landit men; the same apperit verray fuspicious unto him, and gaif him caus to fear. And becaus the Erle answerit to the King owre frilie and bauldlie, he wes presentlye in the castell of Striveling slane at fastransevin 1451.

The laird of Cadyow, callit Hamiltoun, being in the toun of Striveling with ane gret cumpany of the Erle of Douglas freindis, for revenge of his deid, incontynent brint the toun of Strivelinge, and maid mony injurious proclamationis aganis the King and his counfell for the affuraunce brokin. Than fuccedit to the Erle, his fecound brodir callit James, cuha be the counfall of the faide laird of Cadyow, and of his uther twa bredir the Erlis of Murray and Ormondie, with the affiftance of the Erle of Craufurd, raifit armyis in divers partis of the realme, and invadit the kingis subjectis in all partis; that few travellings in the wave, durft tell quhidder he wes the Kingis man or the Erle of Douglas. Quairthrouch, the King wes put to fic a sharp point, that he wes determinit to haif left the realme, and to haif passit in Fraunce by sey, were not that bischop James Kennedy of St Androis causit him to tarrye, upoun the hoip he had of the afliftance of the Erle of Huntlye principallie, quhom he had perfuadit to convene ane army furth of the northe partis, and com forduart to the fouth for the Kingis relief, as he did than presently. Quha cuming with his army towart Brechin, purposing to go toward the King for his affiftance aganis the Erle of Douglas, quha had ane gryt army upoun the fieldis to invaid the King, the Erle of Crawfurd with ane gret cumpanye, mett the Erle of Huntlye at Brechin, of purpose to haif stoppit him of passage; quhair thair wes fochtin ane gret battell, and the Erle of Crawfurd was discomfitte, and himself chaiss to Feneawin, and mony nobillmen, barronis, gentilmen and commons flayne, and the field won be the Erle of Huntlys. Their wes alfua findre flayne on the Erle of Huntlies part, bot not to fa gret nowmer; quhilk wes on the xviii day of May 1452.

Immediatlye before this battell, that famin day, the Erle of Huntlye gaif mony landis to the principallis of the furnames quha wes with him at that tyme; fic as the Forbesses, Leslyis, Irvingis, Ogilvyis, Grantis, and diveris uthers; quhilkis maid thame all to secht the more vailyeantlie with him; for the quhilk caus the king gaif him the landis of Badyenoch and Lochquhaber agane in recompense.

In the meane tyme of the fyeld, Archebald Douglas than Erle of Murraye, broder to the Erle of Douglas, brint the peill of Strathhoggie, pertening to the Erle of Huntley, and heriet the lands thairabout:

For the quhilk caus, the Erle of Huntlye at his returning, brint all the landis of the Erledome of Murray, and heriet the fame.

The Erle of Douglas beand upoun the field is aganis the King, accumpaneit with findre erlis, lordis and barronis, to the nombre of threttie thousand men, merched fordwart towart the King, quhais army wes nocht neir to that nombre; yit nochttheles, the King being encuraged be the lait victorie obtenit be the Erle of Huntlye, and be the prudent and wife counfell of the bischop of Sainct Androis, he send a herrald to the Erle of Douglas, and required him to scale his army and submit himself to the King, or ellis that he wald gif him battell the nixt daye; and thairwith causit make ane generall and publick proclamacione, geving remitt and pardon to all maner of man quha wald leif the faid erle, and shaw themselvis guid subjectis, and do thaire dutie and obedience to the King in times cumynge. Bot the erle answered, that he was of greiter forces and strenthis nor the King wes, and thairfore wald not obey him, nor yit wald gif battaill quhill he thocht tyme. The laird of Cadyow being ane of his cheif captanis and counsailours, advised him maist ernestlie than to geve battaill, fayinge that the erle wald never gett fa guid ane daie againe gif he loft that commoditie. And feinge that he wald in no wife gif battaill, he left him, and fo did the whole multitude of gentilmen and commons that wes with him: Quhaireat the erle himself wes compelled to flie into England, and his twa breder, Archebald Erle of Murray, and John Douglas Erle of Ormond and of Balvanay, with findrie utheris thair affiftars.

Be the granting of this generall pardon to the Erle of Douglas companye, so apperit to be Gods will that they soulde not sicht, that the true lines of the kingis of Scotland micht be preserved; and albeit he micht haif brought that to passe by uther meanis, accordingly as it sulde haif pleasit his guide will and omnipotent power, yit he did chuis this waie, quhairby the effusion of micle bludde micht be avoided, quhilk by civill battell had bene spilled, gif the parties haifing thaire hairtes filled with rancor and ire, had bene together in battaill. Bot the King, usinge the advise of his kinsman, James Kennedy archbischop of St Androis, compassed his purpose in the ende, dispatching out of the waie all theis as he any waies mistrusted; of whilk nomber namely war the Douglas, whose puissance and auctoritie (not without cause,) he ever suspected. Many haif reported, (as before is faid,) that in the begynynge King James the fecond, throch feire of the greit power of those Douglasses, wes in mynd to haif fled the realme; that being recomforted be the counfaill and auctoritie of the faid James Kennedy, he advanced his fludie to matters of greit importance. The faid James Kennedy turned the Erle of Angus, being of the furname of the Dowglas, and brothir to him by his mother, to take parte with the King; he procured also diverse utheris of the said bluid and surname to revolt from the uther confederatis, and to submitt thame selfis upon promise of pardon unto the Kingis mercy. And fo fic as were adversaries to the King, in the ende he had thame all to his plefour.

It was thocht that for fameikle as the Dowglaffes had thair landis lyinge fo upon the weft and midle marches of the realme, that no man micht bere any reule in thois partis bot onlie thay thamefelvis, in cafe thay had joyned with the Englishmen, confidering the greit intelligence befide quhilk thay had in all uther partis of the realme, what by kindred and alliance, the realme micht haif fallin into greit perrill. For trulie it is ane dangerous thinge for the estate of ane realme, to haif men of greit power and auctoritie inhabiting in the borders and uttermoist partis thairof; for gif thay chaunce (upoun any occasion given,) to renounce thair obedience to thaire naturall prince and supreme governour, the prejudice maie be greit and irrecoverable that aftintymes insuithe, as it well apperes in the Erles of March, and uther besoire mencyoned in the histories. And likewise in Fraunce, be the Duikis of Burgoine, Britanny and Normandy; for till those cuntryes were incorporate and annexed to the crowne of Fraunce, the kingis of that realme was oftintymes put to greit hindrance and rebellion of thame whome thaic compted for thaire subjectis; and although theis duikis in Fraunce had farre greitter rentise than the duikis and erles in England and Scotland commownly haif, yet haith thaire bene boithe duikis and erles in athare of theis realmes, able to bring als mony men of war into the feilde as any of the Frenche duikis before remembred. For fic ernift guid willes and lovinge myndes do the people of Scotland and Ingland beare towardis the greit peris of the realmes, that it hathe bene seen and knowen that a xxx. or xl. thousand men haif bene redy to serve thame at thair awne costis and chargis, gladlie following whether soever thaic war appointit to go; a greit mony of quhilk nombre, peradventure, nevir sawe the said nobill men in all thaire life tyme before, but onlie moved with ane inward affection, groundit and rulit upon custome of thaire auncesters.

Quhen that the faid Erle was received in Ingland, he maide fundrie greit invasions aganis his awne native cuntrie upoun the west borders, be the assistance of thaie Inglis men, brinynge and spulyeinge the cuntrie; quhilk movid all the Scottis bordourarres, albeit of before thay war his kynde natyve frendis and servantis, to mislyke of him. And so he contynuit sum tyme on the borderors and uther wise, lying at the Newcastell certaine yeiris estir the trubles, quhill at last makand ane raid within Scotland, the lairds of Johnstoun and Cokpule discumseit him, and all the Inglis men was with him, and tuik the Erle himself prisoner, and delyvered him unto the Kinge; quha causit him to be kepeit in the Abbey of Lindoris in ward, yit honorablie interteneit, quhair he diet and was buried mony yeiris thairester.

During the tyme of his remaning in Ingland, the King caused ane parliament to be haldin, in the quhilk the saide James Erle of Douglas, Archebald Erle of Murraye, Johne Douglas of Balvany, his bredir, Beatrix Countess of Douglas, thair modir, with mony uther landit and gentlemen war forfaltit, and thair haill landis annexit to the croun.

Eftir thir troublis, the King being counfallit principallie be the bischop of St Androis, James Kennedy his oncle, and the Erle of Orknay, he passit throw all the partis of his realme, quhair he gaif ane generall remit of all offences, speciallie to the Earle of Crawfurd and utheris quha tuik parte with the Erle of Douglas; and rewlit and governit his subjectis in greit quyetnes, and causit minister justice to thame in sic fort, that it was saide in his tyme, he causit the rashe bushe keipt the cow.

In the nixt yeir following, for ftablishing of gude reule, thair was haldin ane parliament, in the quhilk thair wes mony guide lawis maid for the publick weill of the realme, as in the buikis of the actis of parliament is contenit.

He maid fic movennis with the principallis Capitanis of the Ilis and hie landis, that the same wes als peaceable as ony parte of the law landis, and obedient as weill in paying of all dewties of thair landis to the King, als redy to farve in wearis with greit cumpanyis; and specially Donald, Lord of the Ilis and Erle of Rofs, quha oft befoir had maid bandis with the Erlis of Douglas and Crawfurd aganis the King, and intromitted with the Kingis house of Invernes, and callit himself king of the Ilis; yit he come to the King and obtenit remissione, and gaif pleges for guid reule, and brocht ane cumpany of thre thousand men to the King at the feige of Roxburghe. Schortlie heirefter, the King be the advise of [the] three effatis, for the commone weile and policie of the realme, caused make mony notable actis and lawis in ane parliament haldin at Edinburgh, the fixt daie of Marche [1457,] amongest the quhilkis, ane is maift principallie to be remembred, that it fuld be lesum to every prelatt, barroun and frehalder, to fett landis in few ferme; and ane uther, that erlis, lordis of fessione and men of lawe, fuld use certain diffinct habites in parliament and judgement; and findre fic like flatutis, quhilkis war necessare to be observed, used and keipit in thir daies. The realme of Scotland being in this maner at quietnes, thair raise ane greit commotione in Ingland; for Edward Duik of York purposing to usurpe the croun fra King Henry the Sext, quha had bene king xxxiij yeiris continewallie befoir, raisit ane greit armie, and come to Saint Albonis besyd Lundoun; quhair the said K. Henry with ane uther army mett him, and saucht ane crewell battell, in the end quhairof the victorye fell to the Duik of York; and upoun the kingis part war slaine Edmond Duik of Somersett, moder brodir to K. James the secound of Scotland, Henry Erle of Northumberland, the Erle of Staford, the Lord Clifford and mony uther nobill men.

The King himself wes tane presoner, and had to Lundoun, quhair he wes keipit, and the Duik of Yorke maid protector of Ingland. In the meane tyme, the Quene and her fone the prince, with Henry young Duik of Somerfett, and mony utheris, fled into the north partis of Ingland, and fent to the King of Scotland to defier his help and support aganis the tirrany and usurpacione of the saide Duik of York. And the King being advyfett with his counfaill apoun thair defieris, thocht the fame verray reasonable; principallie being movet that King Henry wes ane noble prince, and ane lufar of peace and quietnes, quhilk he had intertenyit with the realme of Scotland duringe all the tyme of his reigne preceiding. And alfua hering of the flauchter of his moder brother, the Duik of Somerfett, be the faide Duik of Yorke, maid him the mair forwart for thair support; and suddantlie preparit ane army of xx thoufand men, and past in Ingland. And the cuntrey men of Northumberland, Durame and all the north partis of Ingland, beand advertift of the incumming of the Scottis army, at the Quenes defire they convenit to the Quene, and past forwart with hir befoir the Scottis armie was joyned with them: Quhairof the Duik of Yorke heringe, and not beinge hable to refift to the Erle of Warwick, fled furth of the realme, and past to Callice, and thairefter King Henrie governit his realme peaceable agane, and maid ane concord with the saide Duike of Yorke, Erle of Warwick, and thaire freindis: Albeit the same was under dissimulatione of all sydes, yit it continewit certane yeires thaireftir; and in the meane tyme, thair was greit enterteynment of freindshippe betwix the Kingis James of Scotland and Henry of Ingland, for the greit favour the King of Scotland had showin to him in his necessitie.

Heire is to be remembrit that the excellent arte of prenting wes first inventit in the citie of Mentz in Germany, in thir dayes, to the greit furderance of all personis desiringe knowledge, or thirstinge for literature.

The Duike of Yorke remembring the guide mynde quhilk the King of Scotland bure towart King Henrie, in preparinge ane armie for his fupport aganis the faid duik, and thairfore to revenge the fame, steired up the borders of Ingland to maike fundrie incursions and spulyeis within Scotland, and wald suffer na redresse to be maid, nor dayes of trewis to be keipit on the border to that effect. Quhairfore the King of Scotland convenit ane grit armie, and passit him self thairwith in proper person; quhair in Northumberland, Durame and utheris partis in that cuntrie, quhair he brint diverse townes, kest downe mony houses, castells and piels, and taryit within Ingland, quhill that King Henrie sent to him, assuring that he walde keipe freindshipp with him, and promised to caus sull redresse be maid, sua being he wald retire within Scotland with his armie, quhilk the King did with greit honour.

Efter thaire wes fundrie conspiracies attempit be the Duike of Yorke and the Erle of Warwick aganis King Henrie; and thairefore he send to the King of Scotland agane, desiringe his assistance, ayde and support aganis thame, and promissit for the same, to restoire unto the King of Scotland the lands of Northumberland, Cumberland, Durame and uther shiressdomes quhilk the King of Scotland had of before, and bene withaldin fra thame diverse yeires past; quhilk promises were acceptit be the King of Scotland, and confirmit by treaties and contractis, maid, sealed and interchangit betwix the twa princes, in the yeire of God 1458.

The next yeire following, the faid Duike of Yorke, Erles of Merche, Salusberie and Warwick, beand fled of before oute of Ingland, returnit with ane puilsant armie within the same; and the xix daie of July 1459, met with King Henrie at Northampton, quhaire the Kingis hoift were discomfift, and the King taken in the feilde, the Duike of Buckingham, the Erle of Shrewsbery and Lord Egremond slaine; and the Duike of Yorke proclaimed aire apparent to the crown of Ingland. The Quene, in the meane tyme, fledd in the northe partis, and fend and defirst the King of Scotland to convene ane armie, and cum into Ingland for releife of King Henrie hir husband, quha was than haldin in prison at London be the Duike of Yorke, conforme to the treaties and promeifes past of before. The nobill prince, King James, willinge to keipe his promife, convenit ane grit armye of all the parts of Scotland, and cam forduart in Ingland with greit speid. The Quene havinge the Duikis of Exeter and Somerfet, Erle of Devonshire, the Lordis Clifforde and Ros, with fundrie uther lordes of the northe partis of Ingland, being encoraget be the King of Scotlandis armye, maid greiter haft, and merchet forduart to Yorke, and fra that to the caftle and towne of Wakefeilde, quhair the Duike laie, quhair he was environet on everie fide like ane fishe in a nett, and his haill armie was discomfift, himselfe slaine, and his twa uncles, Sir John and Sir Hughe Mortimers, with diverse utheris his counfaillors, and thre thousand gentlemen and commonis. And the Quene following furth apoun the faid victorie, merchet forduart with hir armie aganis Edward Erle of Marche, eldest sone of the Duike of Yorke, quha was then liand at Glocester; bot on hir cuminge thair, she was advertised that the King her husband was left at London with the Erle of Warwick and Duike of Northfolke, whene she past the nerest waie;

and at St Albons befide London, the faid Duike and Erle, haifand the King with thame in cumpany, met the Quene with ane greit armie, and thair fet apoun thair enemyes on either fide on fastrensevins daie; quhilk daie fortune sua favorit the Quene, that the Duike and Erle were discomfist and fledd, leavinge the King with the Lorde Bondveill, and ane uther knighte with him onlie, quhair thair wes abone fyve thousande men slaine. And sua the King metand withe the Quene, was restorit to his authoritie, and uset the government agane.

In this meine tyme the King of Scotland wes returnit in his awne cuntrie at the defire of the quene, but the Erle of Marche ceasit not be the counsaill of the Erle of Warwick, quha than joynit withe him, and raisit ane new armie aganis King Henrie, and come forduart to London; quhairfore the King was forced to passe in the north cuntrie, quhair he yet send againe to the King of Scotland, and winne the castells of Roxburgh and Warke, quhilkis war haldin be the savorers of the said Edward and his conspirators. And thairfore the Kinge, partlie moved at King Henries desire, partlie also becaus the said twa castells were lyand with the landis and shires promeisit him be King Henry, he campit his armie about the said castell of Roxburgh, and beseignet the same.

Quhair the King of Scotland, being verray expert in the schooting of greit artalyery, tuike greit pleasure thairintill, and leving his campe, the Erle of Angus being with him in cumpany, passit to the trenches quhair the greit ordinance wes placed, quhilkis he causit schuit aganis the castel on sundaie the iij daie of August 1460, and it chansit a wedge or slyce to slee fra ane of the gunnes, quhairwith the King wes slaine, and the Erle of Angus, quha wes with him, was evill hurt. And sua this nobill prince, King James the second, deceassit the thirde daie of August 1460, the xxix yeire of his aige, and of his reigne the xxiiij yeire; and thaire wes greit meane made for him, becaus he wes well belused of all his subjectis.

Notwithstanding of the deceife of the King, the siege contineuit be the perfusion of the Quene, being ane princes of hiech corage, quhill the caftles of Roxburghe and Warke were wonne, quhilkis baith were castin downe to the grounde.

The King left behinde him three fonnes, James the eldift, quha wes shortlie thaireftir crownit King of Scotland, Alexander Duik of Albany, and James Erle of Mar, and twa dochters, the ane mariet on Thomas Master of Boyde, quha at his mariage wes maid Erle of Arrane; and scho wes thaireftir mariet on the Lorde Hamilton, quha gate with her the Erledome of Arrane, be the forfaltour of the faid Thomas Boyde, and of hir the house Hamilton is discendit, and thairthroch narest of bluid to the croun in this our daies; the uther of the Kingis dauchters diffeafed unmaried. The Kingis bodie was convoit to the Abbay of Halyrudhous beside Edenburgh, quhair it was buried with all funerall obsequies, according to his estate. The people generally lamenting his deathe with no leffe forowe and deulfull meane, nor is fene in ane private house for the decesse of the welbeloved maister and awner thairof; for in tyme of weare amang his subjectis in the campe, he behaveth him felfe so gentlie towardis all menne, that thaie semed nocht to feare him as thaire King, bot to reverence and love him like a fader; he wald ryde up and downe amangis thame, and eate and drinke with thame, even as he had bene bot ane private man and fellowe. Of harte he was couragious, politique in councell, in adverfitie nothing abashed, in prosperitie rather joyfull nor proude, in peace just and mercyfull, in warre sharpe and feirce, in the field bolde and hardie, and nochttheles no farther nor wisdome wolde adventerous; he had greit trubles in civill and intestine warres in his youthedde; bot in the tyme of his later daies, his realme was in quiet prosperous estaite, and no feare of outwarde enemyes, and keipit his nobills in lovinge and nobill obedience, and the commons in guide peace; the Lardes whome he knewe at variance, he did appeale. And so, withe his princely and guide properties, he endit his life,

HISTORIE OF SCOTLAND.

JAMES THE THIRD.

EFTIR the deceis of James the secound at Roxburgh, the Quene and nobillis of the realme causit the seige to be continewit forwart, till Roxburgh wes won and cassin down to the ground. And that they suld not laike the presens of thair King, thay send for James eldest sone to James the secound, being than bot sevin yeiris of aige, and causit him to be crownit at Kelso, with the universall consent of the thre estatis, and greit rejoing of all the armie and peple being thair present, in the moneth of August 1460; Charles the sevint, than King of Fraunce, and Edwart the fourt, than entrit King of Ingland. Thairestir thay seget the castell of Wark, quhilk wes lykewyis takin and cassin down; and estir the saidis victories, the King and his haill nobillis come to Edinburgh. Of the down casting of the saides castellis, wes wrettin thir veirsis:—

Quadringentenis decies sex mille sub annis Roxburch Wark solo precipitata lego.

Becaus the King wes young, thair wes chosin to governe him and the realme sevin Regents, quhilks war the Quene his modir, the Bischop of Sainttandrois, callit James Kennedy, sister sone to King James the first, the Bischop of Glasgow, the Erle of Angus, the Erle of Huntly, the Erle of Argyle, the Erle of Orknay; quha during the tyme that B. James Kennedy leivit, aggreit weill on the government of the realme, bot not fo weill eftir his deceis.

Donald Lord of the Ylis and Ross, quha had bene in the army with the King weill recounsaled, estir his gryit disordour and evill reule, begouthe of new to use the lyke maneris, and spulyeit and heriet the haill cuntrey of Atholle, and tuik the Erle and his ladie captive with him into the Ylis, spulyeing als weile the kirkis and girthes of the cuntrey as uther places. And to repres his insolence, the Regentis of the realme causit prepaire ane army; bot in the menetyme, the saide Lord of the Ylis, and the principallis of his cumpany, wer suddenly strikin be the hand of God with frenessie and wodnes, sua that thay loste all thair shippis and pray in the see in thair retorning, and than throuch of thair awn will causit restore the Erle of Athole and his ladie agane; and come thame selses to Saint Bridis kirk in Athole, for recovering of thaire health, but they were not thing the better. This Donald was estirwart sane treassonable in the castell of Invernes, be ane Ireland man that playit on the clarstot, as a dew punisement for his wickednes.

In this mone feafoun, Henry the faxt K. of Yngland eftir divers battallis wes vincust be Edwart Duik of York at Saint Albanis, and last at Tuton befydes York; fra the quhilk he fled unto Berwick, quhair he send to the King of Scotland, desyring ane saust conduct for himself, his Quene, eldest sone and certane of his nobill men, to come in Scotland, to the nombre of ane thousand horse; quhilk wes gladly graunted unto him, and he varry honorablie and thankefully ressauth him, and weill treat and intertenyit in the toun of Edingburghe. Thair came with him the Quene his wife, Eduard his eldest sone, the Duikis of Somersyde and Glocester, brether germane to King Eduard, the Erle of Pemburgh, brother to the saide King Henry, the Erle of Warwick, the Erle of Hungirsord, the Lord Rose, and Lord Revers, quhais dochter the saide Eduard meryit estir he had obteanit the croun, and divers utheris of the nobilitie of Ingland. He declairit the caus of his cumming, desyring to haif favour to remane in that cuntrey quhill he mycht obteans support of his frindis in France and uther placeis, to recover his croun againe, and to haif the King of Scotlandis assistance thairto; quha, be the counsall of his Regentis and nobilitie, thinking his desyer verray ressonabill, accordit thairto. King Henry, thairsore, persaveing him sa humanelye and thankfullie ressavit and intertenyit, causit delyver the toun and castell of Berwyk in the King of Scotlandis handis, to remane perpetuallie with him, thinkand thairthrocht to consiliat the greater frendschip and redier support, and also to make his ennemies the weaker through the wanting of the strenthe; quhilk movit the King of Scotland to prepaire more diligentlie forces for the support of the saide King Henry.

And that it fuld nocht appeir that thay did ony thing aganis the weill of thair cuntrey, thay made James the Prince, the Kingis eldest sone, beand bot xvj yeiris of aige, and of ane guide nature and inclinacione to vertue, capitane and principall to thame and thair armye, and persuadit, or rather compellit him to passe with thame, published be proclamacionis, that thair purpose wes not to truble the realme nor guide subjectis thairof, bot to reforme ane evill King and remove his wicked counsall.

The King being advertifet of thair conspiracie, wes movit with ane greit and fuddane feir, anguife and truble of spreit, thinckand with himfelf how grevous and heavy ane matter it wes to him, to fecht contrare his awin native borne subjectis, his eldest sone, quha wes maist precious of ony thing in erd to him, being thair cheiff head and capitane; quhilk it femit, as it wer, the head to fecht with the rest of the members of the same bodie; and yit thocht it verray perillous gif he wald nocht resist thame, for that mycht incurage his ennemies, and mak thame to be mair strenthy. Bot first he thought it maist necessare to assailyie all uther meanes possible before the hasard of any batell, and thairfore he had causit mak proclamaciones for the preparacione of ane armye. He send messingers unto his sone and the Lordis being with him, than resydent in Edinburgh, defyringe that fum treatye and aggrement of unytic mycht be maide amangis thame; and in the meintyme he fend also to Charles than King of Fraunce, and Henry King of Ingland, his confiderat frendis, and to Innocencius than paip of Rome, desiering thame to send ambaffadouris to treate of concord betuix him and his fubjectis, and to pacyfie the envyment greit perellis and truble arifing within his realme; hoiping thairthrouch, with proces of tyme, and be the dres and labouris of they godlye and noble princeis, to mitigat the hartis and ire of his adversaries, quha wer stirrit up by wickit counsell to his distruccione. Nochtheles the myndis of his adversaris wes sa kendlit with hatrent aganis him, that nane of thir remeidis culd take place: And to the messingeris send be himself unto them, extreme ansueris wes gevin be the Lordis being with the Prince, that give he wald renunce his crowne in favouris of his fone, thay mycht perchance theirefter talk of peace and concord, uther wayis wald here of nane. The fame ansuer wes given to the ambassadouris come fra the Kingis of Fraunce and Ingland, send to that effect; albeit their Princeis declarit be thair ambassadouris, that thay thought the same as ane common injurie done unto thame selves, and the exampill to be verraye wickit and pernicious, and not sufferable be Princeis that subjectis suld be permittit to put handis into thair Prince.

There wes also ane legat send be the Paip to that effect, quha come to laitt, for the battell wes fouchten, and fua endit befoir his cuming. The King feing he could on na wife pacific and brek the grundit malice and hatrent conceyved aganis him, and hering that thay wer cumand forduart with ane greit armye to Striveling quhair he wes resident, wald nocht abyd the cuming of the Erles of Huntly and Crawfurd and utheris noble men quha wes cumand with greit pouer from the north partis to affift him, bot rafchely past furth of the said toune, being accumpanyit with the Erles of Glencarne, Montroife, Lordis Ruthven, Maxwell and certane utheris, and jonit in battell aganis his ennemyeis, at Bannok burn within tua myle to Strivelinge; quhair eftir gryeit flauchter made on baith fides, the King wes flane the xj day of Junij 1488, and of his regne the xxix yeir. His bodye wes burieit in the Abbaye of Cambuskennethe. It was reherfit that befoir the joyning of the fieldis, the Prince gaif speciall commaund that nane fuld put violent handis in the King his fader, quhairthrough all the tyme of the battell he wes fauffe. And eftir the fame wes endit, certane wicked men, quha had him in hatrent of ald, awaitit on him and flew him in the mill of Bannokburne, nocht far from the place quhair the field wes ftrekin.

In the begininge of the faide attemptat aganis the King, the Erles of Angus, Argyle, Lennox, Lordis Hwme, Halis and utheris thair affiftaris, fend to James fome tyme Erle of Dowglas, (quha being for-faltit be the King of befoir, wes keipit in ward in the Abbay of Lundoris, as is befoir mentioned,) and defyrit him to affift with thame, and he fould be reftorit agane to his awin leiffing, and honourit as principalle of that factione. Bot the noble, wyife, ancient Erle being brokin with trubles, and havinge lerint experience apoun his greit chargis, refusit to brek his ward or to affift to thame in ony wife, diffuadinge thame fra thair interpryse, becaus that the same semit nother godlye nor honourabill unto him, and afferming that throwe siclik interpryses he and his frindes had sufferit so greyt domage and skaith that thay wer utterlie reuyned, quhilk suld be exempill to thame and uthers to doe the like; and this resuse wes the occasione that he was nevir releivit surth of that ward, bot keipit quhill he deceiffit thairintill.

And the King hering his defier, eftir advyfe and deliberance of his counfall, reffavit him thankfullye, and estemit him publication in honour, calland him Duik of Yorke. And he persaveing him self to be weill intertaynit be the King, willing also to conques the favour of the nobles of the realme, defyrit in mariage ane fair younge lady, being than in the Quenes court, and tendir coufignes unto the King, dochter to the Erle of Huntley, quhilk wes grantit. And eftir their mariadge, the King beinge perfuadit be the faide Richarde to belief that thair wes mony of the principallis within the realme of Ingland that wald affift him, gif that he come within that realme with ane armye; quhairthrouch he convenit ane greit cumpanye, principallie of the bourdouris, and passit within Ingland; quhair first he causit mak publictt proclamacionis, declaring that he wald onely forbeir to invaid thair boundis quha wold affift to Richard Duik of York and none uther, and fua invaidit the cuntrie, spoilveit and heriet the same in divers places of Northumberland, and tuik awaye greit praye of guidis and presoneris. Bot the King seing that no Inglisheman did resort to the faide Richard, nochtwithflanding of the gret extremitie used, returnit agane within his awin cuntrey of Scotland; and confidering that the faid Richardes promeiffis of the affiftance of his frindes followed not in deid according to his wordis, causit the King to chaunge the guid opinione quhilk he had of him, and to hald him in les estimacion nor he had befoir; and this wes the occasione of the beginning of greit weir betuix the tua realmes. Henry King of Ingland being advertift heirof, and heichlie commovit aganis the King of Scottis, raifet ane gret taxatione to prepare forces to pas in Scotland; and the army beand in redynes to pas thair, thair was raissinn greit sedicione and conspiracie in Cornwall, becaus that cuntrey men refuset to gif ony tax of money; and thairfoir the King stayit the fending of the army in Scotland, and causit thame pas in Cornwall to represse thair furye and to pecesye that cuntrey; and fend Thomas Erle of Surry, beand ane vailyeant capitane, to ly apoun the bourdouris of Scotland, that be the affiftance of the cuntrey men of Northumberland and Durame they mycht refift the Scottis men incase thay invaidit, unto the tyme the King send gretar forces. faide Erle awaitit all that yeir apoun the bourdouris; nochttheles the King of Scotland invaidit the bordouris of Ingland agane, quhair he did mekill harme in casting down houses and spoilyeing the cuntrey; and he himself in personn with his army causit seige the castell of Norame, quhilk wes than weill furneifit be Richard Fox Bischop of Durame with men, munition and victuallis, quhair he lay long tyme at the feige thairof; bot seing that he couth not win the same, albeit that he had done greit domage and skaith thairto, he returnit within his realme, and left greit cumpanyes of men upon the bourdouris for defence of the famyn.

In the meynetyme the faide bischop of Durame persuadit the Erles of Surry, Northumberland and utheris to convene the cuntrey men, to pas to the bourdouris for relief of the saide castell; bot or the cumming thairto, the King and his army were departit.

At this same tyme, Fardinand King of Spanye, quha wes considerat freind to the Kingis of Scotland and Ingland, and lusit thame boithe tenderly weill, send an ambassador in Scotland callit Petrus Hielas, ane wyse, vertues and larned man, offerand himself willinglie to be auctour of peace and concord betuix thame; and the faid Petir traivellit by all meanes possible at King James handis for concorde and peace to be made, and upoun the tennour and condicions of the same; and persaveing him to haif guid hope thairof at his handis, wreitt to K. Henry to joyne with him fum ambassadour to that effect; quha, knawing himself to be in greit truble with his awin subjectis, and thairsoir mair defyerous of peace with his nichbouris, commandit Richard Fox Bischop of Durame to pas and assist the saide Petir; guha meting and convening with the commissionaris of Scotland at Melros, eftir lang ressoning apoun the condicionis of peace, it was desyrit in King Henryis name that Richard Duik of Yorke, quhome they callit Parkin Warbeck, fuld be delyverit to him as ane that trublit the quietnes of the realme of England. Bot King James esteming his honour mair precious nor ony uther thing, refusit to delyver him in ony way, not onely for that he wes cumin willinglie in his realme for refuge and support, bot als that he wes joynit in affinitie with him be mareage of his tendir coufignes, dochter to the Erle of Huntlye. And becaus thay culd not aggre upoun ane perpetuell peace to be maid amangis thame, thair wes trewis takin and confirmit for certane yeires, upon that condicione that the faide Richard Duik of York fuld be fend furth of the realme of Scotland, and nocht to be refett thaireftir thairintill; and fus the faidis ambassadouris returnit to K. Henry, quha glaidlie effirmit thair saide treatie, quhilk wes maide in the yeir of God 1498.

The K. of Scotland willing to keipe his promes maide in the faide treatye, knawing him also to be abusit be the faide Richard, quhome he had estemed to be Duik of York albeit he wes not, declarit unto him the guide will and mynd quhilk he had borne unto him, reducinge to his remembrance howe he had takin weir aganis Inglande, invaidit the cuntrey, belevand to haif had sum affistance be his frindis within the same, and yit did repair unto him; and albeit he had mariet his tender coufignes, he mycht not keipe langer weir with Ingland (for his caus onely) without greater affiftaunce, quhairof he could perfaif no appearence. And therfoir prayit him to withdraw him felf furth of his realme, and pas in Flanderis to the Duches his mothers fifter, or to the King of Fraunce, be quhome he wes fend in Scotland, or to fum uther place as pleasit him best, quhair he mycht abyd ane mair convenient tyme for his weill; and fua the faid Richard gyving thankis to the King for his guid will obeyit gladlie his command, and shortlie thairestir departit and his wif with him in Ireland, of purpose to pas in Flanders; bot he wes takin be King Henry in the fanctuarye of Bewdley, and pardonit of his liff; and his wiffe Lady Katherin wes takin also; and the King feing her gret bewtye and fayrnes, thought her a pray metar for ane emperour nor foldiouris, and thairfoir fend her with ane cumpany of honorabill women with her to the Quene, and she wes weill intertaynit all the Kingis daies, and for her fairnes wes callit in Ingland the quhit rose, quhair she leivit verray honourablie mony yeiris thairester.

This yeir guid peace beand keipit betuix the tua realmes, thair happenit ane suddane discord betuix certane young Scottis men bourdoureris, and the keiparis of the hous of Norame, quhilk almaist had renewit the wearis betuix the said tua realmes, war nocht the mater wes be wisdome pecifyit and sett doun. The maner thairof wes, that certane Scottis men lyand neir to the hous of Norhame, albeit thai menit na fraude nor evill, certane Inglishemen isschewt furth of the place, and set on thame; quhair thair wes divers Scottesmen slane, utheris sair woundid and chaist; quhilk beand reportit to the King of Scotland, wes hiechlie offendit thairwith, thinckand and sayand that thair wes na thing more uncertane nor to haif peace with Ingland, and thairfoir he wrait sharpe and vehement lettres to K. Henry thairupoun; quha did ansuer that the same wes not done be his counsall nor command, bot of the raschnes and soly of the keiparis of that place of Norhame; and thairfoir thocht that thairby the trewis wes na wayis violett nor brokin, and he fuld schortly take knawledge of the caise; and gif ony of his had offendit, thay fuld be punyiest thairsoir. Richard also bischop of Durame, being sorve that throw the occasioun of his men (quha keipit the hous of Norhame perteyning than to his bischoprik,) the truble suld be renewit betuix the tua realmes, wrait divers lettres unto the King of Scottis, praying him to accept mendis for the injuris done, quilk suld be reparit at his pleasour.

The King confidering the wisdome, faithfullnes and gravitie of the faid bischop, did ansuer gentlie unto his saidis lettres; desiering him to come and treat apoun theis thingis quhilkis had fallin apoun the bordouris, purposing also to treat apoun uther matters with him, quhilkis This bischop, obtaining leif of King Henry with his did eftir follow. commissioun to that effect, come to the Abbay of Melros within Scotland, quhair the King wes refident for the time; and eftir greit plaint maid for the flauchter of his fubjectis, the fame be the labouris of that wife bischop wes peciefiet and agreit. The King thaireftir secretlie did declare unto him the guid will and mynd quhilk he had to intertayne perpetuall frindschip with K. Henry, and wald wische the same to knitt, that it mycht in na wayis be diffolvit agane; and that the maift fure waye was, as appered, gif the King of Ingland wald gyf his eldeft dochter Margaret in mariage to him, and to that effect he wes of purpose to fend ambaffadouris in Ingland to the King; defyring partlie the faide bischopis counsall thair apoun, for he wolde be loth to desier that thing quhilk fuld be refusit; and the bischop puttand the King in gud hoip thairof, returnit touart the King of Ingland, quha hering his proceading is, and being glaid thairwith, causit the saide bischop adverties the King of Scottis to fend his ambassadouris for the effect abonewreittin. schortely thaireftir wer send in Ingland the Archebischop of Glasgo, Erle Bothuell and certaine utheris noble men ambassadouris, quha defierit the mariage of Margaret his eldest dochter; and thair proposicione being hard be the King, the fame wes thankfully accept t and treatit in his counsall. Some of the counsellouris did prepone certane ressonis for flaying of the faide mariage, allegeing that it mycht happin that the heretage and fuccessioun of the realme of Ingland mycht fall to Margaret his eldest dochter, and to her succession of her body, and thairfoir femit us best that sho fuld be marieit apoun ane forane prince. To the quhilk the King did ansuer,—quhat than gif sic thingis did happin—(quhilk chance God forbid,) I fe that it wald come fua, that our realme wald receive na damage thair thorow, for in that caile Ingland wald not accress unto Scotland, bot Scotland wald accress unto Ingland, as to the most noble heid of the hole yle. For at that tyme, that thing that is leift is uset to be joynit unto that thing quhilk is maift, till the great decour and honour of the fame; evin as quhan Normandy come in the powar of Ingliss men our forbearis. And sua the wisdome of the King wes commendit, and his ansuer approvit, and be universall confent Lady Margaret wes grantit unto the K. of Scotland. wreittis Polidorus Virgillius in his storye, the xxvi buik. Neque intercellerant multi dies, cum Jacobi legatio adfuit, ad petendum Margaritæ filiæ regis conjugium. Henricus, auditis legatis, rem ad confilium detulit. Erant qui suspicarentur posse aliquando forte contingere, ut hereditas regni Margaritæ veniret, ac propterea eam non externo principi locandam indicarent. Ad ea rex respondit, quid tum? si enim tale quid accideret, quod Deus omen avertat, video futurum, ut nostrum regnum nihill inde dampni faceret; quoniam, accessio Angliæ non ad Scotiam, fed ipfius Scotiæ ad Angliam fieret, tanquam ad totius infulæ caput multo nobilifimum; cum femper quod minus est, soleat ad decus et honorem ad id adjungi, quod est longi majus, quemadmodum olim Normania in ditionem et potestatem venit Anglorum majorum nostrorum. Ita laudata regis fapientia, et cunctis una voce rem probantibus, Margarita virgo regi Jacobo pacta est. And so the King of Ingland, be the advyse of the nobilitie of his realme and counsall, grauntit gladlie to gif his eldist dochter in mariage to the K. of Scotland, and thairapoun certane contractis and indentouris was maid, quhairwith thay returnit in Scotland with great confort.

Thair was also at the same tyme ane peace contractit betuix the Kingis of Scotland and Ingland, for the terme of baith thair lyves; and to the effect that nane of either of the subjectis that offendit the lawis suld be ressayit in ony of thair cuntries, it was agreit that nane Ingliss men suld pas in Scotland without his prince lettres suplicatouris to the King of Scotland, nor na Scottis man to haif passage in Ingland without the like of his awin prince, desieringe to haif sausse conduct or passort, otherwayis to be just presonares; quhilk custome was of befoir, and yit is observed in our daies.

Schortlie eftir this contract maid, Elizabeth Quene of Ingland, spous to K. Henry the sevint, and dochter to King Edwart the fourt, be quhais mariage with K. Henry the titillis acclamet to the crown of Ingland be the houses of York and Lancaster wes unytit, as she lay in childbed in the tour of Lundoun, deceisit.

Eftir this, thair wes gryit preparatione maid in Ingland for the convoying of Lady Margaret into Scotland. Lykeas thair wes gryit prepara-tione maid also in Scotland for hir ressaving. And the King her sader, for convoying of her, tuik his journey at Richemount the xvi day of Junij, having in his cumpany his faide dochter, and come to Colyveftoun, quhair the Countis of Richemount Henryis moder than lay; and eftir certane dayis of folace endit, the King gaif hir his bleffing as a fatherlie exhortacione, and committit the convoyance of hir, quaill she come to the presence of the King of Scotland her husband, to the Erle of Surry; and the Erle of Northumberland, wardane of the marches, was appointit to delyver her in Scotland to the Kinge. Sua this faire ladye wes convoyit with ane gryit cumpany of lordis, ladyis, knychtis, esquiers and gentlemen, till tho come to Berwik, and fra that to St Lambertis Kirk in Lamer muir within Scotland, quhair the King with the principall nobill men of his realme wes redy to reffaif hir; to quhome the Erle of Northumberland, according to his commissioun, deliverit her. wes this lady convoyit to the toun of Edinburgh, and thair the nixt day eftir, King James the fourt in presens of all his nobilitie espossit the faide princies, and maid gret banquett to the Inglis Lordis, and schew to thame justing is and uther pastymes varray honorablic estir the fassioun of his cuntrey. The Scottis men at this tyme war nocht beheynd, bot far abone the Inglis men baithe in appareill, riche juellis and maffy cheanis; and mony ladies haiffing thair habilyementis partly fett with goldfmyth work, garnishet with perrill and pretious stanis, with thair galland and weill trappit horfis, qualit wes cumly to fe. Quhen all thingis were done and finiset according to their commissions, the Erle of Surry with all the Englis Lordis returnit into thair cuntrey, geving great praise not onely to the manheid of the Scottis men, bot alfua to thair guid manners and hartlie intertenyment quhilk thai reffavit of theme, and dyvers ladies be young gentill wemen remanit with the Quene, quha weir efter weill mariet upoun nobill men of the realme of Scotland, quhais posteritie leissis yit in honour to thir our dayis.

He passit over the watter of Twede and enterit in Ingland the xxij day, with ane sew cumpany, and lay that nycht at Twesilhauche in Northumberland, and one the nixt day layet seige to the castell of Norhame, quhilk wes weill furneissit with men and all kynd of munitione; and within schorte space thairestir thay wan the sowseis, keist down the barmekine, and slewe sundre within the said castell. And the keiparis thairof desyrit the King to delay the feige quaill thay mycht fend to the Erle of Surry, quha was than lyand at Newcastell with ane army, promeising gif thay wer nocht reliefit or the xxix day of the faid moneth, thay fuld delyver. the castell unto the King; quhilk wes grantit unto thame, bot nane come to releife thame; and thairfoir the castell wes delyverit to the King the faide day, and gret spulye gotin thairin, and ane greit part thairof wes diftroyeit and cassin down. During the tyme that the army wes lying at the seige of the castell of Norhame, thair wes ane act maid be the King, with the confent of the nobilitie and barronis thair prefent, anent the waird, releife and mariages of thame that deceiffis in the army, of the tenour followinge: "At Tuefilhauche in Northumberland, the xxiiij day of August the yeir of God 1513 yeiris, it is statut and ordanit be the Kingis hienes, with avyse of all his Lordis being thair for the tyme in his oift, in this forme as followis: That is to faye, gif any man beis flaine or hurt to deid in the Kingis army and oift be Inglishemen, or deis in the army induring the tyme of his oift, his airs fall haiff his wairde, releife and mareage of the King free, dispensand with his aige, quhat eild that euir he be of; and ordinis the Kingis lettres to be direct heireupoun, to the effect aforesaid necessar as effeiris."

Thaireftir the King wan the castell of Furd, Ettell and mony utheris, of quhilk part he causit be cassin down, and tuik sindre presoneris and send in Scotland, and mony wes assured; and tariet in the realme of Ingland, seikand and cravand battell, contrar the aduise of the noble men of his realme, being thair with him the space of xviij dayis; sua that the maist part of the commonis and gentill men of his army quha come furth of far partis of his realme, for laik of victuellis, and being vexit also with evill woder, for thair wes nevir ane fair day nor scarce ane hour, bot gret cold, wind and weitt during thair remaining in Ingland, sa that onely the principall noble men of the realme nor sew cumpanyis remaynit with him.

In this meane tyme the Erle of Surray come fra the New castell with ane army of xl thousand men, and marcheit our the watter of Till touart. Flowdoun hillis, quhair the King lay; quhair thair wes herrald send one every syd, and the day of the battell appointit, to meit on the watter of Till the ix day of September; quhair the King tuik his campt and prepairit him self redie for the battell, placeand his ordinance and artillarie for the same, and send his querell in writt to the said Erle with Ilay the herrald, on the nycht preceiding the battell, beiring thir wordis:

"Quhair it is alleged that we are cum in Ingland aganis oure band and promeis, thairto we ansuer; Our brodir wes bound als far to us as we wer to him; and quhen we suare last befoir his ambassade in presens of oure counsall, we expressed speciallie in oure aithe, that we wald keip to our brodir gif oure broder keipit to us, and nocht ellis. We suer oure brodir brak first to us, and sen his brek we haif required diverse tymes him to amend, and laitlie we warnit oure broder, as he did nocht us or he brak. And this we tak for oure quarell, and with Godis grace sall defend the same at your defixit tyme, quhilk we sall abyd."

And quhen the day of the feild wes cumin, and the King marchand forwart toward the place quhair his enemye did campt the nycht preceiding, quhair he had the avantage of the grund, he wes schortlie advertised of the craft of the Inglis men, quha had that morning raiset thair campt, and marcheand about diverse hills and straittis, passit betuix the King and Scotland, thinckand to haif invaidit thame on thair backis, bot maid continewance to pas in Scotland and burnit the Merse; sua the King wes maid to beleif be ane Inglishman callit Giles Mousgraes, quhilk wes his famelier and espy, that the same wes done for ane pollicie, to caus the King and his army to leif the strenthe and com doun fra the hill callit Flowdoune; and in his doune cumin the Inglis ordinaunce schot fast and did greit skaiethe, and slew his principall gunnaris; bot the Kingis artillarie did small skaithe, be ressoun of the hiecht quhair thay ftude, they shote over the Inglis army. Thay marched fordward; the Erle of Huntly haveand the vandgard, the Lord Hwme and his frindes beand with him. The Erles of Crawford and Montrois had the reirgard, and the King him self wes in the gret battell, and with him the Erles of Argile, Lennox and dyvers utheris. One the Inglis syd, the Erle of Surryes eldest sone had the vandgard, and Sir Edward Stanly knycht had the reirgard, and the Erle of Surry had the greit battell.

The Scottis vantgard feirslie sett on with speris and lang weaponis, and certane horsemen, and threw the maist part of the said vandgard of Ingland to the erd, flew mony of thair folkis, and the uthers fled; yit thay quha did eschape joynit thame selfis to thair greit battell; quhilk the King persevand, beleving all to be his awin, and that the ennemies had givin bakkis, avanceit forduart the battell, nocht abyding the reirgard, him felf being on fute with thame, fet encourageouslie on the Erle of Surris battell, quhair eftir mony arrowis schott on everie syde, and greit skaith done thairwith, the faid Sir Edward Stanley with his reirgard come firefelie doun of the hill of Brankistoun upoun the back of the Kingis army, quhairin thay faucht cruellye one baith fyds lang space; at last the victory inclinit to the Englis men, and mony of the Scottis men slane or takin presoneris; yit nochtheles thair wes in that battell ane griter nombre of the Inglis men flane nor of the Scottis men. In this feld wes flane the King, the bischop of St Androis his bastard fonne, the Erles of Crawfurd, Montrois, Erroll, Athole, with dyverfe utheris lordis and barronis.

On the morin the Inglis men caused seik the body of Kinge James, quhilk thay allegit thay gat, and carried it to Berwyk and fra that to Richemond. Bot it is haldin for truth that the same wes the body of ane vther Scottis man callit the laird of Bonehard, quha wes slane in the saide feild. And it was affirmit be sindre that the Kinge was sene that fame nycht levand at Kelfo, and wes commonlie haldin that he wes yit levand and past in uther cuntries, speciallie to Jerusalem and the hally graif, to dryfe furth the rest of his dayis in pennance for his bygane and former offenceis. Bot however the matter come, he appeirit nocht in Scotland estir as King, no more than Charles Duik of Burgonye did appeir in his cuntreis estir the battell of Nants; quhowbeit his pepill hald that vane opinione that he escapit fra that disconsiture alyve, and wald returne againe.

This battell done, the Inglis men being fa foir handilit thairat, and fa mony of thair folkis flane, thay wor glaid to returne within thair cuntrey without farder invafioun of Scotland, and fua the bourdouris wes at greit quietnes all the nixt yeir thaireftir.

This battell wes callit the feild of Flowdoun be the Scottis men, and Brankistoun be the Inglis men, becaus it wes striken one the hillis of Floudoun besyd ane townn callit Brankistoun, and wes strikin the ix day of September 1513, at fore estire none. The King deit thane in the xxv yeir of his regne, and xxxix yeir of his aige.

For his polliticall governement and due administracione of justice quhilk he exercyseit during the tyme of his regne, he deservit to be numbreit amangis the best princes that evir regneit abone that natione. All thest, reif, murder and robbery, [ceisit] in his dayis, be sic scharp executione of lawis penall as he causit to be exerceit through all the bound of Scotland; for samekill of the savige pepill of ye outylis addressit thameselses, through terror and dred of due punishement, to leif efter the ordoure and lawis of justice, quhair utherwayes of thamesels thay are naturally inclynit to sedicione and disquieting of every ane utheris.

To conclud, men war in gued hoipp, gif it had pleafed the hiche determinat will of almichtie God to have lente him langer lief, he should have brocht that realme of Scottoland to sic flowrishinge estate, as the like in none of his prediscessors daies was never yit heard of.

JAMES THE FYFT.

EFTER the death of this noble courageous Prince James the fourt of that nayme King of Scottis, in the unhappy feild of Flowdoun, the Quene causit with diligens the noble men and estatis of the realme convene at Striuelinge, quhair, apoun the xxj day of September 1513, James the fyft eldest sone to the saide King James the sourt, wes crownit King be univerfall advyfe and confent, being ane yeir fyve monethes and x dayis of aige; quhair it wes also aggreit that the Quene sould be Regent of the realme, and to use the counsell of James Betoun archebischop of Glasgow, the Erles of Huntlye, Angus and Arrane; and fra that come to Edinburgh, quhair thay remaneit. And thairfoir he fend Monfieur de la Bawtye in Scotland, in cumpany with the Erle of Arrane, Lord Fleming and Lioun Herald, quha had bene befoire lang resident in France, and landit at the west sey the third day of November; quha shortelie thairestir deliuerit his wreittings to the Quene and Lords; quhairfoir the Quene convenit the Lordis at Perth, and thair be univerfall confent it wes aggreit that the Duik of Albanye fuld be admittit tutor and governour to the Kinge and realme, and the fame fuld be confirmit be the three effatis in ane parliament, quhilk wes than proclaymed to be haldin at Edinburgh the xiij day of Marche nixt; and the King and Quene returnit to Edinburgh, quhair thay remaneit quhill the fame parliament wes haldin.

In the meane tyme, for the wele and quietness of the bordouris, the Quene fend to the King of Ingland hir broder, and tuik trewis with him for Scotland for the space of ane yeir and ane daye nixt following.

In the beginning of Februer thaireftir, the King of Ingland hering of ane parliament to be haldin in Scotland, for the hame bringing of the Duik of Albany to be tutour, he fend to the Quene defyring hir to flay his cuming; allegeing that he wes neirift to fucceid, and thairfoir fuld nocht have the kepinge of the King, being sa young, quhais weill he wald regard and tak cure of, being fa tender in bluid to him as his eldeft fifter fonne. Albeit this wes declarit to be the uttwart caus moveing him, yit nochttheles he wes principallie movit to flay his cuming in Scotland, becaus he had inftantlie weiris with the King of France; fering that the faide Duik wald steir up the Scottis to mak weair aganis Ingland in favouris of France. He did alfua fend ane herald to the King of France, with ane letter, defyring him to flay the Duik of Albany within his realme on cuming into Scotland, for the cause aforesaid; bot notwithflanding all his labouris maid, it wes concludit be the haill effatis of Scotland, in the parliament haldin at Edinburgh in the moneth of Marche following, that Sir Patrik Hamiltoun and Lyoun King of armes fuld be fend in France for the faide Duik of Albany, quha wes confermit tutour and governour, as faid is, conforme to the lawis of the realme; and to that effect thay departit in the moneth of Aprill nixt eftir following towart France.

At the same tyme thair wes [ane legate] send from the Paip, quha

Eftir this parliament, the Quene wes deliverit of ane prince at the caftell of Strivelinge, the xxx day of Apriell, quita wes baptifet be the Postulat of Dunfermeling and the Archedene of St Androis, and inflantlie confermit be the Bischop of Caithnes, and he wes namet Alexander. During the tyme that the Quene wes in childe bed, thair wes greit diffencione betwix the lordis of the west land and the uther lordis of the realme. Bot fone eftir, the Quene causet ane conventione to be at Edinburgh, the xij day of July, quhair thay wer all weill aggreit; and ordanit tua clarkis to pas in Ingland ambaffadouris to the King, for peace to be contractit betuix the tua realmes; and thaireftir, the xxviij day of the faide moneth, M' James Ogilhy Abbot of Drybroucht, and Sir Patrik Hammiltoun, and Lyoun herald, come furth of France, with wreitting and articles fra the King and Duik of Albany, be the quhilk the Duikis cuming wes delayit, and excuseit be the King, that he could nocht gudelie want him furth of the realme, quail fam ordour wer takin of the wearis betuix him and the King of Ingland; quhilkis ceasist in the moneth of October nixt following, be the aggrement maid betwix the King's of Fraunce and Ingland.

Nocht lang heirestir the Quene wes moved to ane suddan mariage, quhilk sho did sore estirwart repent; for apon the vj day of August sho mariet Archebald Erle of Angus for her plesour, without the King of Ingland hir brodiris assent, or the counsell of the nobilitie of Scotland; and incontinent theirestir, be the proud consell of hir husbandis srindes, taik the hole government of the realme apon hir; causit tak the Bischop of Glasgw being Chancellar in Saint Johnstoun, and tuik the great seale fra him; quhairfoir he passit to Edinburgh, quhair mony Lordis assisted Quhill this busines was ado in Scotland, thair wes peace contractit betuix Lewis the xij King of France and the King of England, in the quhilk na mencioune wes maid of Scotland; and in that doing it wes reput to the King of France dishonour, becaus that the wear principallie wes begun for defence of the King of France querrell.

At this famin tyme King Lewis mariet Marie fifter to King Henry the viij, on Sainct Denys day the vij of October, in the toun of Abbayveile, albeit he wes auld and weik, and thaireftir leifit nocht lang eftir that mariage; for he deit at Parys the first day of Januar nixt following; and immediatly eftir his deceis, Franceis de Valloyse Duik of Angolesme, neirrest of the bluid one the male syde, wes crownit King of France; quha wes ane noble vailyeant prince, and governed weille that realme mony yeiris. In the moneth of November, about the xx day thairof, De la Bawtye reffavit the castell of Dunbar in the behalfe of the Duik of Albanye, be delyverance of the Dene of Glasgw, brodir to the Bischop of Murray, callit Forman.

And schortlie thairestir electit to the bischoprik thairof be the convent, and nominat thairto be the Lordis Regentis of the realme, Johne Hepburn prior of St Androis than beand, seight the castell of St Androis, and wan it be force fra Maister Gavin Douglas servantis that keipit it; quhairwith the Quene and Erle of Angus wes hyechlie offendit, becaus the faide Maister Gawin wes nominate be thame to the saide benefice.

The divisione being in this wayis standing betuix the Quene and lordis, every ane preassed to tak sic possessione as thay mycht obtaine, principallye of that was lyand nearrest unto thame; and thairsoire the Erle of Levenox and maifter of Glencarne, in ane mirk wyndy nycht, the xij day of Januar, under myndit the neddir fole of the yett of Dumbartane, and enterit thairst and tuik the castell, and pat furth the Lord Erskine than capitane thairof; and schortlie thairestir thair wes ane greit gaddering betuix the Erle of Arrane and the Erle of Angus, the 15 day, quhilk wes the beginninge of greit troble eftirwart.

At Edinburch the famyn xv day, the bills of provisione [of] Androw Forman than bischop of Murray, to the archebischoprike of St Androis, Abbayis of Dunfermeling and Arbroithe, raifet in Rome be the supplicacioune of the Quene and Duik of Albany, wer publifet and fervit; for the quhilk caus, the prior of St Androis pretendand title to the bischoprike be the saide electionne and generall gift of the lords of the realme, appelit thairfra and made greit impediment; and thairfoir convenit the maister of Halys and utheris his frindes to Edinburgh, and the Lord Hwme chamberlane, with dyvers utheris in thair contrair; quha causit denunce the saide maister and priour with all thair assistances be the Kingis letters rebellis, and putt thame to the horne, and thairfoir wes compellit to leif the toun. And the prior of St Androis, in Maij thaireftir, past to Rome to justifye his awin appellacioune.

Thair wes ane parliament fet to be haldin at Strivelinge the xxiiij daye of Februar, quhair mony of the lordis convenit, and becaus thay cold

And he committit thame and the castell to the keiping of foure lordis of the realme.

Shortlie apoun this suspicione takin, thair wes raisit greit factiones betuix the Governour and the Quene, and suddanlie the Lord Hwme, for affisting to the Erle of Angus and the Quene and the factione aganis the Governour and the loirdis, was denuncit the Kingis rebell; for the quhilk caus the Erllis of Arrane and Lenox with greit cumpayneis war send to taik all his placeis, quhilkis wes maid pattent to thame. And quhen this weir was determinatt in the parliament, ye maid me capitane, aucthoryfeing me to invaid Ingland with baner displayed. Than wes questione demandet of the cause or querrell, and that I haif done is by your affent and aggreement, and that I will justiesie. Bot to ansuer your demaund, me think ye haif just caus to invaid Ingland with fyer, fworde and bloude, gif ye be nocht foryetfull, and without ye will beir dishonour and reproche forever; for ye knaw that this realme of Scotland is our inheritance, as a porcione of the warld allowet to our natione and antecessours, quhome we succeid. Than quhair may thair be bettir weir than to meanteine this our naturall inheritaunce? Is not daylie fene the great invalionis that the Inglis men one us makis? the great manslauchters and murthouris, with thift and spulyeis that thay doe daylie? Is not this ane cause of weir? To defend the cuntrey is the office of a King, the honour of noble men, and the verray fervice of chevalrie, and the dewitie natural of the communaltie. For I think it a just querrell gif we mycht conqueis the realme of England and annex it to our awin realme, for the great injuries and wrangis done be that natione to us and oure prediceffouris. For fene the beginning of our habitacione in this Ile of Bretaine, the Inglis men and we haif evir bene enimies, and us haif thai evir hated, and yit we haif evir withstande thame.

Suppois we, at the last batteill of Flowdoun, by chance lost our Sou-verane Lord and diverse nobill, quhilk wes rather be treaffoun of the Lord Chamberlane nor utherwayis, quha wald not releife the Kingis army quhone he mycht; and yeit I think we wan the feld: quhilk murthour all we noble men aucht to revenge. Thairfoir I wald that ye fuld courageouslie awance your felfis in this querrell, to get honour and to be revenget." Than ane wyse man of the counsall anfuerit to the Governour fayinge, "My Lord, fortune of weir is led be him that all ledis; and he strykis the strake, we can wirk na miracles. And heir are the lordis of Ingland redy to encounter us; and gif we invaid thair realme, fuerlye thay will fecht, for thair powall fall increase dailie, and ouris will diminische. And gif God grant us the victorye, (as I treft he fall,) yit haif we not won the feild, for redy cumin is the Erle of Shrewysburie (sa mekill dred in France, as ye knaw weill,) with ane great puissante armye. And thair is no doubt bot the King of Ingland will fend or bring ane uther army, gif we fuld chance to get the first battell; and gif we gat the secounde feild, that will not be without great los of mony nobillis, be reaffoun quhair of the realme falbe weaker. And gif we be our cum, how mony fuld be flane God knawis. They that flee be worthy to be reputed as traitouris to the King, and fua be wilfulnes and fule hardynes may be in jepordye to be undone. I faye, quhill the King is within aige, we aucht to move na weir, lest be weir we may bring him to diftructione." Than saide the vaily eaunt Governour, "Heir. is ane puilsant army of Scotland; gif we returne, we falle encurrage our enniemyes. Thairfoir, sen ye thinke it not guide to invaide, my counfall is, we campt ftill on the bordouris quhill we fe quhat the Inglishemen proceidis to do aganis our realme"; to the quhilk the nobillis confentit, and lay still thair in campt certaine dayis thairestir.

Eftir this communicatione, the Quene of Scottis, albeit absent, wes in counsall with the lordis, send word to the Governour and desyerit him to commoun of a peace with the wardane of the Inglishe marches, and that scho wald send for him to come to the Governouris campt apoun pleages, quhilk he condiscendit unto; sua the Lord Dacre than wardane of the west marches come unto the Governouris campt, quhair the Quene be that tyme wes cumin; quhair thair wes are abstenence of weir and trewis tane for ane season, and in the meane tyme it wes aggreit that the Duik and the Quene suld send ambassadouris in Ingland to treat and conclude a peace. The saide trewis wes tane the xj day of September 1522.

In the moneth of October nixt following, thair wes thre ambasiadouris fend to the King of England, as wes devyfit of befoir; at quhais cuminge to the faide King, thair wes fic extreme and unreasonable condiscionis proponit unto thame, that the samyn could not be acceptit, as being contrar to honour and commoun weill of the realme of Scotland. And fus thay returnit without aggrement or conclusione one the bordouris of baithe the fydes of the realmes, quhilk movit the King of Ingland to fend Henry Erle of Northumberland, guhem he maid wardane of the haill marcheis, to remane and keip the same; bot he wes sa trublit be the perfute of the Scottis men, be continewall invailioune, spulyeis and burning within Ingland, that he maid eirneast fute to the King of Ingland and his counfall, nevir left of quhill he wes discharget of the And the Erle of Surraye wes maid generall warden, and the Marques Dorfet wardan of the eift and middill marches, and the Lorde Dacres one the west marches; quhilk thre lordis come to the bordouris for defence of the same, the vi day of Marche.

About this tyme, the Duik of Albany confidering that the wearis betuix Scotland and Ingland wes teudious to the noble men of the realme, principallie thay beand tane on for pleafour of the King of Fraunce, thairfoire he past be the west see in France in the beginning of Marche, quhair he wes verray hartelie and thankfully restavit and intertaineit be the King, and desyrit onely that he mycht haif v thousand horsemen and tenne thousand Almanes to be landit in Scotland, and doutit nocht bot be the affiftance of Scottis men, to vincus the King of Ingland in battell, or elfe dryve him out of his realme. Bot the King of France at that tyme mycht nocht spare sa mony, haifing wear with the Empreour and the King of England, yit promeift to gif him support, quhairapoun the Duik of Albany tariet and awaytit lang.

In this meyne tyme, the lordis of Scotland causit certane nobill men remane with the bordouraris monethlie, as use is, of the quartaris for defence of the bordouris contrar the faidis thre wardanis and thair invaifouris, luikand daylie for the supporte of France, and sua continewit every moneth quhill September nixt; and thair wes findrie houses caffin down baith in Ingland and Scotland. During the quhilk tyme the King of Fraunce causit prepaire certaine schippis with men and munitione, to fend with the Duik in Scotland, bot the King of Ingland laid ane greit number of his schippis in the pase betuix Dover and Calleis, one the see to meite with the saide Duik of Albany; bot he imbarkit at Brist in Bartanye, and sailed be the west partis of England, and the xxi day of September landit at Kirkcubrie in the west of Scotland with ane guid cumpanye of Frenschemen, and ane great man of Ingland, quha wes banift thairfra, callit Sir Richard Dolopole. Quhan the Duik wes one the fee, the Erle of Surray with ane great armye come in Scotland to the towin of Jedburgh, being xx m men, quhairthrowcht thay could nocht be sa hastelie resistit be the bordoraris and cuntrymen; and thairfoir thay brint the faid town and Abbay of Jedburgh; bot thay wer fa scharplie persewit, that albeit thair purpos wes to haif past farder in the cuntrey, thay wor conftreinit with ane fewer number nor thay wer, to retyre towart thair awin cuntrey, and nocht without greit loss of mony of thair folkis.

The Duik fone eftir his returning come schortlie to Edinburgh, quhair he causit all the Lordis of the realme to convene, and declarit to thame the great luff and favour that Francis the King of France buir to the realme of Scotland; in fa far that he, being advertiset of the greit flauchteris, murdouris and burningis done by the Inglis men, thocht that he fufferit na les hurt and damage than thay did, accompting him felf ane of thair memberis, and thay lykwyis unto him and his realme; and for the revenginge of the same he wald be partiner as thair member; and for the mair crediet he schew the saidis Kingis savourable letter affirming his declaracioune; and thairfoir defierit thame to convene ane army for revenge of the injuries and wrangis done to thame and thair cuntray; for he had brocht with him fum money, men and artailyerie in the realme to that effect. And fua it wes concludit, that the army fuld convene at Douglasdaill the xviij of October, quhilk thay keipit. And fra that the haill army passit to Caldstreame upoun Tweid, and fend our the watter certaine great artailyerie, with ane cumpany of Frensche and Scottis men, and Dand Kar with thame, and laid feige to the castell of Wark, quhilk wes keipit be Sir Williame Lylle captaine thairof, with ane great cumpany of Inglishmen being thairin, quhilk wes weill furneiffet with all kind of provisioun and munitioune necessar. Quhairfoire the faide Erle of Lennox convenit ane greit cumpany, and come fra the west cuntrey to Lythqwo. The Erle of Angus being aduertifet thairof, fend to the Erle of Arrane for his affiftaunce contrar the Erle of Lennox, deliering him to come to Lythquo, quhair he fuld meit him, and bring the King thair, quhilk the faide Erle of Arrane obeyit. And being thair the third of September, the Erle of Lennox cum with his powar neir to the towin of Lythqwo, quhair the Erle of Arrane fend message to him, requyring him to returne and stay his interprife, affuring that albeit he wes his fifter fone, he wald nocht spare him gif he held fordwart his jornay. To the quhilk he ansuerit furiouslie that he wald nocht stay, bot suld be in Edinburgh or ellis dee in the way. Thairfoir not abyding the cumin of the Erle of Angus fra Edinburgh, uischet furth of Lythqwo, and at the west end of the towin rancounterit the Erle of Lennox and his cumpany, quhair thaire wes ane creuall onset and meting one baith the sydes; bot suddantlie the Erle of Lennox cumpany fled from him, and the Erle himself was slane. The Laird of Houstoun and dyverse uther gentill men war slane. Also in the meynetyme the Erle of Angus, bringing the King with him, arryvit, quha had cum befoire the joyning, war nocht that the King haveing na will to come furth of Edinburgh, for that caus maid refiftaunce, as he did also be the way, allegeinge him to be seik; bot George Douglas callit his horse verray schortlie and causit him ryde, and gaif him mony injurious wordis, quhilk wes remembrit estirwart. The same nycht the King with that cumpany past to Strivelinge, and thairestir schortly throw Fyss, sercheand the Quene and bischop of St Androis; and becaus thay could nocht find thame, being secretlie be thair freindis keipit and consealit, thairsoire thay spulyeit the abbay of Dumsermeling and castell of St Androis, taking away all the saide bischoppis mubillis being thair-intill with thame, and returnit sone thairestir to Edinburgh.

All this tyme, be reffoun of the great controversie being amangis the Lordis, thair wes mony flauchteris maid in diverse partis of the realme; principallie the Erle of Cassillis wes slane be the sheriff of Ayre, in the Wast cuntrey, and Maclane was slane in Edinburgh be fir Johne Campbell of Caldel knycht, and thair wes great spulyeis maide one the bordouris, and continewit ryiding be the thevis in the in cuntrey; and in the north partis also, thair was in the shyre of Aberdene gryt and scharp weris betuix the two sirnames of the Lesleis and the Forbesses, and thair frindes and affiftaris, and findry scharp skarmisheis, with great flauchter boith of barones, gentlemen and commones, quhilk continewit mony yeires, almaist during the Kingis les aige, quhill at last thay wer aggreit be the labouris of the principalle noble men of the realme and lordes of the counfall. Yit eftir the same aggrement, the lard of Meldrum, quha was of the Lesleis freindes, was treasonablie slane in the toun of Aberdene, be the Maister of Forbes and the Larde Lenturk, quhairupon the deadly fead was walkynned againe; bot the Lordis of the counfall maid thame to be aggryit thaireftir, fwa that the fame continewit ftill in quyetnes to thir dayis.

Thair was lykwyse gryit trubles in the Hielandis, speciallye in the

schyre of Murry in the north amanges Makintoshe kin, called the Clenchatten; for the custome of that clan and trybe, as of mony utheris in the Yrishe cuntrey, has bene at all tyme to acknawlege ane principall for thair cheif capitane, to quhome thay are obedyent tyme of wear and peace, for he is mediatour betuix thame and the prince. He defendis thame aganis the invalionis of thair enemies, thair nychboures, and he causis mynister justice to thame all in the maner of the cuntrey, fua that none fuld be fuffered to maik spoile or go in forning, as thay call it, or as vagaboundes in the cuntrey; lyke as at the same tyme, the principall cheif of the Clanhatten was a verrie honest and wyse gentleman, callit Lachlane Makintoshe of Dunnachtan, ane barroun of gude rent, quha keipit hes hole kin, freindes and tennentis in honest and guid rewll. Nochttheles, fum wicked persones being impacient of vertuous leving, sterit up one of his awin principall kynnismen, callit James Malcomfone, quha crewellie and treffonablie flew his faid cheif. dantlie thairupoun thair followit great troble, for the residew of the fame clan perfewit the faid James, quha tuike for his refuge ane ile within the loch of L. Rothemurcows; quhair he wes takin and all his cumpanie, quha wes executed and reflawed just punischement for thair treassonabill deid. And becaus the said Lorde of Dunachtains ione, quha fucceidit unto his fader, was young and tender of aige, and so not meit to governe thame, thay did chuse one bastard broder of the faid lordis, callit Hector Mackintoshe, to be thair capitane during his minoritie. Bot the Erle of Murray haiffand respect to the young childe, being his awin fifter fone, causit convoy him from thair handis in keping with his modir freindis, quhair he wes weill nurift and brocht up in vertew; yit the faide Hectour ceafed not to feik be all moyance possible to haif the barne restorit to him, quhilk wes hoipit to be for no guid. And becaus that the faide erle flaiet him frome his wicked determinatioun, the faid Hectour and Williame his broder, accumpanyet with the hoill kyn, invadit the landis and cuntrey of Murray pertening to the erle, speciallie the paroche of Dyk besyde the castell of Tarnway, quhair thay raifed fyer and spulyeit the cuntrey, and spared nocht to slay men, wiffes and children; and thay also befeged the castell of Pettie, pertening than to the laird of Durne callit Ogilvy, quhair thay was flane to the number of xxiiii gentle men of Ogilvis, and perseverit in thair wickitnes ane lang space thaireftir, thinking thame selfsis as kingis of that cuntrey. Bot schortlie thairestir thay restavit dew punishement for thair creweltie, for the faide erle hayffing commissione of lyvetenanttrie frome the King and counfall, rafet ane greyt army and past in thair cuntrey; quhair he caused tak abone the number of three hundreth of the principallis of thame, quha war than prefentlie hangit within the cuntrey, and William Makintosh brodir to the saide Hectour was takin and brocht to the toun of Fores, and thair was heidit and quarterit, and his head fixed at Dyk, and the quarteris of his body in the townis of Elgin, Fores, Invernes and Aldern. Thairfoire Hectour feing him destitut of all assistance and fua desperat, past secretie be the convoy of Maister Alexander Dumbar, than dene of Murray, to the King, and pat him in his will; quhair he was reflavit and remittit of his former offences, and haldin as ane of the Kingis familiar fervandis estiruart. Bot the King wald not leif him unpunieft, fua that he wes slane in the citie of Sain& Androis, upoun a suddantie, be ane procurour of the toun callit maister James Spence, guha wes heidit for the fame thaireftir. This kin of the Clenhatten kepe at all tyme better rewll thairfoir, quhill the perfitt aige of thair younge capitaine, quha wes fua well brocht up be the meanes of the Erle of Murray and the Laird of Phindlatir, in vertue, honestie and civile policye, that eftir he had received the government of his cuntrey, he was a mirrour of vertue to all the hieland capitanis in Scotland; bot fortune did invy his felicitie, and the wicked practizes of the diffoluit livers of his awin kin, fufferit him nocht to remaine lang amangis thame; bot the same factious cumpanie that raise aganis his fadir, was the caus of his destruccioune, as hereftir will appeare.

In this yeir the King, be the counsall of the Erle of Angus, Arrane and utheris, weill accumpaniet to the number of fax thousand men, past to the toun of Jedburgh, for stancheing of the greit thist and riff made be the thevis of the bordouris; and one the viij day of Junii, the principallis of the sirnames on the bourdoris come to the King, oblished thame for guid rule, and sum pledges was delyverit to that effect.

The man beand suddantlie takin, confessit the deid without ony repentaunce, cryinge, sye on the seibill hand quhilk wald not do that thing the hart thocht, and wes determinate to do. And being inquyrit quhat he wes, and quha had causit him to do the same, ansuerit he wes are servand of God, send be him to do that deid; and albeit he wes put to greit pynes dailie be the space of ane moneth thairestir, wald nevir gif ane uther ansuer; thairsoir he wes hangit, and his heid fixeit upoun the port of Edinburgh.

In this yeir, the King being neir the aige of fevintene yeiris, and of guid discretione and judgement accordinge to his aige, and nocht willinge to remane langer under the tutell and governement of the Erle of Angus and his cumpanye, convenit diverse nobill men at Striveling; be quhais counfall he send ane herauld to the Erle of Angus and his assistaris, being than resident in Edinburgh, commaunding thame under pane of treassount that thay suld depart furth of the said towin, and that nane of thame suld come within source myllis to the King, quhair evir he happenit to be.

And the King himself, being accumpanyit with tua thousand men, sollowit schortlie estir the saide herauld; quhairsoir the Erle of Angus being charget be the herauld, and als hering of the Kingis cumin, lest the toun and departit. Shortlye thairestir the King send the same herald, and commaundit the Erle of Angus pas and remane in ward within the cuntrey of Murray during the Kingis will, quhilk he wald nocht obey. And thairsore he and dyverse utheris his assistaris wes summonit to enter in the parliament to be haldin at Edinburgh, in the moneth of September nixt following, to ansuer for certaine pointis of treassount to be laid to his charge. Quhilk parliament wes haldin at Edinburgh the first day of September in the yeir 1528; in the quhilk the Erle of Angus, George Douglas his brodir, Archebald Douglas his fadir broder, Alexander Drummond of Carnock and dyvers utheris, war be decreitt and sentence of the Statis forsaltit for diverse causis, and principally for con-

The seige being laid to the saide castell, it was sa strange of it self, and sa weill providit, that it culd on na wayis be won at that tyme; quhairsoir the King causit the seige be raised, estir that David Falconar, principall gunnar of the Kingis artailyerye, was slaine. But the said castell nocht lang thairester was delyverit to the King be appointement.

The fame day the Erle Boithuell wes convict for manteyning of thame, and for certaine uther crymes, and thairfoir wes in the Kingis will; for the quhilkis, the King causit ward him in the castell of Edinburgh; thairestir he wes send in Murray and last baniest Scotland, sua that he trayvellit to Venice, quhair he remanit during the Kingis lyve tyme. Alsua the Lord Maxuell, Lord Hwme, Larde Balcleuch, Farnyhirst, Pollock, Johnestoun, Mark Kar and uther principallis of the bordouris wes convict be assystia, and all put in warde; quhairthrowcht the bordouraris keipit better reule thairester, so lange the Kinge wes one lyse.

About this tyme, ane landit man callit Johne Scott, quha had travellit in Italie, France, Ingland and uther cuntreyis, arryvit in Scotland. And becaus he wes bruttit to haif fastit in uther realmes the space of fortie dayis continewallie togidder, without meit, drink, or ony uther sustenance, thairfore the King causit him to be keipit within the castell of Edinburgh in Davidis tour, with maist scharpe and delyverit watcheing, quhair he sastit the saidis sourty dayis and sourty nychtis togidder, without ony meit, drink, spice or uther kynd of nureisement, lyke as he had done in sindry other cuntreis of besoir; quhilk wes haldin ane greit mervell amangis the pepill, sume of thame making account that it did proceid of halynes as a myracle, and utheris that it proceidit of frenesie.

In this fymmer Archebalde Douglas, refuseing to pas in Ingland with the Erle of Angus, albeit he wes forfaltit, come his allane to the park of Striveling to the King quhair he wes huntand, and askit his pardon, quhilk he had obtenit, becaus the King favourit him better nor ony of the rest of that surname, war nocht he had determinat to suffer name of the principallis of thame to byde within the realme at that tyme. And thairfoir the saide Archebald past in France, quhair sone estir through displesoure he deceisit. The Erle of Angus, George Douglas, and findrye uderis remanit in Ingland, and gat certain e pensiones affinit to thame be King Henry of Ingland, quhairupoun thay leifit thair contynuallie quhill efter the Kinge of Scottis deceis.

All this fymmer, the King tuik greit cure to paciefie the bordouris, and puneis the theivis and oppreffouris being thairon. And to that effect, in the moneth of Junij he passit to the bordouris with ane great army, quhair he causet xlviij of the maist nobill theivis, with Johne Armestrange thair capitane, be tane, quha being convict of thist, reiss, slauchter and treassoun, war all hangit apoun growand trees, and thair wes ane notabill thist brint, quha had brunt ane hous, with ane woman and mony her barnis being thairintill. Yit George Armestrange broder to the saide Johanny, wes pardonit and reservit levand to tell of the rest, like as he did, quha within process of tyme wer apprehendit be the King, and puniest accordinge to thair desertis.

This yeir the Erle of Angus being reffavit at the King of Inglandis commaund in his realme, maide great persuationis to the King to invaide Scotland be ressound in his forfaltur and banisement. But the King of Ingland wes sa bissy occupyit all this yeir in purchaseing ane devorce to be led betuix him and Quene Katherin his wysse, that he wes glaid to keip peace with all his nychtbouris.

In thir daies, a finglare wele learned clark, called Hector Boetius, doctor in theologie, and principalle of the Universitie of Aberdene, a man of gryit erudicione in all the liberall sciences, wreit the hole historie of Scotland in the Latine tongue, frome the beginninge thairof, to the death of King James the first, in the yeir of the nativitie of Christ m¹iij° xxxvj yeiris, in so eloquent stile, so truelie and diligentlie collected, that none of all the wreittaris at that tyme wreitt better, as the wark it self bearis recorde; quhilk wes estiruart translated in the Scottishe language be Mr Johne Ballanden, and recited to the greit surderaunce and commoun weille of the hole natione.

In this yeir, the King of Ingland, knawing his bordouris nocht to be fa weill plenyfit with men and habitacione as the Scottis bordouris wes, proponit in his parliament to have ane taxacioune to big mare pellis and ftrengthis apoun his bordouris, for refifting of the Scottis men, but the fame wes defferrit at that tyme.

Thair wes are meitting appointit betuix the Paip and the King of France at Marfillis this yeir, and becaus the King of Ingland had repudiat his wiff contrar the Papis aucthoritie, he thought guide to speke with the King of Fraunce befoir, thinking to persuade him to mak his excuse at the Papis hand, and thairfore the saidis tua Kingis meitt in October at Bullin and Calleis in France.

Thair was a parliament haldin in Edinburgh, in the quhilk thair wes findrie guide lawis and conftituciones maide for the commone weille of the realme, speciallie for stanching of thist, reiff and oppressiones, quhilk the King causit to be weille keipit with scharpe executione during all his dayis.

Estir this thair wes diverse invasiones apoun the bordouris on every syde, without ony weir proclamit, and taken of schippis appoun the sey alswell as be lande.

Eftir that King Henry had repudiat Quene Katherin, he mariet Lady Anne Bulleyn, quha buyre to him ane dochter, callit Lady Elizabeth, eftirwart Quene of Ingland; bot apoun fum fuspicione of gellisie quhilk he tuik aganis the Ladye Anne, he caused her to be headed, and sindrye gentlemen with her.

In thir dayis, the doctrine and opinionis teached be Marten Lutar, aganis the Papis aucthoritie and the Catholique religione, wes fpread in Germanie and diverse utheris partis; and King Henry of Ingland hearing thairof, sa far as tuechit the discharge of the supremycie that the Paip wes wont to haif abone Ingland, did the moire glaidlie embrace and accept the same, that he intendit to maik ane cullour thairof to be divorcit from Quene Katherine his wif, and to mak him self riche be the treasour, jewallis and patrimonie of the kirkis and religious placeis, as he did estiruart. And thairsoir, Paip Clement, than Paip of Rome, foreseing the denger quhilk mycht haif happinit incase the same doctrine of Luter haid bene receaved in Scotland, he fend ane legatt to the King, with mony gratious and benevolent priveleges and benefyttis, defiering him most effecteouslie to be most war with these pestiferous errouris and herrefies, and that he shold not followe the counsal of his uncle King Henry of Ingland, quha was begun alreddy to declyne frome his dew obedience to the feate of Rome. Quhilk message the King acceptit verrey glaidlie, and causit convene the thre estatis in a parliament haldin at Edinburgh the xvij day of Maye 1532; quhair the King exponit, sen he and his noble progenitouris Kingis of Scotland, and leiges of the same, had bene the first, or at the leist, with the first that evir acceptit the Christiane faithe, and bene most obedient sonis to the Paip of Rome and feat apostolique, without ony manner of spott, violatioun or defectione; and thairfoir to shew him thankfull and obedient fone thairto in tymis cuming, it wes flatut and ordanit with consent of the thre estatis in parliament, that he sall keip, observe, manteane and defend the aucthoritie, libertie and fredome of the feat of Rome and halie kirk, as evir it hath bene keipit and observit in his maift noble progenitouris tymis; and with the same, thair wes findre actis and constitutionis maid for punishing of herefeis and manteaning of privieligies of Halie kirk, quhilkis was published in the nixt parliament.

At the famyn tyme, the King with the advice of the thre eftatis, confidering the great hindraunce of justice, and abuse that was growin within the realme, be the ordour quhilk was observit in his predicessouris daies, be the keiping of session in findre parties of the realme, principallie becaus that the judges which war chosin thairto war chosin of the clarkis, barronis and burgessis, and for the most part of anie onlerned and not skilfull in the lawis; and that thay war so oft tymis changit, thay coulde not have that commoditie to inquier, try and judge of every cause as was necessarile required. And thairsor, being maist desyerous to haif ane permanent ordour of justice for the universall weill of all his leiges, inflitute and ordanit, and be univerfall confent of the thre estatis and act of parliament, confermit ane College of cunning and wife men, baith of spiritual and temporal estate, for doing and administratione of justice in all civile actionis, and to decyde the same; quhais processis, sentences and decreittis, shall haif the same strength, force and effect, as the decreit of the lordis of fessione had in all tymis bigane, and that the number of thame fuld be fourtene personis ordiner maift convenient and qualefeitt, half spirituall, half temporall, with ane prefident, providing alwayis that my Lorde Chanceller being prefident with thame, shall haif voit and be principall of the said counsell; and fic lik uther lordis as fall pleife the Kingis grace to joine to thame, of his great counsell, to haif voit fic lik to the number of thre or four; and the faid lordis fall haif pouer to advyfe, counfell and conclude apoun fic rulis, flatutis and ordinances as falbe thought be theme expedient to be observit and kepit in thair maner and order of proceding at all tymis; and as they devyle, conforme to reasone, equitie and justice, the King, with the advice of the eftatis falle ratifie and approve the famin. And becaus thair might nothing be spared of the patrimonie of the crowin, to be gevin to the faidis lordes for releif of thair ordinarie chargis during thair refidens; thairfoir the prelattis of the realme grantit a certane contributione furth of thair benefices, to be payet yeirlie to the faide college in all tymis cuming for the caus foirfaide; and in respect that the faidis lordis chosin upoun the sessioun, do present the Kingis persoun, and beir his aucthoritie in the doing of justice, the Kingis grace did thairfoir receave thame baith spirituall and temporall, in speciall honor and maintenance, promiesing that he sall authorize, mainteine and defend thame all, thair personis, landis and guidis fra all harme, wrang, hurt and injurie to be done to thame, be any manner of persoun, and exemit thame also fra all maner of contributionis,

And in the meyntyme, thair was appointit and chofin be the King fic perfonis spirituall and temporall to be upoun the dalie session, and to minister justice equalic amang all the leiges, as saide is, estir thair conscience and understanding, and thay war sworne to do the samyn. Quhilk institucione and ordour of ministring of justice hes bene observed till this our dayis, to the great honour of the realme and comforth of the haill pepill thairof.

In the famin parliament thair wes also mony guid lawis and conflitutionis maid, bot the same wer nocht publist quaill the parliament quailk wes haldin in the yeir of God 1535.

At the same tyme thair wes ane graye fryer in the cietye of Glasgwo brint for the like caus, and mony uthers war summonit for heresie, and becaus they wald not compeir, war declarit heretiques.

About this tyme ane reverent fader James Betoun Archbishop of St Androis, being of greit aige, quha had lived lang in greit honor in Scotland, deceissit and wes bureit in St Androis; and befoir his deid had providit successouris to all his benefices, quhilkis were Mr David Betoun then being cardinall to the archbishoprik of St Androis and to the Abbacye of Arbroith, and Mr George Durye quha wes archdene of St Androis to the Abbacye of Dumfermling; quha enterit with the Kingis benevolens, and without ony stoppe to thair benefices estir his deceis; he foundit and biggit ane greit pairt of the new colledge of St Androis, and left greit somes of money in thresoure to compleit the samin.

In the moneth of August, Sir James Hamiltoun of Finart knight, ane of the Kingis maift familiare counfelleris and fervitouris, beand in the town of Edinburgh; thair come to him David Wod controller to the King, and charget him in the Kingis name to pas to ward in the castle of Edinburgh, quhilk he glaidly obeyit, beleving assuredly that becaus he had ben fa diligent in the Kingis fervice, specially in reforming the pallices of Striveling and Linlithquo, and making of new lugeingis thairinto, and fa tenderly belovit and familierly treated with the King, that thairthrough he had na caus to feire. Yit schortly estir he wes accusit and convict in the tolbuith of Edinburgh, of certane poinctis of treassoun allegit aganis him, quhilkis he nevir grantit, and wes heidit thairfore. Befoir his executione he protestit before God that he had not offendit the King, bot affirmit that gif he had bene als guid a servant to God as he was to the King, he had not dyet fo fhamfully; and confessit that he defervit that deith becaus he offendit God oftymes for pleafour of the King, and theirfore prayit every one to taik exempill of his doingis.

This fymer the Quene beand in Striveling wes deliverit of ane uther fone, quha wes baptifet in the chappell of Striveling, and callit Arthur, bot within viij dayes thaireftir he deceiffit at Striveling; and that famin daye the Prince James the Kingis eldest some being in St Androis, deceissit alsua, thair being only the spaice of six hours betuix thair deidis, quhilk wes the caus of no les dolor through the haill realme, nor thair wes joye for thair birthes of besoir.

Eftir this the Quene passit to St Johnstoun, quhair scho wes ressavit honorably with triumphe maid be the toun, and wes accumpanyet with the principal nobillmen of the camtrey; and fra that maid journay to Aberdene, the King being alsua in company, and wes ressavit thair with diverse triumphes and playes maid be the town, and be the university and scules theiros, and remanit thair the space of sistein dayes, weils intertenit be the bischop, quhair their was excersise and disputationes in all kind of sciences, in the colledge and sculis, with diverse oratiouns maid in Greke, Latine and uther languages, quhilk was mickell commendit be the King and Quene, and all thair company; and estir they had bene weill intertenyt thair, they returnit to Dundye, quhair was ane couldy entres prepairet for thame alsua. And fra that to Falkland, and so to Edinburgh.

Eftir the Kingis retouring he causit hald ane parliament in Edinburgh, quhair, be the advise of the three estaitis, thair was mony lawis and constitutionis maid for the common weill and quietnes of the cuntrey and the ministring of justice, as is conteynit in the buik of the actis of parliament.

About this tyme, Sir John Borthwick, commonly callit Captane Borthwick, suspectit and deletit for heresy, wes summonit to compier in St Androis besoir the cardinall and diverse utheris bischopis and prelatis their present; quhair notwithstanding his absence, the same beend provin he sufficient witness agayns him, he was convict and declarit ane heretique, his imiage maid in the likness of him was brunt at the markett croce [for] the exampill and seiz of utheris; for the quhilk caus, he sted and past in Ingland, quhair he was ressayit, and employed in fervice be the King of Ingland, fending him in meffage to diverse princes of Germanie, quha wes his confideratis in the alteration of religion.

The King of Ingland in his parliament causit proclame him selfe King of Ireland, albeit his predecessouris had nevir that style of besoir, for thay war callit bot Lordis of Ireland allanerlie. Quhairwith the King of Scotland was nothing contentit, becaus thair is ane greit parte of Ireland, speciallye in the north thairof, quhilk hes bene possessed mony hundreth yeres be Scottismen, and under the obedience of the King of Scotland; quhilkis notwithstanding the said acclaimit title, James Mackoneillis ayres and utheris Scottismen dois yit possed in thir dayes.

The King of Ingland haifing abolishet the Popes auctoryte furth of his realme, expellit all friers, and reformit uther religious personis; at his plefour applyit the fubstance and jowellis of thair abbayes and patrimonye of the same to his awin use; als he knawing that the Paip, Emperour and King of France had mett at the town of Nece in Italye, quhair thay war all weill aggreit; feiring thairfore his realme to be invaidit be thame, like a politique Prince forseing the daunger, send Lord Wiliame Haward to the King of Scotland, defiring him as his maift tendir kinfman and nevoy to meit him at the ciety of Yorke in Ingland, quhair he wald communicat with him fic thingis as fould be for the weill of baith the Princes and thair realmes. And the King of Ingland belevand fuerly that he wald haif fulfillit his defire, caufit maik preparatione in the meane time at the citye of Yorke and uther places for his reffait. Bot the King of Scotland, albeit of him felfe wes willing to haif past in Ingland to haif mett with the King his uncle, yit estir lang reffoning and deliberatioun with his counfall and nobillitie, underflanding how greit hazarde it wes to him, haiffing na fucceffioun of his body at that tyme, to pas within the realme of Ingland, incaice he had bene haldin thairintill be King Henry the viijth, as King James the first his predecessour wes; and that it wes notourly knowen, that the principall caus he defirit him for wes to haif perswadit him to haif ufit the like ordour in Scotland, as he had done within his realme of Ingland, in abolishing the Paipes auctoritye, making him selfe supreme heid of the kirke, demolishing all the abbayes, expelling religious perfonis, and applieng of their jowellis, landis and rentis to his awin use, in fic fort as pleafit him; and gif he wald attempt the like be the King of Inglandis counfall, then fould he lose the frindeschipp quhilk he had of the Paipe, Emperour and King of France, and uther christiane princes, his greit freindis and confederatis. And thairfore fend be the counfall of his nobilyte, pleifand writing is and meffages to the King of Ingland, defiring to haif him excufit that he come not in Ingland at that tyme; quhilk wes for fic causes as he fould maik his said uncle to understand be his ambaffadouris, quhilk he wald schortly send in England for that and uther caussis. And sone thairestir send Sir James Leirmond to the King of Ingland ambaffadour, to maik his faid excuse, and also to complane upoun certane invalions maid be the borderaris of Ingland within the realme of Scotland; and apoun the using of the debaitable land betuix the twa realmes. Bot the King of Ingland beand hiechly offendit becaus the King of Scotland wold not come within his realme to fulfill his defire, wald admitt na excuse, bot determitt with him selfe to maik weare in Scotland, albeit he wald not fuffer the famin to be knawin quhill he had maid and preparit all thingis in ridines thairfore. And in the meyne tyme fend commissioneris to meit upon the debaittable ground, and for making of redrefs, bot nathing wes done at thair meiting for defyding of the debaitable lande, nor yit for repairing of the wrangis done.

In this fimmer the King of Ingland maid greit preparatione to maik weare apoun Scotland, baith be fey and lande; and to that effect convenit ane parliament at London, quhair he declarit the causes moving him thairto; quhilk wes principally becaus the King of Scotland wald not come at his defire to the cietye of Yorke to meit him; and that he had just title to the superioryte of the realme of Scotland; and instantly send ane navye of schippis to the sey, and ordanit ane greit armye to be send with the Duik of Norffolke to invaid Scotland. The marcheandis of the realme of Scotland, knawing nathing of the King of Ingland his intentione nor purpose, speciallie na proclamatione of wear beand maid, travellit with thair schippis and guides to France, Flanders, Denmarke and uther cuntreys, as they war accustomit. The King of Ingland beand advertift of thair returning, causit taik xxviij of the principall schippis of Scotland, beand laidnit with all kinde of mearchandife and coiftly wairis, and causit thame be brocht within the realme of Ingland. Quhairfore the King of Scotland heiring thierof, fend with all diligence ane herrauld, with letters defiring restitutione of his schippis, seing thair wes na wear proclamet betuix the twa realmes. Bot the King of Ingland beand gredye of the praye quhilk he had gottin, and mindfull alfua to maik weir, thocht best to remane fulhandit, and thairfore refuset to deliver the faid schippis, and imediatly theirester send down Sir Robert Bowis with ane greit company of men of wear to the bordouris, geving thame command to invaid Scotland without any proclamatione of wear maid. And the faid Sir Robert with the number of three thousand men raid within Scotland, and raifit fyer and spulyeit certain small townes; quhairthroch the fray beand raifit in the countrey, the Erle of Huntley, quha wes appointit lifetenant to remane on the bordouris for fuddand incursions, schortly convenit ane nomber of borderaris and sett apoun the Inglismen; quha war all put to flicht, and Sir Robert Bowes, Sir Richard his broder, and all the principallis and utheris to the number of vj hundred were tane presoners. The said Sir Robert and the uther principall landit men war kepit still in Scotland quhill efter the Kingis death. This victorye was on St Barthilmois days, the 24 of August, at ane place in the Merfe called Halden Rig.

Efter this foresaid victorye, the King of Ingland fend the Duik of Northfolke, with the Erles of Shrewsbery, Darbye, Cumberland, Surrey, Hartfurd, Angus, Rutland, and the erles and lordis of the north partis of Ingland, with fourtye thowsand men, quha enterit in Scotland the xxi daye of October, and brunt some townes on the walter siede of Tweide; bot the Erle of Huntly beand presently thair with ten thousand men of the borderars and uthers, awaytit sa weill on thame with skarmishing, that they durst not cum twa myle fra the walter of Tweide within the bound of Scotland. In the meynetyme, the King of Scotland beand advertift thairof, gaderit ane gret armye throche all the partis of his realme, and come to Soutray ege, quhair they musterit and wes nowmerit to be xxxvj thowfand men. And thairfra come to Faley mure, quhair they camptit, beand determinat to haif gifen battell on the morne to the Inglismen: bot the duik of Northfolke heiring of the coming fordwart of the King with his armye, retirit him felfe within Ingland, not withoute greit losse of men, horse and spoilye takin of thame in the retreat, be the Erle of Huntleyis company and borderars, specially at the ourganging of the walter of Tweide. The King on the morne beand advertist of thair departing furth of Scotland, wes verray force that the armyis had not mett within the realme, thinkand it had bene maift godly and honourable alfua, to haif gevin battell for defense of his awin cuntrey, beand invaidit, within the famin. Yit nochttheles, he beand of hiech and manly courage, for revenge of the injureys done be the Inglismen within his cuntrey, thought guide that his haill armye fould pas within Ingland and invade the famin, and he determinat to pas him felfe thairwith in proper persoun; and desirit the principallis of his nobilyte to confent thairto; quha efter lang ressoning and guide advisement, gaife answer unto the King, saying, that they could not thinke it guide that they fould pas within Ingland and to feik battell, the King alfua being with thame; confidering that the Kingis twa fones wes laytly deid and he had na fuccessioun of his body; and the chance of battell being so douptfull, that incase the famin war loft be the Scottismen, then the King of Ingland, quha had griet substance quhilk he had gotten of the spoilye of the kirkis and religious placis of his realme, micht thairwith followe furth his victorye, and put the realme of Scotland in greit hazard. Thairfore they thocht it fufficient to defend thair awin boundis and to conftreyne the enemye for feir to leif the invalione thairof, as prefently they had done; and declairit that they war determinat to haif gifin battell to the enemies gif they had remanit within the realme, and douptit not bot be the help of God, haifing fa just a quarrell, being invaidit, bot they had obtenit the victorye. The King heiring thair determinacioun, albeit his hiech courage preffit him to invaid, yit the wisdome of his nobilyte and counsell maid him to followe theare advise: And sua retournit with honour with his haill armye the first daye of November, the armye of Ingland beand first dischargit, and the Duik of Northfolke departit towart Londoun.

Heir is to be rememberit thair wes ane acte maid at Faulay mure, be the King with confent of the Lordis, conforme to the auncient custome of the realme, that quha soever happenit to die in that jornay, thair nerrest air sould have the warde and nonentres of thair landis, with the mariage; quhilk priviledge wes keipit to the Erle of Athollis sone and ayre, and the laird of Gartully of that Ilk, for thay deceiffit in Edinburgh returning fra the said oift.

Sone eftir, the King of Scotland being fare movit in his minde for that his nobilyte wald not confent to invade Ingland at his defire, passit him selfe in proper persone to the west marches of his realme, quhair the Lord Maxwell wes wardane, in quiet maner; and causit the said Lord Maxwell and the Erles of Cassiles and Glencarne, Lord Fleming and certane utheris lordis quha wes with him for the time, accumpaniet with the borderars, with quhom he send alsua Oliver Sincler, and the rest of the gentill men of his awin houshold, to entre within Ingland and invaide the fame; quha enterit thairintill one St Katherins even, the xxiiij daye of November, and brunt diverse townes apoun the walter of Eske; bot howsone the fraye wes raiset in the cuntrey, the Lord Quharton wardane of the west marches of Ingland, suddandly convenit ane greit nowmer of the cuntrey men, and come to ane littell hill, quhair they remanit in ficht. The Scottis persaveing the Inglismen convenit, affemblit thame felfes togidder, and enquirit quha wes lievtenent deput be the King; and incontinent Oliver Sinclar wes haldin up apoun twa mens schoulders, quhair he producet the Kingis commisfion makand him lievtenent of that cumpany; bot howfone the famyn wes red, the erles and lordis thair present thocht thame selfes lichtlyit our farr, making fic a meane gentilman lievtenante abone thame all; and thairfore determinat not to feicht onder fic ane captayne, bot willingly fufferit thame felfis to be takin be the Inglismen without ony reslistance, and without flauchter of any perfoun on aither fyde. This raid wes callit Soloway Moss. At the same tyme were takin presonners, the Erles of Cassillis and Glencarne, the Lord Fleming, the Lord Maxwell, the Lord Simmerwell, the Lord Oliphand, Oliver Sinclar, the Lord of Cragy, and fundrye utheris gentillmen, quha were led prifounars to London, quhair they remanit quhill efter the King wes deid.

During the tyme of this raid, the King of Scotland remanit in Carlavrock apoun the bordour, not far fra Soloway Mos; and heiring of the taking of his Erles, Lordis and utheris, as faid is, and remembring alfua of the refuse maid be his haill nobilyte convenit with him at Fala, to invaid Ingland, thocht with him selfe that all his nobillis had been conspirit aganis him; and thairfore tuik ane vehement and hiech melancholye and displeasour, and suddanly departit thairfra to Edinburgh, and fra that in quiet maner to Falkland; quhair he remanit quietly, beand fair troublit baith in spreit and bodye, and nane wer permittit to haif accesse unto him bot onely his secreit and familiar servandis. He beand in this maner vexit and inquietit, novellis wes brocht unto him that the Quene his wief wes deliverit of ane maden barne, beand ane faire Princes, the sevint daye of December; quhilk he estemit na guid novellis, bot eikit the same as ane grief to his former displeasouris, in fa farr as perceavit the end of his awin life to approache, and said that he forsawe greit trouble to come upoun his realme of Scotland, for the persute quhilk the King of Ingland wes abill to maik thairapoun, to haif the same subject unto him outher be mariadge or uther wayes. It was brutit assume that the King of Scotland was vexit be some unkindly medicine; bot howsoever the mater was, he yeldit his spreitt to almighty God, and departit fra this warld the xiiij day of December 1542, the xxxiij yeire of his aige, and the xxxiij yeire of his reigne.

Sone theireftir his body was carryet fra Falkland to Edinburgh in maift honourabill maner, with greit funerall pompe, the Cardinall, Erles of Arrane, Argyle, Rothes, Merschall, and mony utheris nobill men present, and wes buryit in the Abbay kirk of Halyrudhous, befyde the body of Quene Magdalene, dochter to the King of France, his first wief. Thier wes gryt dule and meane maid for him throw all the partis of his realme, because he was a nobill Prince, and travaillet mekill all his dayis for maintening of his subjectis in peace, justice and quietnes. He was a man of pearfonage and stature convenient, albeit michtie and strong thairwith, of countenance amiable and lufely, specially in his communicacioun, his eyes graye and scharp of ficht, that quhomefoevir he did ones fee and marke, he wald perfytly knawe in all tymes thairefter, of witt in all thingis quick and prompt, of a princely ftomacke and hiech courage in greit perillis, douptfull affaires and materis of weichtie importance; he had in a maner a devine foreficht, for in fic thing is as he went about to doo, he did them advisedly eand with greit deliberacion, to the intent that amangis all men his witt and prudence micht be noted and regardit, and alffarre excell and pas all uthers in estait and dignitie. Besides this, he was sober, moderate, honest, effabill, curteous, and so farr abhorrit pride and arrogance that he was ever sharpe and quick to thame quhilk were spottit or notit with that crime. He was alfua a good and fuir Justicar, be the quhilk one thing he allurit to him the hartis of all the people, becaus they lived quietly and in reft, out of all oppressioun and molestacioun of the nobilyte and riche persones; and to this seueryte of his, wes joinit and annexit a certane mercifull pitye, quhilk he did oftymes show to fic as had offendit, taiking rather composicions of money nor menis lives; quhilk wes a plaine argument that he did not use his rigour, (only as he said him felfe) to bow and abate the hiech and wrangous hartes of the peopill, speciallye Irishmen and borderaris and utheris, nurest and brocht up in feditious factionis and civile rebellionis, and not for gredie defier of riches or honger of money, althoch fuch as weir afflictit walde crye out; and furely this guid and modest prince did not devour and confume the riches of his cuntrey, for he by his hiech pollicye mervellouslie riched his realme and him felfe, both with gold and filver, all kinde of riche fubstance, quhairof he left greyt stoir and quantyte in all his palices at his departing. And fo this King, living all his tyme in the favour of fortune, in hiech honour, riches and glorye, and for his nobill actis and prudent pollyces worthye to be registrat in the buike of fame, gaif up and randerit his spreit into the handis of Allmichty God, quhair I doupt not bot he hes fuir fruition of the joye that is preparit for these as fall fitt on the richt hand of our Salveour.

Notwithstanding that, the Cardinall of St Androis and fum utheris wald have made fum impediment, allegeing that the King be his testament nominat four Regentis; bot the same on no wife culd be verefeit nor provin. The Governour accepting the faid office apoun him, intromettit with the Kingis pallices of Halierudhous and Falkland, with all his movabil pofe and jowellis, and callit all the Kingis the faurars, comptrollers and officiaries of howfe to their comptis; efter the quhilkis he continewit fum of thame still in office, and utheris he dischargit, and appointit utheris as pleasit him in At the same time, for suir preservatione of the Quenis persoun and sustentacioun of her tryne, it was be the Governour and the estaitis agreit that hir most nobill persoun, be reson of hir tendir age, shulde remane with the Quene hir moder in kepinge duringe hir infancie, and certane rentis of the patrimonie assignit for hir interteinment; and for hir mair fure keping, certayne Lordis war appointit to remane continowally with the Quene dowarier in company; albeit sho wald admit nane of thame faffing the Lorde Levingstoun to make refidens with hir in Linlithqw, qubill the Quene wes transportit to Striveling.

Quhen thir thinges wer doing in Scotland, Henry King of Ingland perseving ane reddy way (as he thought) quhow baith the realmes might be united and maid ane without wear, be contracting and mariage of his sonne King Edwarde, beyng than bot sive yeris of aige, with that young Princes the Quene of Scotlande, thairfore he determinat with him self to caus the samin taik effect uther be peace or wear, force or policie; and for that caus send for the Erle of Cassillis, Glencarne, Lordis Maxwell, Fleming and utheris presonners beyng than at London, and causit thame be convoit to Hampton Court, quhair thay wer weill intertenyt, and maid ane overture of his mynde, proponing the said matter unto thame; desiring thame for thair parties to make ane contracte of mariage betuix the Quene of Scotlande and Edwarde his sonne, with certane utheris conditiones and articles for keping of the Quenes persone unto the completing of the sayd mariage; and promesit to thame

And they beand glaid to obtene thair liberty, accepted the Kingis offre, and promeifit to do thair diligence thairintill at thair cuming in Scotland for his contentatione; quhairupoun thay departit to the Newcastle, and remanit thair with the Duke of Suffolk, quaill he recevit certane pledges of the principall Lordis furth of Scotlande for performance of their promeiffes; likewife the King fende the Erle of Angus and George Dowglas his broder with thame in Scotland, with letters to the Governour, praying hym effectuouslye to restoir thame to thair awne rownes, landis and possessity ons; quhilk lordis arrivit at Edinburgh about the middis of the moneth of Januar, and declared to the Governour thair message and propositione maid be the King of Inglande; and the Governour beand perfuadit be thame thairto, sende for the lordis and nobilitie of the realme to cum to Edinburgh to ane conventione, the xxvijth day of Januar; quhair thay beand all convenit, appoyntit ane parliament to be haldin in the moneth of Marche next following, for fatiffeing the King of Inglandis defieres in all poyntis. And becaus they feared left that the Cardinall, quha wes thair prefent, wald perfuade the nobilitie not to confent thairto, for favour quhilkis he buir to France, and the feare quhilk he had conceaved of the alteraciones of the religione in Scotlande, to that mariage, and for diverse uther respectis, thay caused him to be put in ward in the castle of Dalkeith, and thairestir kiepit in St Androis, the Lord Seytoun beynge appointit hes keipar; quharthrow the diocye of St Androis wes interditit, the mess and all uther devine fervice ceasied in Edinburgh and in all uther partis of that diocie; for the quhilk caus the Governour, be perfustione of the Lordis newe come from Inglande, causit ane Blacke Frier, callit frier Guiliame, preche aganis the Paipes aucthorytye, and ufit fic fervice as he thought guide, notwithstanding the said interdictione, and maid lesum to every man to

At the tyme appoyntit the parliament wes halden at Edinburgh, quhair, throch the perfuatione of the faid Lordis that come furth of Ingland, a mariage of the Quene with Prince Edward, be the three estaitis wes aggreit, with ane peax to be kept betwixt the twa realmes for ten yeris; and for confirmatione thairof, and to fatisfie the King of Inglandis defyres, thair wes fend into Ingland Williame Erle of Glencarne, Sir George Dowglas, Sir Wiliame Hammilton and Sir James Leirmound knightes ambassadouris, quha departit immediatlye thairefter, and remanit thair to the ende of the moneth of Julij, quhair the faid contractes and treatis war fealed and interchanget; and thairfra they retornyit in Scotland, efter the quhilk the Cardinall wes reliefit out of warde. In the fayd parliament alfua, the Erle of Angus, George Dowglas his brother, Sir James Hamilton fonne and air, the Lorde Glames and diverse utheris quha had been forfalted of thair landis and guidis in the tyme of Kinge James the Fifte, war restorit agane thairto be decreit of the three estaitis of the realme.

At this parliament tyme, Sir Robert Bowis, Rycharde Bowis, Mr Slingifby and utheris Inglis presonners, quha had bene tane at Halden Rig on St Barthelmois day befoir, were sende home in Ingland be the Governour.

About the same tyme, ane yonge prelat, wyse and weill learnit, callit Johne Hamiltoun Abbot of Paislay, and broder to the Governour, come into Scotlande furth of France, quhair he had bene resident in the universities, and be the waye in Inglande, he and diverse utheris clerkes with hym were weill treat be King Henry the aucht.

And to the effecte thair micht be ane better cullour to steir up ane uther

Bot in the meintyme, thair happinned are suddane discord within the Kirk of Glasgw, betuix the Cardinall and Bischoppe of Glasgw, for thair preheminence of the bering of the Cardinallis crosse within that kirk, quhair baith the Archebischoppes crosses was brokin and diverse of thair gentill men and servandis wes hurt; bot the mater wes some aggreit be the Governour and his counsell; and fra that the hoill clerge convoyit the patriarche with a gudlie company to Edinburgh, quhair he maid residence all the nixt winter, and heild ane verey honourable house and wes weild treated be the clergie, and lykwyse be the Governour, Quene and nobilitie, fwa that everie day during his remaning within the realme, athair he maid bankquet to utheris in the fassione of his cuntrey, or ellis reslaved the lyk in the maner of Scotland. One thing heir is to be remembred, that the Erle of Murray makand him the banquet in his house, althouth he had gret stoir of all kynd of filver wark, yit nottheles, for the greater magnificence, he fet furth ane copburde furnesed with all fortis of glasses of the fynest christall that culd be maid; and to mak the saide patriarche to understande that thair wes gret aboundance thairof in Scotland, he caused ane of his servandis, as it had bene be fleuth and necligence, pull down the copburd clothe, so that all the hoill christellingis suddantlie was cassin down to the eird and brokin, quhairwith the patriarche wes verrey forie; but the Erle fuddantlie caused bring ane uther copburd bettir furnessed with fyne christall nor that was; quhilkis the patriarche praised, aswell for the magnificence of the Erle as for the fynes of the christall, afferming that he nevir did se bettir in Veneise, quhair he him selfe wes borne. This Erle of Murraye wes ane verrey wyse nobill man, honest and comlie in all his behaveour; and shortlie thaireftir departed frome court north to Murray, quhair being vexit with the gravell, quhilk at lenth turned to ane confermit flane, he deceiffed in his castell of Tarnoway.

The foirsaid patriarche brocht with him fyndre prevelegeis from the seate of Rome, with a speciall commissione of legacie, a letter to the Cardinall of St Androis in moste ample forme, quhilk he used liberally to his death; and likwyise the patriarch maid greit promisse to the Governour and estaittis of the realme, of support for thair desence aganis Ingland; quhilk he did principallie to stay the Governour and nobilitie that they suld not jone in mariage or considerace with Ingland, searing thair by abolishing of the Catholique religeoun, demolishing of Abbayis and kirkis, and uther alteratione as had bene alredy practished in Ingland. And estir the guid treatment this patriarche had ressayed all this winter in Scotland, he departed in the monethe of Merche; and at his returning toward his countrey, he maid ane verey guid report of the honourabill and luiffing interteynement he had reflaved of the clargie and nobilitie in Scotland, alfweill to the King of France and uther Princes in his jorney, as to the Paip, Cardinallis and Senat of Venice, at his arryving thair, to the gret prafe and commendatione of the Scottis natione.

Now will I returne to the ernift ambitione of King Henry of Ingland, quha ceased not to searche be all meanis possibili to attaine to his defyre, and thairfore fend ane gret army be fey into Scotland, with the Erle of Hartford his livetennent and the Vicount Lisle his admirall, with twa hundreth gret schippes befyde boittes and crearis that careit thair victuallis, whairof thair wes gret nowmer; and the haill flot arryved in the firth fornent Leith the third day of Maij, and landit at the New Heavin about xx thousand men, with gret artailyerie and all kynd of munitione the fourt of Maij. In the meintyme, the Governour beand in the toun of Edinburgh, hering of thair suddane arryvell, departed furth of the toun towart Leith, accompaneit with the Cardinall, Erlis of Huntley, Argyle, Bothuile and utheris, with thair awin houfhold men onlie, purposing to stope the landing of the army; bot fre thay wer fuirlie adverteift of the gret nowmer of thair enemyis, quhairthrow thay were nocht abill to withfland thair forces, thay returned to Edinburgh, and fend Sir Adame Ottirburne proveft of the toun and twa of the baillies, to the faid Erle Hartford liuetennent, defyring to knaw for quhat caus he wes cumin with fic ane army to invaid, confidering thair wes ne weare proclamed betuix the tua realmes; and gif thair wes any injuries or wrangis done quharupoun the King of Ingland wes offendit, thay wald appointe commissioneris to treat with thame thairupoun, and to that effect thankfullie wald reslave thame within the toun of Edinburgh. The faid Erle of Hartford answered that he had ne commissione to treat upour any matters, bot onelie to ressaye the Quene of Scotland, to be convoyed in Ingland to be mareit with Prince Edward; and gif thay wald deliver her, he wald abstene fre all perfuit, utherwyis he walde burne and diffroy the townis of Edinburgh, Leith and all utheris quhair he mycht be maister within the realme of Scotland; and defyred thairfoir the haill men, wyffis, barnis and utheris being within the toun of Edinburgh, to cum furth of the same and present thame before him as livetennent, and offre thame into the Kingis will, or ellis he walde proceid as he had fpokin: To the quhilk the proveft, be the command of the Governour and counfall, ansuered, that thay wald abyd all extremitie rather or thay fulfillit his defyris; and fua the Governour caused furneis the castle of Edinburgh with all kynd of neceffarie furnitour, and departed to Striveling. In the meintyme the Inglis army ludged that nycht in Leith. Apoun the morne, being the first of Maij, thay merchit forduart towart Edinburghe be the Cannogait; and or thair entering thairin, thair come to thame fax thousand horse men of Inglis men frome Bervik be land, quha joyned with thame and passit up the Cannogait, of purpose to entir at the Nether Bow; quhair fum refistance was maid unto thame be certane Scottis men, and dyverse of the Inglis men war slane, and sum alfua of the Scottis syd, and fua held thame that day occupeit skarmusheinge, till the nycht come, quhilk compelled thame to returne unto thair campe. And on the nixt day, being the faxt of Maij, the gret army come forduart with the haill ordinances, and affailyeit the toun, quhilk thay fond voyed of all relistance, faiffing the portis of the toun war closed, quhilkis thay brok up with gret artailyerie and entered thairat, careing cartit ordinances befoir thame quhill thai come in fycht of the castell, quhair thay placed thame, purposing to seige the castell. Bot the Laird of Stanehous capitane thairof, caused showte at thame in sa gret aboundance and with so guid messour, that they flew a gret nowmer of Inglis men; amangis whome thair wes fum princepall capitanis and gentill men, and ane of the gretest peaces of the Inglis ordinances wes brakin, quhairthrow that war constrained to raise thair seige shortlie and retire thame.

The same day the Inglis men set fyre in dyvers places of the toun, bot wes not suffred to mantene it, throch contenowall showting of ordinance furth of the castell, quhairwith thai war so fore trublit that thay wer constrained to returne to thair camp at Leith. But the nixt day thay returnit againe, and did that thay culd to consume all the toun with fyris. So lykwyse thay contenowit some dayis estir, so that the maiste part of the toun wes brent in crewelle manner; during the quhilk tyme thair horse men did gret hurt in the cuntrey, spulyeing and burning sindre places thairabout, and in speciall all the castell and place of Craigmillar, quhair the most part of the hoill richesse of Edinburgh was put be the merchands of the toun in keping, quhilk not without fraud of the keparis, as wes reported, wes betrayed to the Inglismen for a parte of the bowtane and spoill thairos.

Quhen the Inglis men of weare was thus occupiet in burning and spoilyeing, the Governour send and releved the Erle of Angus, Lord Maxwell, Maister of Glencarne and Sir George Douglas surth of waird, and pat thame to libertie; and maid sic spede preparatione as he culd, to sett forduard ane army for expelling the Inglis men surth of the realme; quha hering thairos, upoun the xiiij day of Maij, thay brek down the peir of Leith heavin, brint and distroyed the same; and shipping thair gret artailyerie, thay send thair schippes away hameward, laydin with the spoyll of Edinburgh and Leith, taking with thame certane Scottis schippes, quhilkis was in the heavin, amangis the quhilkis the schippes callit Salamander and the Unicorne war careit in Ingland. Upoun the xv day of Maij thair army and thair slote departed fre Leith at ane tyme, the toun of Leith being set in syre the same morning, and thair said army that nycht ludgit at Seytoun; the nixt nycht besyd Dumbar, the third nycht at Rantoun in the Merse, and the 18 day of Maij thay entered in Berwik. In all this tyme, the bordouraris and certane utheris Scottis men, albeit thay wer not of sufficient numbre to gif battell, yit thay held thame biffe with daly skarmushing, that sundre of thair men and hors war taikin, and thairfoir nane of thame durst in ony wyis stur frome the gret armye, in all thair passage from Edinburgh to Bervike.

Efter the returning of the Inglis army, the Erle of Lenox, accompaneit with the bischoppe of Cathnes, the laird of Tullibarne and certane uther gentill men past in Ingland, and about Witsounday shipped at Dumbartane and tuik jorney be the west sey, and landit at Westchester in Ingland, quhair the Erle of Shreusbery reslaved him and his company.

Heir is to be confiderit the wyld, unquiet and unftabill natour of the Irichemen duelling in the Hielandis and Ilis of Scotteland, who was als obedient to the lawis of the realme, and kepit als gret quietnes in thair cuntreis, with ressonabill justice as in ony uther pairt of the Law landis, fo lang as King James the fyfte was on lyf; bot not lang eftir his death, thay hering of the unquiet stait of the realme, the gret devisione nurished amangis fyndre factions of the nobilitie, the hoit warris and perfuit of Inglande maid thame incontinent foryetfull of thair naturall deuetie, and to returne to thair former wiked behaveour, and exercing thame felfis in raiffing, steling and oppressione of their nyghbouris in all partis of the Hieland cuntreis, and in the Law landis nixt adjacent unto thame. And for flaunching and suppressing thairof, the Governour be the advyse of his counfill, gave speciall commissione to the Erle of Huntlie, as making him liuetennent generall of all the Hie landis, and of the north partis of Scotland, Orknay and Zetland; and lykwyse maid the Erle of Argyle liuetennent of Argyle and the Ilis; quhilkis offices thay acceptit apoun thame, and for the moir spedy executione of the samin, the Erle of Huntlie raifed ane gret army throche all the north partis, and past forduard aganis the Glenchamerone and Glenronell, Mudyard and Knudyard, quhairof the princepall capitanis was Ewin Allenfone, Ronald M'Coneilglas and Johne Mudyard, quha had herreit, reft and fpulyeit the hoill cuntrey of Urquhat and Glenmoresone, pertening to the laird of Grante, and the countreyis of Abirtarf, Straglashe and utheris pertening to the Lord Lovat; in the quhilkis cuntreis they had placed thame felffis as they had bene just possessions; thairof, thinking to enjoy the same peaceablie in all tymis cuming; bot the Erle merching forduart with his cumpanie maid thame fone to dislodge, and to flie in thair awin cuntrey apoun the west seis, quhair Lawland men culd haif no acces unto thame, and fo placed the Lorde Lovat and the laird of Grant in thair awine landis of Urquhat, and Abirtarf, and Straglashe; and the Erle fua haiffing done for the moift parte that thing he come for, returnit; bot the Lord Lovat returning to Lovat be ane uther way, accompaneit onlie with his owin kyn of the Fresers, be chaunce forgadderit with his ennemeis, quhair none of the parteis culd abstene from battell, bot fuddantlie entered in skarmushing, first with bowis and arrous, quhilkis lefted a long tyme, quhill thair hoill chaftis was fpendit on boith the fydis; and shortlie thay joynit in battell with suordis, quhair thay faucht so crewellie quhill the most part of boith the armeis was flayne, and the Lord Lovat him felf with thre hundreth of his awin furname, callit Fraser, with a gret number of commouns deit thair. The maister, his eldest sone, being ane weill lerned young gentill man, and brocht up with gret civilitie and knawlege in the realme of France, and bot new cum hame thair fre, was evill hurt and takin presoner, and careit to Ewin Allensone, quhair he deit within iij dayis. On the uther parte, thair was a gretar nomber of Glenronnell, Glenchamerown and Mudyardis kyn nor of the Fresers slayne; bot in the beginning they faucht lang and contenowalie with uncertane victorie, quhill at last the nycht come doun apoun thame, and was not knawin quhill the nixt day quhilkis of the parteis was maifter of the feildis. It was reported that at this feild thair was none of the furname of the Frasers left levand that was cum to mannis aige; nottheles God prosperit thame so, that all thair wyffes quha was left at hame behind thame was with barne, and in thair nixt birth was everie ane deliverit of a man chyld, fua that thai come shortlie thairestir to als gret a nomber of abili men as evir thay war in ony tyme past. The Erle of Huntlie liuetennent, soir greved for this unhappie chance of the deith of the Lord Lovat and his kin, ceased not to seik revenge thairof be all meanes possibill, aswell be pollicie as be force; and rayled ane army and past in the cuntrey of Lochabir, quhair Ewin Allensone maid his principall residens, spulyeit and herreit the hoill cuntrey, tuik findre of the principall oppressours thair of and executed thame to the deith, quaill he constrained the cuntrey to rander the principall capitanis, quhilkis was Ewin Allenfone and Ronald M'Coneilglase, and findre utheris in his handis; quhome he brocht with him to Rotheme, quhair thay war kepit certane space, and quhair the princepall nobill men and barronis of the haill north partis of Scotland war convenit, and thair thai war accused, convict be ane alfyse and condampnit, and Ewin and Ronald was heidit, and thair heidis affixit apoun the two portis of the toun, and findre utheris of thair companie hangit, and fo receaved just and dew punishment for thair unkendnes. Johne Mudyard and his company hering of this sharp punishment and executione, he fled into the Ilis, quhair he keped him self during all the tyme of the warris.

During this tyme mony and fyndre deadlie feadis and injureis quhilkis befoir had bene reconcyled, or at leift the memorie of thame erdit in oblivioun, war nottheles new waiknit through all the partis of the realme, and thairthrough querrellis revengit with gret crueltie; speciallie in the north partis of Scottis, and be the surname of the Forbesses aganis the lairdis of Achlosone and Lenturk, quhair thair was mony fcarmushis and invasionis, in the quality the Lord of Achlossin, the laird of Achinhuisse, James Forbes of Corsinday and mony of thair frendis was slayne; but the Erle of Huntlie was so diligent in the persewing of the offendaris and princepall authoris of the trubles, that he heild the cuntrey thairestir in ressonabill quietness and guid ordor.

Efter the returning of the Inglis army, the Erle of Lenox accompaneit with the bischoppe of Cathnes, the laird of Tullibarne and certane uther gentill men past in Ingland, and about Witsounday shipped at Dumbartane, and tuik jornay be the west sey, and landit at Weschester in Ingland, quhair the erle of Shreufbery reflaved him and his company, and maid thair convoy quaill thay come to the King; and at the nixt myd fymmer following the erle was maried with the faid Lady Margaret, and the King gaif to thame certane landis lyand in the north partis of Ingland, together with ane abbay callit Jarues; and becaus the King had promifed to gif him help, so being he wald caus deliver the castell of Dumbartane in his handis, to returne in Scotis and recover his awin landis with the governement of the realme, to the quhilk the erle had clamed title. Thairfore, fone eftir the mariage, the King prepared ane guid company of schippes, in the quhilkis the Erle accompaneit with Sir Petir Cruife, Sir Rauf Windfeild and Williame Winter with dyvers uthers, maid thair voyage be the west sey, and landit at Dumbartane, thinking affuredly the castell to be at his command. The capitane thairof, quha wes ane vailyeant gentill man, and ane trew Scottis man, callit Striveling, reffaved the erle and princepall gentill men willinglie, bot wald not fuffer gretar nowmer to entir nor he was abill to refift; quhair upoun the erle and the capitane entered in debait, quhairby fuddantlie the erle and all the Inglifmen war forced to departe furth of the castell, and returne to thair schippes, not without great feare and parrell of lyvis; and fua thay returnit in Ingland agane without obtening thair interpryle, and the capitane was prayled be all guid Scottis men for keping of the castell frome the Inglismen; quhilk lang thairsfur he wald nether deliver to Inglis man or Scottis man, but tendit to keip the same to the Quene his Soveranes behuif, quhill her perfyte aige.

Quhill this practife was in hand, the Kinge of Ingland was in persoun at the seige of Bullein in France; and the Governour send ane vailyeant and wyse gentle man, Sir George Meldrum of Fyvie knycht, to Bullen, to commowne apoun certane abstrance, to the effect that commissioners shuld meit; quhilk wes aggreit quhill his returning in Ingland in the moneth of August thairestir.

At King Henreis returning in Ingland from Bullein, hering him frustrat of the interprice of the randering of the castell of Dumbartane, fend the Erle of Lenox immediatlie theirestir to remaine upoun the west bordouris, in cumpany with the Lord Whortoun and Lord Dacres, continiwalie invading Scotis, and be burning and spulyeing the cuntrey all the rest of that yeir; and upoun the eist and myddill merchis, Sir Rauff Everis wes appointed livetennent lykwyse to invaid, as he did crewellie be spulyeing and burning in divers places, not sparing to burne wyffis and bairnes in thair houffes, bot ony mercy; as wes done at ane place in the Merfe callit the Bromehouse, and in sinder uther places at the fame tyme, quhairby the gretest part of the boirdouraris wes constrained to be affured to Ingland; and speciallie the Scottis men upoun the west bordouris war caused entir pledges, quha war kepit in Careleill, for fuirtie of thair guid reule and obedience to the King of Ingland in tymes cuming. Duringe the quhilk tyme the Governour capfed all the hoill nobill men and gentill men of Scots repair to the bordouris be quarteris, as use is, and him self for the most part maid residence with thame, relifting vaily eartlie the gret incursion is of the Inglis men; fwa that the faid Sir Rauff Everes shortlie theirestir restaved most recompence of his crueltie; for spon the xxvij day of Fabruar the faid Sir Rauff entered in Tivydaill with fax thousand men, invadit the same wit fyre and fuord with gret rigoure, quhill he come to the toun of Anckrame; quhair the Governour being accompaneit with the Erle of Angus, Normound Leslie Maister of Rothes, and certane uthers to the nowmer of fax hundreth gentill men, couragiouslie and vailyeantlie did resist the fureous raige of Everes and his company, and lychted on ather fyde and joyned in battell, albeit not equal in nowmer, and faucht verey crewellie at thair first entres, bot yit the Inglis men shortlie at last wes conftraned to flie and gif bakkis; quhair Sir Rauf Everis thair liuetennent with fiftie uthers capitanis and landit men, and aucht hundreth and thre fcoir of the remanent war flayne; and thair was twa thousand takin prefoners, quhair of the maift part war gentill men; and losed xij peaces of gret artialyerie and gret quantitie of uther munitione; and of the Scottis pairt war flayne onlie bot thre perfons. And fo the Governour returned with gret honour, gevand God praise and loving for his victorie, beand fa few in company contrar fa gret ane multitude.

About the same tyme deceased Robert Carnecorse bischoppe of Ross; and to the bischopprik was promoted David Pantar secretar to the Governour, than Prior of Saincte Marie Ile, ane leirned man and wyse, quha wes ambassadour resident in France mony yeris thairestir.

In the moneth of Aprile, bischope William Stewart of Aberdene, quha had bene gret thesaurar of Scotland, and sindre tymes ambassadoure boith in Ingland and France, deceissed; and in his place wes promoved to the bischoprike Williame Gordoun than Chanceller of Murray, ane Prelat of guid leving, sader broder to George than Erle of Huntley, quhom the Cardinall be his labouris helpit to be promoved thair-to, and preferred him for his knawlege to uthers quhome the Erle of Angus wald haif placed in the said bischoprike; quhilk and uther causes augmented the hattrent of the Erle of Angus and the Douglasses aganis the Cardinall, quhilk wes the caus of gret divisioun in the realme.

Quhen knawledge wes brocht to the King of France, of the gret perfuit maid be the King of Ingland aganis the realme of Scotlande, he fend Monfieur Lorge Mongumry, ane knycht of the ordour of France, with fyve thousand Frenche men in Scotland to support the samin aganis Inglande; thinking also thairby that he fould caus the King of Inglande, quha had latlie wonn the toun of Bullein, retire his army and forces furth of France, fwa that he mycht moir eisselie recover the toun agane furth of the Inglis mennis handis. This army landit at Dumbartane, and come in guid ordour to Edinburgh the xiij day of Maij. The King of Ingland being adverteift thairof, fend the Erle of Hartford to the border with ane armye of twentie thowsande men, quha entered in Scotland at Coldingham, and past up the watter of Tueid, and brint Kelfo and findre utheris townis upoun the watter, bot durft not adventure to go far frome the same; and the Governour suddantlie convenit ane army of the Scottis and Frenche men together, and past forduart for refistance of the faidis Inglismen; bot fra the Erle of Hartforde gat knawledge of his cuming, retired him felfe shortlie within Inglande, and the Governour passing forduart seged the castell of Warke; and quhill thay lay at the faid feige, the Scottis men maid diverse raidis and incurfionis within Ingland, brint divers townes, keft doun findre flane houses and strenthis, and brocht away gret spulye and pray of guidis, without any relistance. Eftir the quhilk the gret army returned, and the Frenche men lay in garefone at Kelfo, for keping of the bordouris all the rest of this yeir.

At the famin tyme the King of France fend his ordoure of Sanct Michaell with Monfieur de Lorge to the Governour of Scotland, as he did alfua to the Erlis of Angus, Huntlie and Argyle, quhilk thay refaved with the accustomed solempnitie and troumphe, and used the same verrey honorabillie during thair tymes.

All this tyme the capitane of the castell of Dumbertane kepit the same to the Governour, albeit he fend oft and required the same to be delivered; and thairfoir the Governour prepared all munitione necessar for the fegeing thairof. The Erle of Glencarne hering of the preparatione, fend to the Erle of Lenox, being in Ingland, defyring him to returne agane, and he fuld caus the castell be randerit in his handis. of Ingland being glad of the offre, caused prepair tuo shippis for the Erlis convoye, and in the meintyme fend the Bischope of Cathnes his broder, quha wes reslaved in the castell to remane thair to his cuming; bot the Governour being advertist of the practife, maid the gretar haist and past suddantlie to the toun of Dumbartane, accompaneit with the Erlis of Huntlie, Argyle, Cardinall, and mony uthers nobill men, quhair that feged the castell at divers partis; albeit the same, throw the natural firenth and fituatione thairof, could not be won be force, yit be meanes and labouris of the Erle of Huntlie, the capitane theirof wes perfuadit to rander the same to the Governour; quha rewardit him verrey honorablie for his treuthe and lawtie keipit to his native cuntrey in refusing to gif the same to the Inglis men at the Erle of Lenox desyre, and reftored the Bischoppe of Cathness to his bischoprike, quhilk had bene takin frome him for affifting to the Erle his broder; and fwa he remaned still in Scotland, and walde nevir returne in Ingland againe.

The Scottis men, quha wes affured upoun the west bordouris, hering of the randering of the castell of Dumbartone to the Governour, and that his strenthe was augmentit be cumin of the French men in Scotland, began to revoult frome the obedience of Inglande, for the quhilk caus syndrie of thair pledges war hanged at Carleill. Bot shortlie thairestir for revenge thairof, the Lorde Maxwell, Lairdis of Lochinvar, Johnsoun and uderis entered within Ingland and brint mony townes, tuik away mony presoners with thame, and gret pray of guidis, to the gret hurt of Ingland, and to the just revenge of thair crueltie; and at the same tyme the Frenche men quha lay in garesoun at Kelso, with the

In the nixt Maij, the cardinall being resident in his castell of Sanct Androis, certane of his owine familiars accompaneit with uthers quha had conspired aganis him, being moved thairto partlie throw the executione of the faid Maister George Wishert, fearing thame felffis to be execute for the famyn cause; partlie, alfwa, being counsaled and perfuaded thairto be divers gret men of the realme, quha had querrell and actione of deidlie feid aganis him, entered thairfoire tymous in the morning the xxx day of Maij, within his faid castell, and passed to his chalmer or he was riffin of his bed; quhair he was cruellie in opinning of his chalmer dur flayne, and incontinent thaireftir the doaris thairof pat furth all his fervandis and tuike the caftell, quhilk wes weill plenished and furnished with all kinde of munitione, riche hingars, houshold furnetour, coiftlie abilyeamentis, kaipes and kirk jowellis, riche copbuirdis of gold and filver, and gret pose of gold and money. Suddantlie thaireftir, Sir James Lermond, proveft of San& Androis, convenit the induellers of the cittie for releif of the cardinall and recovering of the castell; bot the keparis of the castell shew the deid bodie of the cardinall upoun the wall as ane spectacle to the people, quhairby thay war affured that he wes deid, and the same caused thame ceife fra any further persuite.

Quhen knawlege wes brocht to the Governour of the crewell flauchter of the Cardinall, quha wes his tendir coufing and Chanceller of the realme, he was hichlie offendit thairwith, and convenit the principall nobill men, fic as the Erlis of Angus, Huntley, Argyle and utheris, be quhais advyle he held ane parliament, and forfaltit thame quha wes within the faide castell of thair landis and guidis, and past shortlie thaireftir accompaneit with fyndre of the faidis lordis to Sanct Androis, and with gret artailyerie and munitione feged the castell; bot the same wes so well furneshed with all necessares be the Cardinall in his awin tyme, and fo stronglie defendit be the keparis thairof, that it culd nocht be guidlie won; and thairfoir eftir the feige had tareit thairat the space of thre monthis, the Governour maid ane appointment with thame quha wes within the faid caftell, taking fum abstinence for a tyme, principallie to the effect he mycht have recovered his eldest sone, guha wes with the Cardinall the tyme of his deith, and thaireftir haldin be thame; albeit he wes not delivered furth of thair handis qubill the castell was won be the Frenchemen.

During the tyme of this seige, thair come ane gret navie of shippes and men of weare send be the King of Ingland to releif the same and to raise the seige; quha preissed sindre tymes to land under the castell, bot was vailyeantlie resisted and stopped be the Governouris company, and syndre of the Inglismen slayne and drowned in thair reteiring; swa thay returned to Ingland frustrat of thair interprice.

In this meintyme the Governour, be the cunfall of the prelattis of the realme, fend to the King of France for helpe to won the faid castell; quha prepared certane gallayis with men of weir to cum in Scotland to that effecte, as thay did the nixte yeir following. Also the haldaris of the castell, mistrusting the appointment to be kepit, send to the King of Ingland for fupport; quha granted to gif the famyn, becaus he was glaid of the Cardinallis deith, quhome he alleged to be a favorar of France at all tyme in his contrair; bot or thay gat his fupport the castell wes won.

At this tyme the Governour disponed the archebischoprike of San&t Androis to his owne broder the Abbot of Paislay, and gaif are gift of the abbay of Arbroith to George Douglas bastard sone to the Erle of Angus, notwithstanding that Maister James Betoun, tendir cousing to the Cardinall, was lawfullie provydit thairto of befoir, quhilk maid gret trubill in the cuntrey estirwart.

In the middis of thir trubles in Scotland, and of thir preparationes, King Henry of Ingland deceased the xxvj day of Januar, and in his place succedit prince Eduard his sone, quha wes crownit King of Ingland; and the Duik of Symmerset his moder broder was maid protectoure of Ingland and tutor to the Kinge, becaus he wes bot ix yearis of aige.

The pest wes verey vehement in divers partis of the realme, and speciallie in the townis of Dundie, Aberdene and utheris partis of the north, and contenowit still all the nixt year following; swa that it appered weill that God did punishe that realme with pleague, weare, suord and syre all at onis for the offences of the peple.

The last day of Merche, Frances King of France deceased, and Henry his sone was crownit King of France; quha immediatile estir his coronation send ane gentill man called Monsieur Dosell into Scotland, to conferme the ancient leage betuix Scotland and France, as the use was at the entres of everye prince; quhilk wes done be universall consent, and he remaned still within the realme ambassadour resident for the King thairestir.

In the fymmer following, the Governour convenit ane army and past to the west bordouris and seged the castell of Langup, quhilk wes kepit be the Inglis men, and wan the same, and with pulder raised it frome the ground.

During the tyme of this seige, the Governour caused the Erle of Rothes, quha wes new returned frome Denmark, to be put to the knowlege of ane assyife, and be tryed be his peris of the realme for airt and pairt of the Cardinallis slauchter; who was declared innocent and maid quyt, notwithstandings that his eldest sone and apparand air, and ane of his brotheris also, was at the committing thairof.

Quhen this army of Scotland was at this feige of Langup, Capitaine Stroffa prioure of Capua, fend be the King of France, arryved befyd Sanct Androis with faxtene gallayis weill furnished with men of weare and munitione, quhair he landit and enteret in the cittie. The Governour and nobilitie hering thairof, returnit shortlie frome the bordouris for his assistance, quhair the seige wes confermed; and the said priour be fubtill ingynis caused mount certane peaces of munitione apoun the battilment of the Abbay kirk, quhilk wes hiche abone the castell, and that thairfre within the famyn, fua that no man durft be fene upour the wallis nor in the close of the famyn to mak defence; and fic like caused draw certane cannonis be ingyne with gret cordis and towis without force of men neir unto the castell, quhairwith thay shot so fast and stopped al defence upon the wallis, that thay filled the fouseis to have maid entrie. Also the gallayis at the full sey come nere unto the castell on that syde, and shot gret cannonis and uder artailyerie, quhairwith thay flew divers within the place. The haldaris of the castell, persaving thame seigit on all sydis and not abill to resist, pat up ane taikin on a speir pointt, desyring to commoune upoun deliverance of the place, quhilk was granted; and fa certane of thame come furth and fpak with the Governour, the Quene and prior of Capua; quhair thay offered to rander the castell, sua thav mycht haif thair lyssis saufe, and bag and bagages, quhilk the Governour refused. At last he was content to pardone thame thair liffes, gif the King of France thoght the same to se done, and gaif the spulye of the castell to the Frenche men.

Swa the castell was rendered the xxix of Julij 1547, and instantlie spulyeit be the men of wear; and all the principall men quhilkis wes within the same, wes put in the gallayis and had presoneris in France, quhair thai war keped in waird thairestir in divers places and strenthis upoun the coist of Bretainye, quhill in the 1550 yeir of God thay war put to libertie, and syndre utheris quha remaned chenyeit in the gallayis, war redemit for sowmes of money be thair freindis. The Governouris eldest some and syndre uther young gentill men, quhilkis attendit the Cardinall at the tyme of his deceis and wer estir retayned be thame that slew him, wer restored to thair frendis.

The greit ambitione quhairwith King Henry the sucht was incenfed to have conqueffed the realme of Scotland, ather be mariage of the Quene with his fone Prince Eduarde, or ellis be violence and force, wes noles eftir his deceis nor befoire the same contenwit be the Erle of Somerfett Protectour of Ingland, uncle and tutour to King Eduarde, quha be all meanes possible labored be practifes alsweill as be crewell persuit and invasionis to obtene his purpose; and seing that practises attempted be thame did faill throch the lose of the castellis of Sanct Androis and Dumbartane, quhilkis the Inglismen hoipped to have gottin delivered to thame, he caused thairfoir prepair ane gret army alfweill be fey as be land, to the number in the hoill of fourtie thousand men, and come to Bervik in the lettir end of August; quhair he maid publick proclamatione in thre feverall places of his camp, declaring the caus that moved him to invaid Scotland with fo puissant ane army; allegeing princepallie that the Scottis fuld be compellit thairby to deliver thair Quene to him, to be maried with King Eduard, or ellis that he intendit to conques the realme be force; affuring all Scottismen quha wald joyne with him to that intent, fuld nocht be invadit or hurt be the Inglis army in any way. And be the contrar, quha did refult thairto fuld not be spared, bot crewellie persewit boith be fyre and suord. And fo apoun the fourt of September he entered in the Mers with his hoill army, and camped at Roftoun, and the nixt day past throw the pathes, and camped towardis Dumbar; and the other day following come to Tamptalloun and syne to Langnidry, and upoun the viij of Septembre thay set down thair tentis and camped thame selfs at Salt Prestoun, als stronglie as they culd, and neir unto the firth. And with the army thair come ane navie be sey up the frith, quhairof thair was xxiiij gret shippes with certane victualleis, ane gallay and her pinneges that rolled with ares neir unto the shore, and served the army alswell for desence and fortification of the land army, as for thair victueling. The Lorde Clintoun was admirall of that slote.

The Governour of Scotland being adverteift of this gret forces and fuddane invasione contrar to his expectation, considering that he had bene contenowalie upoun the bordouris all the yeir preceiding, and that laitlie in the moneth of Julij he had convenit ane gret army of all the partes of the realme, for recovering of the castell of Langup and expulsing of the Inglis men frome the west bordouris, as he had alreddy done; and als being lykwysse trubled with the seigeing of the castell of Sanct Androis, quhilk was laitlie won; fering thairfoir that the people culd not be abill, or at least wald nocht be so reddy bent to come forduart as thay war wount, being fo vexit with continowall weares for relifting of the ennemy; thairfoir he caused certane herauldis and pursevauntes, with all possible diligence, pas throch all the partis of the realme with a fyric croce bering fyre on the heid of it, in thair handes, as the use of that realme hes bene in all gret extremiteis, chargeing all maner of man, alfwell spiritual as temporall, of the aige betuix faxtene and faxtie, bodin with armour in feare of wear, to repair towart Musilbruch with all possibill haifte for defence of thair realme, princesse and libertie: quhairby ane gret nowmer fuddantlie convenit with the Governour thair, and fet down thair tentis and camped at Inveresk within tua mylis of the Inglis army and in thair ficht, and cold not abstene frome daylie skarmusheing with thame be the bordouraris and uthers, in the quhilk thair was mony bath flayne and taikin on ather of the fydis. The Governour and nobilitie of the realme feing thair ennemy fo far within thair cuntrey, thocht it not guid to haffard battell, bot onlie to camp still quhair thay lay, and to skarmishe with thame, and onlie to defend in case thay did affailye. The Inglismen getting knowlege thairof, determinat to gif occasioun of battell; and thairfoir, apoun the ix th day of September, thay fend furth ane gret number of hors men, being bakit with certane fuit men, quha wes recountered be the Lord Hwme and certane utheris gentill men with fum fuit men also, quha fuddantlie ran together and faucht very crewellie, fua that thair wes flayne one boith the fydis abone a thowsand men, and the Loird Hwme be the fall of his hors was hurt and careid away to Edinburgh, and the Maister Hwme his sone wes takin presoner; and of the Inglis partie war divers takine also, and amangis utheris Sir Rauf Bulmer, Thomas Cower, and Robert Crouche, all thre capitanes of thair lycht horsmen. On the nixte day, being the xth of September, airlie in the morning, the Inglismen raised thair camp, meaning to haif taikin a hill called Pinkincleuche, befoir the Scottismen fuld onderstand any thing of their purpose; to the end thay mycht plant thair ordinance in places meit to annoy the Scottis army gif thay had contenowit in thair former camp, and to mak thame ather gif battell or ellis to change the place. The Scottismen persaving the flycht and crafte of the ennemy, apoun the fuddane arrayed thame in thre battellis; the erle of Angus having the vangaird, the Erle of Huntlie the reirgairde, and the Governour, accompaneit with the Erle of Argyle and utheris nobill men, the gret battell; and purposeing to flay the interpryle of the Inglis men, merched foirduart with gret furie, almoste furth of ordoure. And in the meintyme the Inglis gallay with the pinneges rowing neir to the shoir, shot of at thame and slew divers, speciallie of the Iryshe men, to the gret terrour of the hoill army. flaying thame lang in the way. The Inglis men feing thame merche. flayed and placed thair ordinance and als thair hoill army apoun the heid of the hill in guid ordour, abyding the cuming of the Scottis men; guha being charged with armour, and going forduart furiouslye on thair fuit, first throch the water of Esk, and thairestir be the hoill space of tua myles to the hill upwart, thay almost losed thair braithes or evir thai culd cum to the joyning with the ennemie. Nochtheles the Erle of Angus and the vangairde fet upoun the Inglis men with gret courage and manheid, and gaif thame ane notabill owrthraw, and discomfeit the hoill cumpany of the Inglis hors men, and flew of thame abone the nowmer of v hundreth, and all the reft gaif backes and fled to the Protectouris battell, in fic difordoure that thay war abili to our run thair awin fuitmen; quhairthrow the hoill Inglis army had fled, war not thaye war encouraged be the Erle of Warwick, quha caused thame to flay, as wes reported. Thair wes flayne in the brunt fyndrie of the best capitans, fic as capitane Shelley that come frome Bullein, capitane Ratcleif, broder to the Lord Fitzwalter, Sir Johne Clarence fone and air, with utheris of no les fame and reputatione. The Lord Gray of Wiltoun, generall of all the horfmen, wes hurt in the mouth with a speir verrey dangerouslie; mony utheris war lykwyse hurt and eskaped verrey hardlie. The King of Inglandis standart being amangis the hors men, was taikin and careid away be the Scottis men. Scottis men war fum quhat diforderit in cuming out of thair rankes, about the flauchter of the Inglis men that war thus ourthrawin at this first onsett; and be reason theirof the Inglis men prepared thame selfits to recover the difadvantage quhilk thay had fuftened be this repulfe. The gret artailyerie of the Inglis men, alfwell frome the shippes as frome the hill quhar the same was placed, did gret skaith to the Scottis men; the harqhiebusaris also boith on hors bak and fuit cuming fordwart, did shuit so hattlie at the vangaird of the Scottismen, quha wanted shot to ansuer thame, that thay war constrayned to retire thame selffis, albeit fum part furth of ordour, fatling to the gret battell to get help of thame; bot the multitude of the Scottismen, beleisting be thair satling that all had bene losed, suddantlie gaif backes and fled, and so the victorie inclyned to the Inglismen, quha followed the chase with gret furie, flaying crewellie gret numbre; amangis the quhilkis findre nobill men, estir thay wer takin presoneris, thair armour takin from thame and asfured of thair lyffis, war flayne, speciallie the Maister of Erskin, Maister of Grahame, and Maister of Bouchaine and divers utheris; quhilk procedit of the furie of the Lord Gray, being maister of the horsmen, for that he was hurt in the mouthe at the first onsett, and sum of his tendir freindis flayne. In this chafe and battell thair wes flayne abone ten thousand Scottismen, amangis the quhilkis, befyde the said thre Maisters, the Lord Flemynge, the Maister of Ogilvy, the Maister of Avendaill, the Maister of Messare, the Maister of Ruthven, the Laird of Lochinvar, with a gret number of young barronis and gentill men war flayne. Thair was taikin also presoneris neirby a thousand personis, amangis the quhilkis was the Erle of Huntlye than chanceller of Scotlande, the Lord Yester and syndre utheris. The Governour escapinge from the battell, fet the Erle Bothuile that fame nycht to libertie, whome he had kepit befoir that tyme in warde in the castell of Edinburgh, and thair fra paste to Striveling quhair the Quene was kepit. day, the Inglismen havinge gathered the spoylle of the feild, merched forduart to Leith, quhair thay encamped, the horimen within the toun and fuitmen in the feildis, remaning thair unto the xviij day of September; and keped all the Scottis presoners in the paroche kirke of the toun, quhair thay war hardlie treated, mony of thame being foir wondit of befoir; bot the Erle of Huntlie lyk ane nobill wyfe capitane, re eiffed almost theme all be aggreement for their ransoms, and he become cautione and fuirtie for payment thairof at certane dayes, or ellis to entir thame agane within Ingland; quhilk he did very prudentlie and advyfedlie, forfeing him felf to be haldin ftill in Ingland quhill the end of the wearis, or ellis be fum guid policie, as it happined eftiruart, to be releved.

And heir is worthie to be remembred the gret favour quhilk ane certane of the faid Erlis freindis and gentill men, to the nomber of ane hundreth or thairby, bure towart him the tyme of his extremitie, and wald on no wyis leave him; quha perceaving the hoill army of Scotland to have gevin backis, and gret flauchter maid on everie pairt be the Inglismen in the chase, and the said Erle being on suit charged with ane wechtie fland of harnes, quhair with he had travelled fo far on fuit that he had no braith, and thairfoir gave frome him his heid pece for fear that he should have bene with the hatt thair of discomfitte; quhilk moved one of his truftie gentill men, called David Dumbar, to give him his own steill bonet, quhilk he pat on the Erlis heid for his fauftye and remaned him felf bairheidit; bot fuddantlie the faid David for laik of the famyn wes flane be the straik of ane masse apoun the heid. The rest faucht stoutlie for faustie of the Erle, and slew syndre of the Inglismen quha first did assailye thame; bot in the end the most pairt of thame all wer flayne in the Erlis presence, be quhais defence his lyf was faufeit, or ellis he had gone the same way, throw the gret furie and rage quhilk prefentlie wes used be the Inglismen.

During the tyme of the Inglismennis byding at Leith, the Governour being in Striveling, be the counsell of the Quene Dowarier, the Erlis of Angus, Argyle, Rothes, Cassillis and utheris lordis, caused suddantlie convoye the Quene to the yle and abbay of Inchemahomo within the cuntrey of Menteith, quhair sho was keped with the Quene hir moder, be the Lordis Erskyn and Levingstoun hir keparis, till the Inglismen was departed furth of Scotland, and than returned to Striveling; and estir the Quene was suirlie placed in that ile, the Governour fend proclamationis throch the haill cuntrey, to convene ane new army for expelling the Inglismen furth of the realme, and so dyvers companeis of Scottismen convenit together, and affailyeit be scarmushing so neir the Inglis campt, that all the tyme thay wer within the bound of Louthiane and Mers, thay durst not pas the space of one myle frome thair campt, nor yit cum within the toune of Edinburgh at that tyme.

Quhan it wes maid knawin to the Protectour that the Governour was preparing ane army, and that the hoill cuntrey men wes affeilying fo eirnistlie, and persewing thame contenowallie be scarmushing, and that also he had required the castell of Edinburgh to be delivered to him and wes refused, and confidered thairby that that could proffit no thing be thair long tarie in Scotland, thairfoir raifed thair campt in the xviij day of September, and brint the refedew of the toun of Leith and departed. Thair flotte on the fey brint the toun of Kincorin and fum utheris of the fey coift, and tuik the Abbay of San&t Colmes Inche and fortifyit the same, leaving Sir Johne Lutterell knycht with a garesone of men thairin, quha bruikit not that hold long, bot was compelled not long eftir to depairt thairfra. The xx day of September, the hoill Inglis hoift come befoir Hwme castell, and did that lay in thame to wyn the famyn, bot culd not have it be force; the ladie being within the place, having hir husband lying deseased in danger of his lif at Edinburgh, and doubting the lif of her sone that wes presoner with the Inglis men, confented the foner for this confideration to the randering of the hous to the Duk of Somerfett, the xxij of September; who, leaving a garefoun of men with Sir Eduart Dudley to kepe it, removed to Roxburgh; quhair within the compas of ane auld ruinous hous thay began to beild a fort, thair hoill army remayning still together in wirking about it till the xxix of September; and leaving Sir Rauf Boulmer capitane thair, with thre hundreth men, the Duke of Somersett retiret in Ingland and brak up his army.

In this meanetyme the Inglis flotte be fey past to the castell of Broughtie Craig, in the mouth of the frith of Tay befyde the toun of Dundie; quhair, eftir certane of thair shot discharged aganis the castell for a cullour, the same was be treason of the keparis randerit unto the Inglis men; quhair thay maid fortificatione, leaving a garefoun of men of wear and pioners, and appointing Sir Androw Dudley capitane thairof; quha caused mak ane strang fort apoun the heid of ane hill neirby to the same, within a short space thairestir, to the gret incommoditie of the cuntrey neir thairabout. Quhill this army wes in Scotland, be conduct of the Duik of Somerset, the Lord Whortoun, accumpaneit with the Erle of Lenox and the hoill power of the west bordouris, maid incursionis upoun the west merchis; bot thay wer so waily eantlie resisted be the Lorde Maxwell, Lairdis Johnestoun, Cokpule and utheris cuntrey men, that thay wan litill honour in thair jornay, fauffing that thay brint the kirk of Annan, and blew it up with pulder, quhilk wes ane wicked and ungodlie act.

And heir is to be put in memorie also, that immediatlie estir King Henreis death, to the essect the Inglismen mycht the moir easelie set forduart thair intendit purpose of conquessing the realme of Scotland, the Protectour send message to the Empreour, persuading him to caus the Flemingis, Hollanders and Low countres being onder the Emprioris dominioun, to move war be sey against the Scottismen, as thay did; quhilk contenewit with gret rigour quhill the end of the warris betuix Scotland and Ingland, albeit in the samin the Flemingis and Hollanders wan no advantage of the Scottismen, bot had gret losse; and thairsoir the Flemingis was the moir glad to contract peace with thame, and keip the samin, as they haif done in all tymes estirwart.

Sone eftir the retering of the Inglis army within Ingland, the Protectour fend ane company of fouldeouris, with Sir Hew Willoughbie thair capitane, and biged ane forthe at Lauder, quhilk thay keped; and caused also beild ane uther in Haymouthe, and appointed ane capitane and garresoun to ly thairintill.

The knowledge being broght to the Governour, that the Inglifmen had begun to make fortes in Scotland, as it feamed to conques the realme, he thought it verrey necessarie to flay thair interprices in the beginning; and first past to Broughtie Craig and seiged the same with fum gret ordinance certane dayis. Bot it was fo stronglie fortifiit be the Inglis men, and furneffed with men, munitione and all necessaries, that he was conftraned to raife the feige and depart thairfra, eftir he had losed syndre of his company thairst; and princepallie ane wailyeant gentill man called Gawin Hammiltoun, his awin tendir kynisman; leiffing thair Maister James Haliburtoun tutour of Petcur, with certane cumpaneis of borlinen, and capitane Leirmounth with certane fuit men in Dundie, to hald in the Inglismen within the strenth, that thay should not ishe in the cuntrey quhill he mycht mak bettir provision for the feige. And fwa returning towardis Striveling, convenit the principall nobill men of the realme, with the Quene douarier and Monsieur Dosell, than being amballadour relident for the King of France in Scotland; for it was thought most expedient for the commowne weill and defence of the realme of Scotland, and for prefervatioun and defence of the Quene thair foveraine, and libertie of thair cuntrey aganis the tirranye and invasione of the Duik of Somerset and the Inglis men, that with all guidlie speid thair should be send ane ambassadour in France, to desyre in moift freindlie and hartlie maner frome the King, as thair auncient and maift speciall confiderat and allya, sum convenient support alsweill of men as of money and munitione, and that the same suld be send in Scotland with all possibill diligence in the nixt spring tyme. The Quene douarier and Monfieur Dosell perceaving ane overture maid, and ane reddye way oppinit to obtene that thing quhilk thay maift eirnistlie so long tyme had conveit, and gone about to bring to pas, quhilk wes that the young Quene mycht be fend in France, thair to be keped, quhill sho shuld be mareid at the Kingis pleasour, tuik francklie and frelie upoun hand, that thay fould procure the Kinge to fend ane army fufficientlie furnessed with all necessaries for expulsing of the ennemy, and defence of the realme, conforme to the defyre of the Governour and nobilitie, fua being the eftatis of the realme wald aggre to fend the Quene in France, upoun ane contracte and treatie to be maid than prefentlie; and at the cuming of the army ane parleament to be haldin, quhair be univerfall confent of the estaittis the same fuld be concludit; as also that sho shuld be mareid with the Dolphine of France; and the faid parliament being endit, that the Quenis persoun be delivered to the King of France commissioners, at Dumbartane or at the eist sey, quhair most fuir passage can be had; and that lykwyse the castell of Dumbar be gevin to the Frenche men in keping, with ficlike uder conditions. The Governour confidering the necessitie fo gret, and that no releif culd be had be any uther meanes nor be France for the prefent, be the adwyse of the hoill counsall and principall nobill men of the realme, aggreit to the Quene douarier and Dosellis desyris; and send with all diligence possibill, messages and writingis in France to that effect. Henry of France receaving the fame, was wonderous glaid thairof; pairtlie becaus he being a prince of vailyeant cuirage and newlie entered to his crowne, wes defyrous to augment his dominionis; and pairtlie for that the Inglismen possessed the toun of Bullen in France, he wald the moir willinglie nurishe the wear in Scotlande, quhairby he mycht the moire easelie recover Bullen agane; and thairsoire caused prepair ane army weill furnesed, to be send in Scotlande with als guid speid as convenientlie mycht be maid.

Quhill thir thingis war in doing, the protectour and counfall of Ingland laboured erniftlie to perfusid the Erle of Huntlie, being than thair presoner, to agre to the mariage of the Quene his Soverane with King

Eduard, and deliveringe of her personn into Inglande thair to be keped; and to that effect thay maid him sum tymis verrey guid treatment, and uther quhilis he was verrey hard handillit and straitlie keped; yit thay culd nevir recover any promise of him, bot to remayne ane trew Scottisman, and wald nevir agrie that his Soverane princes personn suld be send furth of the realme, nor yit bound in mariage to any prince or partie, quhill sho sould be of persit aige and discret judgement, to chuse for her self at her awine plasure.

In this meane feafone, quhen the Inglismen had considered that the nobilitie of Scotlande wald on nowyis agre to the marriage, nor delyvering of the Quenis persoun into Ingland, determit in their counsell to conques the hoill realme be force; and thinking thame felffis in a joly furtherance thairto, thay maid gret preparatioun to go fordeuart with the matter. Bot albeit it pleased the eternall God, for the offences of the peple, to fuffer the realme of Scotland to be afflicted, and trublit be the crewell perfuit of Inglande, not the les thair advantage was verrey small thairof; for thay spendit grete substance of money, munitione and all furnitour quhilk wes left in treasour be King Henrie the aucht, and losed wonderous mony abili capitanis and foldeours; and at the end within the space of two yeris nixt following, wer constrained to quit and leif all the fortes and strenthes quhilkis thay usurped within Scotlande, fo that thay nevir retened anie hold, fauffing Berwick alone, without any recompanse for thar charges as efter wart will appeir. Yit for accumpleschinge of this thair ambitious determination of conquest, thay caused gret preparationis be maid, alswell frome Germany beyonde the sevis, as ther awn cuntrey; for thairfra thair come fyve thousand lancequenetes, quhais capitane was Cortpenny, and certane Spaniardis alfo. Bot fo was the just jugement of God, who wald return thair malice upoun thair awine heades; for not long thaireftir thair raife gret fedition and rehellione in fyndre places of Ingland, speciallie in Devonshyre, Cornwall, Kent, Norfolk and utheris shyris, swa that the most pairt of thir straingeris was haldin contenawalie bissie for setting down these tumultis within Ingland. Yit thay, willing to set fordwart thair purpose of conquest, caused the Lord Gray of Wiltoun enter with ane gret army in Scotland the xviij day of Apryle, and past to Hadingtoun and forteseid the toun, making it strong in ewerie syd; and in the tyme of the fortificatione thairof he maid syndre incursionis, and did gret hurt in the cuntrey, and remaneit at Hadingtoun quhill the xij day of Junij; and having than fortiseid the toun sufficientlie, as he thought, and surnessed it with victualis and munitione, hering of the cuming of the Frenche army quhilk was apoun the sey, he was sayne to departe hamewartis in Ingland suddantlie; leaving a garesoun within the toun of two thousand suitmen, and with horsmen for defence of the same.

Sone eftir the departing of the Lorde Gray with his army, a gret navy of shippes and galayis arryved in the frith, with the Frenche army quhilk was fend in Scotland for fuccour of the realme, as was befoir agreit. The capitans of that army was Monsieur de Desse lieutennent generall, Monfieur Dandelet coronell of the fuitmen, the Reingrave coronell of Almanes. Thair was Monfieur de Maillerie and Monfieur Dosell, also Petir Strozye capitane of Italianis, Monsieur Duno commissare of the ordinances or artilarie, with divers utheris nobill men and worthie personages of right approved vertew and valiance. fieur de la Chapelle de Biron had bene fend in Scotland fum what befoir, with a certaun nomber of gentill men to affift the Scottismen with thair circumspect and politike adwyse, till the cuming of the army. Monfieur Desse and the uther capitanis, with thair hoill company, embarqued at Brest in Bretiagne, and saled furth on thair jorney throch the narrow feyis betuix Calice and Dover, and almost the hole coast of Inglande, till thay come to the frith and tuik land at Leyth the xvj day of Junij; and eftir thay landit thair men to the number of fyve thowfand guid fouldioris, and gottin thair artailyerie on land, taking the adwyce of the Governour and nobilitie, quha wes tareing in Edinburgh apoun thair cuming, it was determined that thay should with all diligence go forduart to the feige of Hadingtoun, as thay did; and thairfoir the hoill company of the Frenche men past forduart, the Governour with ane gret nombre of horsmen being with thame, for the bettir advancement of thair interprice; and camped the first nycht at Musilbrugh, quhar certane capitanis with a nombir of horimen and fuitmen, alfweill of Scottis as Frenche men, war appointed to go furth, and to view the toun of Hadingtoun, and to onderstand the maner of the fortificatione thairof; quhair at thair first approche thair ishwid furth certane Inglis men and Italianis that ferved in the toun, and ikarmushed for a tyme right hottlie, fo that thair wes mony baith flayne and hurt be the Scottis and Frenche men, till at lenth thay wer forced to retyre into the toun, and fuffered the Frenche men to confider the strenth at thair awin pleafour; quhilk being done thay returned to thair army. The nixt day the hoill army come befoir Hadingtoun; quhair immediatlie apoun thair cuming thether, a new scarmishe was begun and contenowit, with right terrible shot on boith sydis a guid seasoun; at quhilk scarmishe syndre of the Inglismen with ane Italiane capitane, and on the other pairt a Frenche capitane called Villeneve flayne, and divers utheris. In the meintyme the Ringrave encamped his Almanis on the one fyde of the toun, quhair Monsieur Duno caused trinchis to be maid for the faufe placing of the artillarie; and still thay contenowit scarmushing on everie syd of the toun, quhylist utheris wer occupeit in preparing ludgeing and rating trenchis and rampers, alfwell for defence of their campt as artailyerie. Not onlie the Lord Governour bot also the Lord Hwm and divers utheris of the nobilitie of Scotland, wer with the Frenche men to counfall and affift thame, now at thair firste cuming, to lay this seige to Hadingtoun; and shortlie eftir come the Erle of Ergyle with fynder uther nobill men, pairtlie for thair affiftance, bot most princepall for to be present at the parleament quhilk was appointed to be haldin. The Inglismen maid sundrie ishwis apoun the adversareis, to hendir these making of the trinches and utheris workis, bot notwithftanding, the trinchis and rampers went fourduart. The Frenchemen perfewing thair interprice with moir diligence, becaus thay onderstuid be ane Italiane that was fled out of the toun, whow that thair wes not munitione within fufficient to ferve for the defence of the toun the space of xij daies. Heirupoun Monsieur Desse, for the moir spedy obtening of his purpois, caused one nycht ane approche to be maid with basquettis, in fic wayis that fax peaces of gret artailly erie war planted, by fuccour thairof, hard at the toun fyd, quhilk at the brek of the day wer discharged aganis the rampeir of the toun, to walkin thame within furth of fleep. Thefe fax peaces discharged that day a iij and xl shottis; bot quhen the French men perceaved that the place quhair this battie was maid, tuike not meikill dommage, quhairby the nixt nycht the basquettis removed moir lower, and not past a xl paces from the toun dyk; quhair the ordinance being also planted, discharged the battie about a ij c shot. Mony have merveled quhow the Frenche men haiffing maid reafonabill brek to entir the toun and not give the affault; bot as thay have thame felffis maid thair of report, the fault wes not in Monsieur Desse, quho wes ane vailyeant and hardy capitane, and willing to haif tryed quhat by that way mycht haif bene done, and to haif bene one of the formest him felfe. Bot apoun debaitting the matter with the uther capitanis, in the end it was concluded, that thay fould not put in hazard that number of fouldioris quhilk thay had thair, leaft those being cast away, the realme of Scotlande mycht haif fustened sum gret domage or a new power mycht haif cum furth of France to thair releif, quhairwith the Frenche King perchance wald not have weill lyked of to haif bestowed thair forces in that maner, without neidfull caus to conftrane thame.

In the meintyme that this feige lay at Hadingtoun, the estatis of the realme of Scotland, with the Governour, held ane parleament at the Abbay of Hadingtoun; in the quhilk all the treatis and contractis past befoir betuix the Governour and the King of France commissioners for delivering of the Quenis personn to be transported in France, to be maried with the Dolphin of France, and all uther agrementis, was ratified be confent of the effatis in parliament, and the gret feales of Scotland and France interchaunged thairupoun; and for accompleshing of the princepall pairt thairof, Monsieur Vylegangeone with iiij gallayis, departed frome Leithe, maid as thocht he wald haif fayled in France. Bot eftir he was furth of the mouth of the frith, he turned his course on the left hand to cast alongis by the shoire northward, compassing the land on the eift fyd, and past aboute by the coast of Sutherland, Cathenes, Orknay and the Ilis, till he come to Dumbartane, quhair the young Quene lay; having thus maid a jornay quhilk wes nevir to any mannis rememberance attempted afoir be gallayis. Heir all things being reddy for thair jornay, the Quene being as than betuix fyve and fax yearis of aige, wes delivered be the Quene dowarier hir moder, and utheris appointit be the parliament to that effect; Monsieur de Brezze (quha wes appointit and fend furth be expres commandment to have the convoyance of her), and wes embarqued in the Kingis awin gallay, and with her the Lord Erskyn and Lord Levingstoun quha had bene hir keparis, and the Lady Fleming hir fader fifter, with findre gentilwemen and nobill mennis fonnes and dochteris, almoift of hir awin aige; of the quhilkis thair wes four in speciall, of whome everie one of thame buir the samin name of Marie, being of four fyndre honorable houses, to wyt, Fleming, Levingftoun, Setoun and Betoun of Creich; quho remanit all foure with the Quene in France, during her refidens thair, and returned agane in Scotlande with her Majestie in the yeir of our Lorde I m vo lxi yeris; quhilk Brezze, with Vileganzeoun, used sic diligence in acheving thair inter-price, that finalie thay arryved with prosperous wayage in the havin of Brift, quhair thay landit with that young princeffe in guid faiftie, to the heich joy and gret confort of the Frenchemen. And heir is to be remembered, that the Protector of Inglande being advertift of this jornay, caused prepair ane gret navie of shippes, and send his broder than admirall thairwith, to await at the west seyis at thaire passage, and to haif taikin thame gif thay could; quha did his diligence to that effect, bot yeat so was the pleasour of God, that the stormy wyndis blew so gret (albeit fair frome Scotland,) that thay nevir set sayll quhill thay war cum in the faide havin of Breft; quhair thay wer reffaved verrey honorablye, and thair remanit certane space quhill thay wer refreshed estir the soir travell on the seyis. And thairestir the Quene was convoyed verrey princelie, with gret companeis of nobill men, throwout Bretangge, and all the cuntrey be the way, quhill thay come to the Kingis palice callit Sainct Germain in Laye, apoun the river of Seane, fyve liggis frome Pareis; quhair sho was receaved with great rejosing, and was appointit to remane thair in company with the Kingis awin childrein quha wes thair refident; for the King and Quene thame felffis was travelling all that yeir throch Burgonze, Sawoy, Lyons and uther partes of his fronties, making his first entres in the princepall townis thairof. And fone eftir hir cuming, ane honorable tryne and houshold, alfweill of the lordis, ladeis, as gentill men quha come with the Quene furth of Scotland, was appointed with large allowances for thair intertenement to remane with the Quene; quhilk ordour was keipit be the cuming of the Quene dowarier hir moder into France, in the yeir of God I^m v^c and fiftie yearis; at quhilk tyme the Lord Levingstoun deceasied, and the Lord Erskyn and Ladie Fleming returned in Scotland; and fre that furth, the maift pairt of her companie wes appointed to be French men.

Bot now tweching the feige of Hadingtoun, I intende not to dyscryve all the particular scarmushis and assaultis maid thair at, because the same is fufficientlie wretin be fyndre French men and Inglismen, althocht in sum thingis to large and in utheris to litell. Bot one thing have I hard reported be syndrie of gret experience of divers nations, quha wes continowalie at the said seige, that the same wes verrey vailyeantlie assigned and affailyeit be the Frenche and Scottismen, and wes lykwyis no less stronglie desendit be the Inglismen; as did weill appeir be the long and eirnist perswit maid be the ane pairt, and the good desence be the uther; and yit I will not leif the most notabill factis on remembred.

The parliament being this way endit, the Erle of Argyle and mony uther nobill men departit with thair hoill cumpaneis, leaving onlie the Governour with a verrey few number of his awin freindis, with the Frenche men and fum northland men quha appertenit to the Erle of Huntlie, albeit he was than presoner in Ingland. At quhilk tyme the Protectour caused prepair tua thousand abill and well furneshit horsmen of chosin men, of the quhilkis thair wes iii hundreth albernattis, a thoufand demilances, and the reft men of armes and the licht horimen, and fend thame forduart, tending be thame to fend fum pulder and uther refreshing to the toune of Hadingtoun; quha followed thair interprice, began to approche to the Frenche campe ane hour or two befoir day, thinking to haif found the Frenchemen alleip in thair beddis, and fo to haif had thame at fum gret advantage; bot thay myffed herof, for the Lord Hwme having bene furth to onderstande thair doingis, wes returned to the campt, certefeing Monsieur de Desse, that the ennemeis having merched all that nycht in purpois to cum apoun him at onvarnist, wer now at hand to worke thair faut. Heirupoun with all diligence, certane horimen wer put in order, in places convenient to receave the ennemeis as occasioun fuld be. Monfieur Dandelot had quicklie raynged his fuit men in guid ordour, and fo lykwyfe had the Reingraive his Almanis. The Governour, Lord Hwm, and the northland men stude at a fyd reddy to enforce the fuitmen. Heirwith the Inglismen began to appeir aloft in the hill devydet in two bandis, all horsmen so weill mounted and furnished as was possible, boith of men of armes, demilances and lycht horsmen, and suddantlie certane Scottismen bordouraris was send furth to skout the Inglismen, be quhome thay war at lenth traned in and inclosed betuix the Frenche suitmen and the Almanis, quhair thay wer so feirclie assailyeit in ilke hande, that thay war not abill to ayde thame selfs, bot wer constraint to retire and seike to eshaip by slycht; bot the most pairt of thame that avoydit the handis of the Frenche men and Almane souldiors, wer taikin be the Scottismen, quhilk followit rycht egerlie in the chaise. Dyvers of thame sled towart Hadingtoun, quhome Monsieur Desse persewit hard to the toun gaittis. Thay war slayne of thame abone the number of aucht hundreth, and the most part of all the rest taken presoners; and on the Scottis and Frenche syde, was not abone the number of four or syve persons slayne.

The Quene dowarier being new returned frome Dumbartane to Edinburgh, and receaving advertisment of this victorie, come to the campt; quhair geving hartlie thankes to all the men of war for thair guid service shewid in this interprice, wan her great praise and luf of all the souldiouris, who receaved no small confort of sic courtesse proceding from so nobill a princesse. Incontinent estir, becaus it was onderstand be ane that was taikin at this ourthraw of the Inglismen, that it was not possible to winn the toun without samishing thame within be lange seige, it was determined that Monsieur de Desse suld, for the bettir refreshing of his people, remove surther of, leistinge sum to ludge at the abbaye a myle from the toun.

The Duik of Somerset Protectour, soir greved in his mynde of his last ourthraw of the horsmen, and doubting if succour war not the soner send to thame in Hadingtoun, the toun wald be lost, he caused ane army with all sped to be raised, and a navie of shippis to be riged, and surneshed furth the army of xx thousand men, onder the conduct of the Erle of Shrewilberie, and the navie ondir the government of the Lorde Clintoun, hiech admirall. Monfieur de Maillerie, vice admirall of France, wes returned with the gret shippes that brought the Frenche army into Scotland, or this Inglife navie come furth, fo that thair remanit not in Scotlande bot certane gallayis and a few uder shippes in maner of victualers. The Inglis navie douting, thairfoir, no encontre be fey, was appointit fo to keipe course with the army be lande, that the one mycht evir be in sycht of the uther. Monsieur de Design and Design Design Design and Design D knalege thair of to the Lord Governour, in quhome thair wantit no diligence nor guid will. Bot yit for that he had warning of the ennemyis approche to lait, he culd not get his forces together in fo short a tyme; fwa that Desse thought best to retire him selfe to Mussilbrugh, jugeing it moir wisdome so to doo, than to joperde him self and his company in the hazarde of a batle, being not past a vm in number, aganis fo puissant ane army of Inglismen, lansequenetz and uther ftrangers as the Erle of Shrewisbery and the Lord Gray of Wiltoun brought in with thame. Cuming forduartis in the end of the monethe of August, the Inglismen refreshed Hadingtoun with victuallis and munitione; and lying thair about certane dayis, thay had findre fcarmushes with the Frenche men, quha was at Musfilbrough, in the quhilk thair was fyndre taikin and flayne on ather fydes.

In the meinquhille that these thing war thus adoing, the Governour, Erle of Argyle and divers nobill men with a gret army come to the ayd of the Frenche men, and joyned with thame. The Inglismen being advertesed thairof, suddantlie rased thair hoill campt and departed hamewart towart Inglande.

At the same tyme the Inglis flotte entering into the frith, sought occasioun to haif gevin and to the land army, in case than had joyned in hattell with the Scottis and Frenche men. Bot perceaving no good to be done that way, thay tuik in hand uther interprifes; and thairfoir thay determinat to lande a certane nowmer of thair men on the north fyd of the frithe, to make fum spoyll within the cuntrey of Fyis. Bot the Larde of Wemis, as than being fum quhat seiklie, and thairfoir returned hame frome the campt, caused suche watche and wairde dalie and nychtlie to be keped, that the admirall of Inglande culd not convoye his interprice so secreitlie bot that the same was perceaved; for it happinit fo that the laird of Wemis, that same nycht the admirall purposed to cum to lande, he come doune him selfe to serche the watche befoir day; and perceaving the lycht quhilk the Inglismen had in thair shippes, as than wiffe to fet thair men aland, quhairupoun douting the worft, (a thing that fendill bringis repentance,) with all diligence he tuik ordour for the calling furth of fo mony men as culd be maid ather within the toun of Sanct Minanis, quhilk was not abone the nowmer of fax scoir men, or neir thair aboutis; and having bestowed thame in fyndre places quhair he thought neidfull, he schowsed furth a certane nowmer of the most practised, and went with thame doune to the place quhair he had fene the lycht, a ij myles of frome the toun of San&t Minanis, to onderftande quhat the matter mycht meane; and be reasone that it was towardis day it waxit mirker than it had bene of all the nycht befoir, fwa that he come so neir to the ennemyis, that he baith hard and saw ther manner aweill as he culd wishe to doo; quhilk done, he shortlie returned to his company agane, and putting thame in the best ordour he culd, awaiting the ennemy at thair first approcheing, which was in the brek of the day, thay war receaved at the first schot of arrowis, and handlit for a quhile with scarmushis rycht sharplie; bot according to the appointment in that case devysed, at lenth the Scottismen retiret within certane trinches, quhair thay kendillit certane fairins, stray and uther thingis prepared for the purpois, and maid ane mervelous gret reik and fuilbik; and thair thay had thre finall peaces of finall artailyerie, quhilkis thay discharged so directlie apoun the Inglismen, that they shaled thame quhilk first fell in scarmushing with thame, that no small nowmer of Inglismen war slayne; whil Laird Wemis with that company quhilk he had with him in the trinches, fet upoun the ennemyis afrount with a gret fureous noyce, dinging thame doune on heapes; bot also ane uther company quhilk wer fend to fetche a compas behind the back of ane hill began to shaw thame felffis, making fic ane hidderous noise and cry, as thocht thay walde haif borne down all befoir thame; and yit that band was bot of the meaner fort of peple, princepallie wemen and childrene, leaste abill to work any great feat; notwithstanding for that, alsweill thay appered to be licklie men, and well appointed for the war. The Inglifmen not perceaving the fraud, tuik thame to thair helis and fled towart thair shippes, skattered heir and thair without ordour; quhome the Scottis followed in chase evin hard to the wattir fyd, and flew divers of thame within the watter or thay mycht recover thair boittis. Of ane thousand that come alande, thay returned not three hundreth back agane to thair shippes, bot was oder drownit or slayne. The admirall him self hardlie eskaped to his shipp, commandit the saylis to be heised up, and to departed without longer tarie thair for that tyme.

This owrthrow of the Inglis men, was the occasione that thay never preassed thaireftir to lande in Fife during all the tyme of the warris.

The Erle of Shrewisbery, immediatlie eftir that the admirall was thus retired frome this interprice, haffing retired frome Hadingtoun, cuming to Dunglas, four myles frome Dumbar, began thair to beild a fort. The Inglis Almanns, as the army passed by Dumbar, birned that toun. Thre thousand of those Almanns, and certane bandis of Inglismen alsweill horsmen as suitimen wer left at Dunglas, till the fort thair begun wer in some strenth. Monsieur de Desse remaning in campt at Mussilbrough, wes advertesed of the dislodgeing of the Inglis army, and that source of syve hundreth horsmen being left in Hadingtoun, wer reddy to come furthe to scarmushe apoun sycht of any ennemye; quhairupoun he determinat to try gif he mycht drawe thaim furth to thair disadvantage, and thairfoir was Monsieur Dandelot and the Reingrave appointit to chuse furthe a thousande of thair best fuitmen, the quhilk, with thre hundreth horsmen, wer convoyit behinde a litle hill neir to the toun, and heirwith war a few horsemen sende befoir to drawe the Inglismen furth to fcarmufhe; quho alflone as thay had perceaved thair ennemyis in the feilde, all thair horse men brak furth of the toun with divers of thair fuit men, and straucht had the Frenche men in chase, the quhilk manteaned the scarmushe of purpose to make the Inglismen moir ernist to cum forduart; bot incontinentlie, so sone as Monsieur de Desse saw his tyme, he gaif seinge by sound of trumpit to the fuitmen to brak fourth, quho together with the horimen gaif to fierce ane onfet, that the Inglifmen war immediatlie discomfited, and fled towart the toun; bot the Frenche men so egrely persewit thame, evin hard to the wallis of Hadingtoun, that thay flew of thame abone thre hundreth, and tuik about twa hundreth presoners.

Eftir this, Monsieur de Desse raised his campte frome Musiibrough, and cuming to Leith, tuik in hande to fortesie the toun. Bot becaus it was two findre tymes brint befoir, his army had no guide ludgeing thairin, and thairfoir he caused thame ludge in syndre townis thair about for their best refreshing.

Schortlie heirefter, Marshall Strozze and Monsieur Dandelott, with divers utheris capitanis embarqued thame selfs in the gallayis, and taking thair course to returne into France in one of the same gallayis, thay being viij in all befyd a foist and a brigandene, was taikin as sho passed through the narrowe seyis, at a place callit Southfurlong, being, as it chanced, the hendirmoist of all the company. The uther gallayis with the foist and brigandine passit quietlie cleirwayis into France. Monsieur de Lashapell de Biron remaned as coronell of the Frenche suitmen in Scotlande, eftir that Dandelot was returned in France, and thair remanit bot onlye iiij gallayis under the gyding of ane capitane Hatche ane Italiane, ane man of guid experience and rycht approved vailyeantlie for defence of the firth.

The same tyme, Pietro Nigro and Juliane Romeio, capitanis of two bandis of Spaniardis in Jedburgh, keping a gret pairt of the cuntrey abowte thame, ather be fear or luf, under subjectione and obedience of the Inglismen, Monsieur de Desse, thairfoir, about the ende of September, determyning to remove thame frome that place, maid his jornay thair with all diligence. Bot for alsmeikill as he wes occasioned to stay a quhyll at Peiblis, abyding for support of Scottismen, in the meintyme, the Spaniardis getting advertisment of his cuming that way, thay past back into Inglande, and so the Frenche men returned to Edinburgh.

The Lord Gray of Wiltoun remaning on the bordouris as liuetennent, eftir that the Erle of Shrewisbery wes returned into his cuntrey, affembled all the horsmen lying as than on the bordouris, with quhome and the Almanis he entred Scotland agane, and brint in Teuidaill and Liddisdale, boith houses, cornis, hay, and all uther thingis that come within his way.

Aboute the same tyme, in the beginning of October, thair chansed to fall out not a litell peice of truble in Edinburgh, betuix the Scottis and French men, be reasonn that a Frenche souldiour sell at querreling with a Scottis man upoun the he streit, and estir word thay come to blowis, so that divers Scottismen cuming to the fray, wald haif had the Frenche men to presonn; bot divers of the Frenche souldiours being also present, wald not suffer thame to take him with thame; quhairupoun the capitanis being advertesed, come with all speid to the hie way; the laird of Stanehous being than capitane of the castell and provest of the toune, come lykwyse with ane company to put ordour thairto. Bot the Frenche souldiours being so surecast that thay shot thair hargubussers indeferentlie at all men, quhairwith thair wes fyndre slayne, boith men, wemen and children; amangis the quhilkis the forsaide provest of Edinburgh was slayne, and Maister Williame Stewart ane gentill man of guid reputatione, with sindre utheris; quhairby the hoill peple conceaved ane gret gruige and hattrent aganis the Frenche men, and for revenge thairest, thair wes mony Frenchmen slayne at Edinburgh at sindre tymes thairestir; bot for to appease the matter, the Frenchman cheif beginner of these bissines, was hangit the same day at the mercat place of Edinburgh quhair the querrell first began.

Monfieur de Desse, doubting, least the Inglis men fuld conceave hoip heirof to work fum displeasour, to shaw that the trubill was nothing so great as the bruit was, affemblit his power together, and first cuming to Musilburgh about xi houres in the nycht, merched strait towardis Hadingtoun, purposing to assey the winning of the toun be a strategem called a camifado. Thus interprice wes fo fecretlie convoyit, that the Frenche men had flayne the Inglis skoutis, and war entered the basse court or any alarum war raifed, and having heir flayne the watche, fum of the Frenche men ran to a place behinde a kirke, quhair the Inglifmen had thair victuallis and munitions, and fum ran up with gret violence to the toun gait, inforcing with all indevour to brake up the famyn, cryinge with a gret noise and showting is, victorie. The Inglismen, by reason of the suddane change, wer in wonderfull great feare; yit at the first alarum thay come rynning to the gaittis quhair the noise was, so that gif the Frenchmen had gevin the affault in findre places, as they did bot onlie at ane of the gaittis, thay culd not have missed the wynning of the toun. Bot as thay wer heir at the gaite thronged together, doing quhat thay could to entre, ane Tiberio capitane of the Italianis, with his matche lychtit, gaif fire to a doubill cannone that stude reddy bent full upour the gaitt, quhilk maid fic a trubill amangis the Frenche men, that thay fuddantlie retired; for thir interprices maid by nyght ar evir commounlie accompaneit with false imaginations, the onelie caus quhairby the Frenche men missed thair purpose and pray at that tyme, well neir gottin; for Monsieur de Desse perceaving the disordour of his people to this suddane tour, wes constrained to retire and depart, not without sum losse, to his gret greif and hevenes of mynde. This interprice wes attempted in the morning befoire daie, being the ix of October in the yeir 1548.

Bot now tueching the castell of Broughtie Craig, quhilk wes befeged befoir be the Governour and Erle of Argyle; thair come at this tyme befoire the arryvell of the Frenche men, gret support to the Inglismen, boith of men of ware, pioners, and all kinds of munitions and inftrumentis, to beild a fort apoun a hill not far diffante fra the caftell of Broughtie, as thay did shortlie thaireftir, quhair they placed a gret company of thair fouldiouris. And now in the latter end of this yeir, thay purposed to fortifie Dundie, a propir toun not past two mylis frome Broughtie Craig; for the accomplishing quhair of thay transportit thair be fey a xvj or xvij hundreth lancequenetys, and a certane nowmer of Inglis men boith horsmen and fuitmen; the quhilk, cuming to Dundie, finding no gret refistance thair, enterit the toun and begane to make beilding for the forteseing of it. Monsieur de Desse advertised heiros, fend thether in all haift the Count Reingrave with two bandis of Almanis, and Monsieur de Etaynges with his companie of horsemen. These past one befoire, and Desse himself followed estir. The Inglismen hering that the Frenche men come to dryve thame out of Dundie, avoydit the toun of thair awin companie, haiffing first spulyeit that of all fic riches as thay fond within it, and that done, let fyre in the houses and brinte the moift pairte of the toun. The Count Reingrave and Etaynges cuming to Dundie, and fynding the Inglismen gone, encamped and stayed for Monsieur de Desse, that followit at hand with the fuitmen.

Within two dayis eftir thay tuik certane of thair men with thame, and went to furvey and viffeit the new fort quhilk the Inglismen had maid; bot apoun thair approache neir thairunto, the Inglismen with thair lancequenetz showit furth apoun thame, quhair thair wes a verrey hoit scarmusche and sindre slayne on boith the sydis. Thairsoir, Monsieur de Desse, to stop the Inglismen frome entering surther within the realme on that syd, left sevin enseingyeis of Frenchmen, and twa enseingyeis of Scottismen within Dundie, with artailyerie and pioners to fortisse it. This done, he returned to Edinburgh, and send the residew of his army into the cuntrey to ludge in certane townis and villages, quhair was thought maist expedient for thair bettir refreshing estir thair long travell.

Quhen this gret biffines wes in hande in Scotlande, the Governour fend Sir Robert Carnegy of Kynard knycht in Ingland, requiring the Protectour of Ingland and his counsell to caus the Erle of Huntlie to be delivered, for payment of ane reasonabill ransone to be modefeit and paid, as had bene used in the weares betuix Scotland and Ingland mony hundreth yeris past; and gif that culd not for the present be gottin granted, to defyre licence to his lady to repair towart him, and remane in Ingland with him. The Protectour and his counsale wald in no wayis aggre that the Erle of Huntlie should be suffered to depairt for any ransone befoir the ende of the warris, bot yit war content, that he mycht pas towart the bourdouris, alwayis being in the gairde, and keping of Sir Rauff Avaine his taker, and thair that his lady shuld be permittit to repair towart him for certane dayis. Sir Robert Carnegy being returnit with this answer, the Erle accompaneit with his taker, and mony uther gentill men appointit for his moir fuir keping, depairted from Lundon be jornay north, and come to Morpethe, being xij myle distante frome Scotlande, the xxij day of December, quhair he wes appointit to remane for the cuming of his lady frome Edinburgh, quha was thair refident. Bot it happinnit fo that he maid furth the reft of the jornay towart hir him felf; for ane gentill man called George Kar, bordurar, come to ye toun of Morpeth the nyght, and one man with him, with two guid horses led, and awaitit at the back syd of the toune for receaving of the erle and one fervand with him. Eftir fupper, the erle playit at the cartis with his keparis, and thinking lang for fum advertisment frome the said George, quhairby he mycht knaw all to be in redines, he rais and past to the wyndock of the chalmer, and luiking furth and perceaving it to be verrey mirke, and the figne be the quhilk he understuid all to be reddy for his departing, he chansed opinlie to say thir wordis, quhilkis he fuddantlie repented thaireftir: "Ane mirk nycht, ane wearie knycht, ane wilfum way, and knowis not quhair to go, God be my gyd." Sir Rauf Avane, his kepar, hering this speches, he inquired at the erle quhat he meaned be these wordis. He answered that it was ane ancient faying in Scotland, and was first said be the ould Erle of Mortoun, quhen he wes lying to die, and fence hes bene ufed in all tymes as ane proverbe in that realme; and for removing of all fuspitione, he entered to the cartes agane with thame; bot within ane short fpace he gaif his place to ane uther to play for him, and past as it wer to do fum necesser effaris of his awin; and suddantlie he and his fervant, callit Johne Innes, departed at ane back duire of the ludgeing, and wes receaved be George Kar, and fuirlie convoyit through the bordouris of Inglande, and past our the merchis befoir day licht was cumin; and eftir he was cum to the watter of Tueid, he reposed him a certane space in the said Georgeis awin house, and departed that same nycht, being yuill, evin to Edinburgh, quhair he wes receaved be the Quene, the Governour, his awin lady and utheris his freindis, quha was awating on his cuming, to the gret rejoing and confort of thame all; quhilk was the caus, that thay keped thair yuill feiftis with gretar merines nor uther wayis thay had done. Suddantlie eftir his departing furth of his chalmer in Morpeth, he was miffed, and gret diligence was maid, for all the cumpany went to thair horffes to ferche for him and follow. Bot the nycht wes verrey mirke, and the most parte of his keparis wer fouthland men and no borduraris, and so none of thame wes so perfyt a gyd in that cuntrey as was George Kar, quha careit his pray with him, notwith-standing of the gret diligence thay maid to followe and stay the same.

The Governour being glaid of the returning of the Erle of Huntly, incontinent avanceit him in his office of Chancellarie of the realme, and maid hym liuetennent generall of all the northe partis of Scotlande, as he was befoir he was taikin in the feild. And eftir he had tareit certane space in Edinburgh, he departit towarte the north partis, to hold that cuntrey in guid ordoure, be ressound thair had bene sum evill reule in dyvers parts of the north during his absence; quhilk he pat to guid ordour agane, and maid the hoill cuntrey to be obedient as of befoir.

At the same feasting tyme of Yuill, apoun Sanct Stephanis day at nycht, the castell of Hwme was recovered be certane Scottismen, that had guid knawlege of the places quhair the wallis mycht be most easelie ledderit. One of the furname of the Hwmes, being a man of a lxvj yeris of agie, wes the first that entered; and yit at the first one of the fcowt watchis perceaving him, as he wes reddy to clym up, rayfed the alarum so hiche that the capitane rais furth of his bed, and cuming to the place quhair the alarum wes raifed, for that the Scottismen war quietlie withdrawin, and no figne culd be perceaved of any ennemeis fturring, he blamed the fentinell that had fo rayled the alarum, and went to bed agane. The ould man, the foirfaid Hwme, having kept him felf close with his companie, till he thocht that all wes quiet within the castell, and everie man at rest, saving the skout and watche men, come agane to the wall, and by fic slie shift gat up aloft apoun the battelline, and fuddanlie stept to him that kepit the watche, and with his dager flew him out of hand. This done, geving figne to the refedew of his companie, up thay gat on the wall and entered the hous quickelie, dispatched all that maid resistance, and tuik the resedue presoners without any moir ado. Thus was the castell of Hwm recovered agane to the Scottismen, and wes restored to the Lorde Hwm awner thairof, to the comfort of him and all the hoill cuntrey.

Schortlie thaireftir the Reingrave returned in France, leaving fyve enseingyeis of Almanis behind him onder the conduct of Capitane Retouze, a guid man of wear and of gret experience. Etaignes being as than with a companie of horsmen in Dundie, wes [in] a scarmushe befoire Broughtie Craig taikin presoner, quho was a capitane of aproved valiancie and monyfold guid qualitis in his persone.

Aboute the same tyme thair landit at Dumbartane four bandis of souldiouris, Provancevise and Gasconse, quha brocht with thame money for the payment dew to the men of war. These souldiouris embarqued at Burdouis, and by reasoun of contrarie windis wer forced to seik harbour at Brest; be ressoun quhairos, it was a thre monethis or thay culd arryve at Dumbartane.

At the same tyme thair lay certane Frenche capitanes in Dumbar, quho keped thame selfs close, encouraged the Inglis men to cum and prick dalie moir neir to the toun without seir of any encontre; by reason quhairos, as thay passed thar wayis furth one day with a convoy of victuallis to Hadingtoun, James Wilford, generall of Hadingtoun, adventouring him self to far within danger of the Frenche men, wes enclosed by ane ambushe, quhilk the Frenche capitanis had layed be the way, and wes taikin be a souldiour Gascone, estir his horse was slayne undir him, and the moist part of his cumpanie also taikin or slayne.

Not long eftir, the Quene downier and Governour being enformed that gif fum remedie wer not the foner provydit against the Inglismen that forced the Scottis in Teuydaill to leive under thair subjectioun, it wald breid so gryt a trubill as wald not be easielie redressed; heirsoir caused Monsieur de Desse to go to Jedworthe, to prevent the ennemisto fortifie thair. Immediatlie apoun his cuming thether, the Laird of Farneherst required him to helpe him to recover his castell of Farneherst out of the Inglismens handis, quhilk thay had taikin and kept to the gret annoyance of all that pairt of the cuntrey. Defie taking with him Messires Dosell and le Chapelle de Birown, haistit thether with ane gret part of his army, fending afoir certane capitanis and thair companeis to take vew of the fortresse; quho at thair cuming thether shawit fix diligence in following the occasione offred thame, that thay not onlie repulsed the ennemeis quhome they found reddye to scarmushe with thame without the wallis at thair first cuming; bot also persewit thame so ernistlie, that they wan the utter pairt of the house frome thame, and forced the capitane with his fouldiours to retire into the dungeowne; within the quhilk thay kept him so short, that thay founde meanes to mynd throw the wall of the dungeoun, in fic largenes that twa or thre men mycht haif easelie entired. Heirwith a gret nowmer of Scottismen having brokin up the gate of the basse court, quhen the Frenche men wer biffie in affaltinge the dungeoun, steired up apoun defyre to be revenged of the Inglismen, and namelie of the capitane, quho had done thame mony notabili displesours. The capitane perceaving this, doubting gif he fell into the Scottismenis handis he shuld die for it, he come to the hoill quhilk the Frenchemen had maid, and wald haif yealdit him felf to Monsieur de Desse and Lamotthe Rouge, thinking that thay wald use him lyk as become men of ware; bot suddantlie in the gret prease, a Scottisman, quhas wyf, as was saide, he had befoir ravished, struik of his heid so just frome the shoulderis, that it leaped a iiij or fywe ellis quyt frome the body. Syndre of the Inglifmen war llayne also at the same tyme, for thay had used gret creweltie towart the Scottismen befoir tyme.

Monfieur de Desse returning to Jedworth, aydit be the furtherance and counsell of the Governour, the Scottismen seased not, in occasioun of advantage, to attemp new interprices frome tyme to tyme against the Inglismen; in one of the quhilk thay wan the castell of Cornwall in Ingland, ane stronge hous, beildit estir the ancient maner of forteseing; quhilk castell thay spulyeit, and tuik away all that was wourthe the cariage. Also one nycht quhill the Frenche men lay at Jedworthe, a Frenche capitane named Cobias, having the conduct of a fiftie lycht horfmen, thay had not ryddin past a four mylis of thair way bot thay wer apoun a troup of Inglis horimen, or thay war awar of any fuche danger towardis thame. Onderstanding by his foir ryders, quhilkis had discoverit those Inglismen, that thay war at the leist a iiij or fyve hundreth, withdrewe to the fyd of ane hill, bot strait wayis he hard the ennemyis cuming a gret gallop towardis him. Those wer the foirryders of the Inglismen, quhilk having discoverit, the Scottis returnit quietlie to thair mayne troupe. In the meintyme capitane Cobias gat the fuit of the hoill, determyning to abyd thair, for he faw not quhow he mycht retire to any advantage; heirwith encourageing his companie to do vailyeantlie, he kept him felfe close till the ennemyis approchit; and than perceaving quhow thay keip no ordour in thair cuming, alisone as he faw thame onis passed by his ambushe, he brak furth with that litill companie he had about him, and gaif the onfet so feircelie, that at the first charge mony of the Inglismen war ourthrawin and borne to the ground, and heirwith put in fic feir by ressone of this suddane assault, that at the fecounde charge quhilk the Scottis gave apoun thame, all the Inglismen war put to flycht, and chased to suche disadvantage on thair fyd, that no fmall nombre wer flayne and taikin. Thus capitane Cobias returned to Jedworth, with doubill mo presoneris than he had perfonis in his companie to affaill thame.

Monfieur de Chapelle de Biron wes fend with the companie of horfmen belonging to Mounfieur de Etaignes, and a fyve hundreth fuitmen, befyd Scottis men, to mak a raid into Ingland; quhilk interprice in burning dyvers townis and villages, to the annoyance of his ennemeis, he atchevit lyk a right politique capitane; and fo returnit without fuftening any notabill loffe at that feafoun. Within tua dayis eftir his returne to Jedworthe, Mounfieur de Deffe diflodged from thense, and taiking with him a four feild peces and his men of wear, enterit in to Ingland, tuik the castell of Furd and brint it, with a xx villages in the cuntrey thairabout, bringing with thame gret pray of guidis and spoyll, with mony presoneris in to Scotlande. As the Scottis and Frenche men executed thair interprices, thay wer still vewed by a gret nombre of Inglis horsmen; bot, nevirtheles, thay nevir assailgeit, swa that Monsieur de Desse returnit in saustie to Jedworth with his companye, having soir endomaged the Inglis bordouris by that raide.

The Inglismen, foir offendit that the French men lying still in Jedworth fuld thus addres ane interprice eftir one uther aganis thame, to the fpulyeing and foir endomageing of thair bordouris, affembled ane aucht thousande men at Roxburgh, in purpois to assaill the Frenche men in thair campt quhair thay lay at Jedworth. Bot Monsieur de Deffe advertesed heirof, politiquilie withdrew him self and his cumpanie to the Abbay of Melros; for gif he had abiddin and bene dreavin to gif battell with that his small army, being not past a xv hundreth fuitmen and fyve hundreth horimen, the same wald haif turned to the joperdie of manifest ourthrow; for sic wes the miserie quhilk, during the tyme of thair fudjorning in Jedbrugh, thay had contenowalie fuftened, that quhat throch feiknes and hurtis receaved in affaultis and fearmushes with their ennemeis, finding litill succour thair to releif thame felffis, with no fmall nomber of thame war deid, and mony war feble, thay wer not left abone the number befoir mentioned abill to haif done fervice gif thay should haif fochin.

Schortlie eftir the beginning of this symmer, in the yeir 1549, the Inglismen thinking to work sum gret fact be sey, and cheislie meaning to take and fortifie Inchekeyth, ane Iland lying almost in the middill of the Frith our anenst Leith, thair arrivit in the Frith a xxv faill of men of war, with certane victualers. These shippis cuming unto the Bass, affayit be fair and plefand wordis, gif thay mycht haif perfuedit the keparis to haif randerit the castell standing thair on the hight of the rok. Bot perceaving their perfuationis wald not tak effecte, thay tuik their course up into the frith, and finding a iiij shippes of Frenche men and Scottis on the way, feaffed apoun thame as a wished pray; and in the brek of the nixt day following, they come befoir Leith, and remanit thair at ancre a x or xij dayis; in quhilk meintyme thay landit thair peple at Inchekeyth, and begouth to mak fortification with all diligence possibill; but befoir the place wes maid in ony gret strenth, the shippes departed and left in the Iland a four enseinggeis of Inglismen and one enseingge of Italianis, to defende the pioners and the Ilande against the Scottis and Frenche men, gif thay come to affaill thame. Quhen the Inglis shippes war thus departed, Monsieur de Desse, as than lying in Leith, determinat incontinentlie to putt his hoill force in profe to reco-The Quene also being the same tyme thair, eirnistlie requested him and uther the capitanis and men of warre to take that interprice in hand, declaring that those quhilk schowed thair guid willes in atcheving thairof, fuld do to her most aggreabill service. Monfieur de la Chapelle de Biron being embarqued in a gallay, past furth to vew the maner of the Inglismenis doing is within the Ile; quhilk he did in fic effecteous wayis, that approching within harquabuz shot, he brought wourd agane not onlie of the hoill circumstance of thair beilding, bot also of the perfyt numbre of thair enseinges, and the qualitie of the men of war within the same.

In this meine tyme, Monsieur de Thermes, laitly befoir arryvit at Dumbartane with ane hundreth men of armes, tua hundreth lycht horfmen eftir the Frenche maner, and one thousand of fuitmen, wes com to the Quene and now biffe in hand, to further this interprice. A gret nombre of boittis being gottin together within Leith heavin, on Corpus Christis daye airlye in the morning be brek of daye, the Quene was cum to Leith to fe the embarquing of the men of weir, appointit as that day to try quhat fucces fortoun wald fend thame. Ye shuld have thane feine fic diligence used alswell of Scottis as Frenche men, bestow thame felfis aboird, that no exhortatioun nedit to haift thame fordwart; bot yit thay wantit no confortabill wordis in the Quene to encourage thame withall, devyfing with Desse and uther the capitanis, till thay wer gottin all into thair veshellis, and reddy to mak saile, directing thair curse towardis the Ile, with ernist willes to show the force of thair vailyeant hartis in the recovering thair of out of thair ennemyis handis. The Inglismen discovering the vessellis on thair first setting furth frome Leith heavin, understuid strait wayis quhat the meaning was, and thair uppoun providit in thair best maner to receave the Scottis and Frenche men, in those places quhar thay saw thame mynd to lande, doing quhat thay culd with schot of artailyerie and harquabusyers to ding thame back frome landing; yit, notwithstanding, at lenth by fyne force the Scottis and Frenche men gat aland, and drawe the Inglismen and Italians back to the hechest ground within the Iland, quhair thay stude at defence on a plompe together, doing thair uttermoist indevour to defend the place aganis the affaltis. Bot finalie thair generall, callit Cotton, being flayne, with ane capitane Applebie and Jasper, that had the leading of the Italianis, befyd dyvers utheris of thair best men of ware, the resedew war constraned to retire unto a corner or point of the Ilande, and thair taikin without any moir resistance. At this tyme, Monsieur de la Chapelle de Biron wes strickin throw the left hand with ane harquabuz shot, and his burgonet strikin into his heid. Also a gentill man, callit Desbarbories, quhilk buir the coronell enseingye of Monsieur de la Chapelle, was flayne with a pyk. Thus was Inchekeyth recovered againe, eftir it had bene in the Inglis mennis handis certane dayis, and that to the hich contentatione of Monfieur de Desse; meikle moir in deid for that he appointit to returne into France at that present tyme, and to rander up his place of liuetennent generall to Monsieur de Thermes, with the glorie of this atchevit interprice, quhilk wes gretlie to his honour. Schortlie eftir, he returned in to France, and Monsieur de Thermes succedit in his place, for the generall conduct of the Frenche army in Scotlande, according to his commission in that behalf. And for fo meikill as the Inglismen lay still in Hadingtoun, thus Monsieur de Thermes, with the advyle of the Lord Governour and uther of the Scottis nobilitie, thought it best with a seige volant to constrayne thame within the toune; and so keping thame alswell frome victallis as uder necessaries, to try gif thay mycht dryve thame to gif our the keping of it, by reasoun of the chargis quhilk throw these meanes culd ryse about the convoying of victuallis to thame, fence the fame culd not be fend to thame without ane gaird of ane convenient army, to be raifed of purpois for that intent. First, thairsoir, estir that Desse was departed towardis France, Monfieur de Thermes with his Frenche men and certane Scottis accompaneit at Abirladie, quhair thay begane the foundatioun of a fort, fo to flay the Inglis men frome fetting alande ony victuallis or provisione for the releif of thame within Hadingtoun on that fyd; quhairby the toune was in a mervelous gret necessitie throch want of victuallis.

In this meane feasone, a certane nowmer of Almanis and Frenche men, hering that capitane Julian with his Spaniardis, quhilk served the King of Inglande, lay in Coldinghame, within fax mylis of Bervick, come thether apoun the suddane, and sharpelie assailyeing the Spanerdis in thair ludgeingis, tuik and slew all most all the hoill number of thame.

Fastcastell, quhilk had bene delivered to the Inglis men besoir, was about this seasone recovered be a trane of certane Scottismen, searing to bring provisioun of victuallis to thame that keipt it; quha had obferved weill the watchis and forces quhilk was thairintill, and entering at the gaittis thairof with thair laidis, thay first slew the porters, and thairestir faucht with the rest and ourcome thame, and swe wan the castell.

Thingis passing thus in Scotlande, in this symmer of the yeir 1549, the Inglismen war not onlie trubillit with commotionis of the commounis of thair awin realme aganis the lordis and gentillmen, and with the divifione betuix the Protectour and the nobilitie of Ingland, bot also with the warris quhilkis the King of France maid than in the cuntrey of Bullongyeis, fo that they had no lafer to employe thair hoill forces aganis Scotlande, as thay determinat befoir to haif done. And lykwyis thair wes a vehement plaigue within the toune of Hadingtoun, be the quhilk a gret nomber of thair fouldiouris deit. Be ressone quhairof, sone estir Michalmes nixt following, the Erle of Rutland wes fende with ane gret army to Hadingtoune, quha entered apoun the nycht in the toune, and fuddantlie careid away with thame all thair munitione and fouldiouris that war levand, and spared be the plaige and suord of befoir; birning certane pairte of the toune, and leaving the rest voyd, and so departed with litell honour, gret loffe boith of men and fubftance, without any recompence of thair long travell.

And heir is to be remembred, that during the tyme that the Inglifmen keipt Hadingtoun, dyvers and findre scarmushis, quhair of nothing is spokin heir, oftin tymes did happin betuix the Scottis and Inglissen; namelie, the lycht horsmen at Longnudrie, quhair the Scottis men ourthrew a band of Inglis harquabuschers on hors back, to the number of source hundreth, taking or slaying the moist part of thame; also, at ane uther tyme, thay ourthrewe a gret number of lansqueneltz, that war cum surthe of Hadingtone to setche saggottis from ane wod, quhair thair was abone sevin scoir of presoners taikin and mony slayne.

Quhen the Inglismen, being thus wereit of the kepinge of Hadingtoun, had gevin our the famin, maid the Quene Douarier, the Governour, with the capitanis of the Frenche men, to conceave guid hoip to recover agane all that the ennemies heild within Scotlande. Bot first it was thought moist necessarie to assay to get Broughte Craig, becaus it appered gretlie to be aganis the estimatione of the cuntrey, that the Inglifmen fuld keip a forte fo fare within the realme; and fra that fort war won, thay deliberat to pas forduart to the winning of the fortis of Lauder, and utheris apoun the bordouris, as thay did eftirwart. Heirupoun, Monsieur de Thermes, with the assistance of the Governour, quha accompaneit him in all his interprices, come forduarte to the toune of Dundie in the beginning of Fabruar; quhair having prepared fic thingis as wes necessar for the seiging of the fort, he laid the battre thairto apoun the fouth eift pairt thairof, and cuttit away all moyens, passages and intelligences betwix the fort and the castell of Broughtie; so the fort culd haif no kinde of and nor releyf frome the sey, and estir the same was doung down with gret ordinance, the assailt was gevin thairto, baithe with the Scottis and Frenche men, the xx day of Fabruar; quhair the Inglismen maid resistance and defence at the first entering, bot thay war fo curageouslie and stoutlie affailyeit, that thai war dung frome the wallis, and the most part of thame all quhilk was within the fort war flayne, and the rest taikin presoners. The nixt day the Inglismen quha kepit the castell of Broughtie, fering the like to cum to thame, randerit the castell, baving onlie thair listis sais. So that baill cuntrey wes clenged of the Inglismen immediatlie.

Thaireftir the Governour with the Frenche men ceased not to perfew the occasionis of the advantage of the war, and come presentile to the fort of Lauder, quhilk thay beseged; bot the Inglishmen scarmushing with thame drew thame in at the gaitties of their utter fort, quhair it was crewellie fochin on baith the sydis, and mony slayne. Bot the Inglismen was compellit to retire thame selfs within thair ennir court. quhair thay war kepit and fo straitlie besegit, that thay war redy to haif yeildit, quhen fuddantlie wourd was brocht that thair was a peace concludit, as was in deid. For in the meintyme thair wes certane commissioners appointit betuix France and Ingland to treat of a peace, as the Erle of Bedforde and utheris for the pairte of Inglande, and Monfieur de Chattilyeoun, eftir Admirall, and utheris for France; and David Panter bischope of Ros, ambassadour than resident in France, was thair present for Scotlande; quha met at Bullen, quhair the peace was concludit, passed and aggreit betuix the Kingis of Ingland and France, quhairby Bullen was randerit agane to the King of France: and amangis uther articles, it was accordit that all fic fortis, castellis and places as the Inglismen heild in ony pairt within the Scottis dominionis fuld be delivered; and that the fortis of Dunglas, Roxburgh and Haymowth, quhilk the Inglismen had beildit and fortesiet, suld be raised and throwin doun, that no occasioun of any new controversie suld ryis be reasoun of keping or defending of the same; and to the effect that this peace new concludit mycht in all pointis be fermelie and truelie kepit and observed, alsweill betuix Scotlande and Ingland as betuix France and Inglande, and all and findre the fubjectis of the fame realmes, boith be fey and by lande, Montieur de Moreit was fend into Scotlande with the copie of this peace; fo that the lamyn was proclamed into Scotlande fone eftir peashe, in the yeir of our Lorde 1550 yeris; be the quhilk the long and contenowall weir, quhilk had lefted with great extremitie betuix the tua realmes the space of ix yeris preceiding, wes feaffed, to no litill confort of boithe the nations of Ingland and Scotlande; and according thairto, the forth of Lauder was randerit, and the uthers was cassin down; sua that the realme of Scotlande and dominionis thairof wes hoill clenged of the Inglismen, and the bourdouraris returnit everie one to thair ould possessiones, qualikis thay labored with gret quietnes thaireftir.

At the famin tyme the faid bischope of Ros past into Flanders, quhair he treated for a peace, quhilk was concludit betuix Scotland and Flanders; and for considering of boithe the treaters and peaces concludit and aggreit of befoir, thair was send from Scotland the Maister of Erskin and Maister Henrie Synclair, deane of Glasgw, vice presedent of the College of Justice, ambassadours and commissioners; quha passit first to Lundoun, and thair interchanged the seales of confirmation of the treatie past of befoir; and thair fra past in Flanders, quhair thay did the like in sic dew and lawchfull ordour as is used in sic causes, to the hich contentatione of all the princes and subjectis of all these realmes and dominionis.

The warris betuix Scotland and Inglande being thus wayis endit and peace proclamed, the Quene, Governour and nobilitie of Scotland thocht it most necessar that the French men and Almanis quha wer thair refident, with thair liuetennant Monfieur de Thermes, should depart furth of the realme and returne in France. And thairfoir thair was prepared in Leith ane gret navie, to the nombre of xx gret shippes of Frenche and Scottis; in the quhilkis the hoill men of weare and thair capitans, alfweill the Almanis with capitane Rothouse thair Coronell, as the Frenche men, embarqued and departit in the moneth of Maij, leiffing behind thame ane finall nomber to keip the fort of Inchkeyth and castell of Dumbar, quhilk thay retenit in thair handis. Monfieur de Thermes, de la Chapelle and findre utheris capitanis remanit still in the cuntrey, and travellit throch the most pairt of the realme, viseting the fituatioun of the townis, and the strenthis of Dumbartane, Edinburgh, Tamptalloun, the Bas, Dumbar, Fast castell, Dunnottir, Phindlatir and mony uthers, alfwell boith apoun the coast of the eist and west Thay affearmed thay had nevir fene in ony cuntrey fo mony ftrenthis be natour within one princes dominioun, as was within the realme of Scotlande: And so thay remanit all that symmer qubill the moneth of September nixt, at quhilk tyme thay departit in cumpanie with the Quene douarier in France.

Heir is diligently to be noted, that during the tyme of the warris quhilk indured fo mony yeris betuix the tua realmes, thair was mony flauchters, oppressionis, injureis and wrongis done in mony partis of the realme of Scotlande, quhilkis culd not be puneist according to the lawis with rigour at that tyme, be ressone the Governour was so bission occupeit for desence of the invasione of the foren ennemy of Ingland, that he had not the lasare nor commoditie to put ordour to the particular effares within the realme; and for that caus he determinat to hald justice airis throch all the partis of the ralme, the twa nixt yeris following, as he did, for punishment of gret crymes, and stanching thame frome doing the lyk in tyme cuming.

The Quene dowarier being a wyfe, discreit and politique ladie, confidering the gret quyetnes that the realme of Scotland was broucht unto, be the helpe and support send frome France to the releif and libertie of Scotlande, frome the gret thraldome and apperand danger was licklie and emanent thairto throch the cruell perfuit of Ingland; for the quhilk sho thought that sho had deserved gret fawour and thankis of the nobilitie and fubjectis of Scotlande, and no les of the King of France and his nobilitie; for that sho had caused convoye the Quene hir dochtir heretour of Scotland into France, quhairby thair was gret appearance that the realme of Scotland fuld remane in all tymis cuming not onlie joynit with thame in frindship as thair princepall confiderat and allya, lyk as it had bene contenowallie be the space of viij hundreth yeris preceiding; bot also now it mycht be maide moir subject and bound unto thame, yea, as a provnce joynit unto France be mariage, as Britangge and Normoundie ar subject at this present; and to the effect sho mycht congratulat and rejoile with the King of France and hir freindis thair, and also to visite the Quene hir dochter, bot most princepallie to prepair and fynd all moyens, be the quhilkis sho mycht obtane the governement of the realme of Scotlande and be regent thairof, as it so come to pass estirwart; sho determinat be the adwyse of Messires Dosell, de Thermes, la Chapelle and utheris wyse French men, to make a voyage in France. And to the essect sho sould be the bettir accumpaneit, and to caus the King and hir freind knaw the gret sawoir and luf that sho had of the nobill men of Scotland, persuadit a gret nombre of Erlis, Lordis, Barronis and gentill men of Scotland to accumpanie hir during hir wayage; principallie the Erle of Huntlie and his lady, and his moder, Erlis Merchell, Sutherlande, Cassillis and dyvers utheris, quha glaidlie obeyit hir desyre, and maid preparatione during the rest of that symmer for the same. The Quene also send in France for certane gallayis to cum in Scotland for hir moir suir convoy.

Quhen thir thingis war preparing, the Erle of Huntlie caused take Williame M'Kintoche of Dunnachtane capitane of the Glenhatten, quha was accused for the concealing of ane conspiracie devised aganis the said Erle, being chancelar of Scotlande, liuetennent generall of the north epartis, and our lord to the faide Williame M'Kintosche of his landis; quha come in the faid Erlis will for the famin, and thairfoir he was heidit at Strabogy in the moneth of August, and his landis forfaltit. For the quhilk caus thair was gret apperance of feade betuix the erle of Huntlie and the Erle of Cassillis and utheris, quha lamented M'Kintocheis deid. Bot the mater was eftir aggreit be the Quene Regent, and the process of forfaltour reduced. and M'Kintochis air reftored to his haill landis. Yet the kin of Glenhattan tuik revenge thairof; for shortlie thaireftir the principallis of thame enterit be policie within the castell of Pettie, quhair Lauchlane M'Kintoche remanit, quhom thay allegit to be the authour and inventar of that purpose, and first revelar thairof to the Erle of Huntlie; and thairfoir they crewellie flew him, albeit he was of thair awin kin, and banished all thame that pertenit to him furth of thair boundis.

In the beginning of the moneth of Septembre, Leowin Stroffe priour of Capoa, arryved in Scotlande, with fax gallayis and certane shippes; and shortlie thairester the Quene douarier, accumpaneit with the Erle of Huntlie and a gret nombre of the nobilitie of Scotlande, of ladeis and gentill men, with Monsieur Dosell, de Thermes and uthers Frenche and Italiane capitans, embarqued at Leyth, and fayled with prosperous windis be the coift of Ingland till France, quhair thay arryvit in the raid of Deip, and landit thair with all thair hoill cumpanie the xix day of September; quhair sho was honorable receaved, and frome that convoyit to Rowen, quhair the King was then resident, making his entre thair; quho receaved hir with gret effectione and fawour, shawin alfwell to all the nobill men that was with hir as to hir felf; quhair the King kepit the folempnitie of the ordour of Sanct Michaell with gret triumph, amangis the quhilk the Erle of Huntlie was honourable plefed as one of thame, according to his ancietie and estait. In this triumphe, and all the rest of the voyage, the Quene of Scotlande was present in the Kingis courte, quhilk was verey confortable to the Quene douarier and rest of the nobill men of Scotlande; quha remanit still in the King of France cumpanie till his cuming to Pareis, quhilk was aboute the middeft of October, quhair thair was guid intertenement maid to the Quene douarier and nobill men of Scotlande, be the nobilitie of France, specialie the Quenis frendis. Bot most of all, the King him self used fo gret familiaritie and fa humane and gentill behaveour toward thame, and specialie toward the Erle of Huntlie and utheris, that he allured thair hairttis in fic fort, that at all tyme the faid King Henrie was thocht to be the moist humane and luffing King to Scottis men of ony that had bene mony yeris preceding; and so hie contenowit in the same favour to his deith. And eftir the King had tareit thair certane dais, he tuik his jornay toward Bloyse, and be the way maid his entre in the toun of Chartres, the xx day of November, accompaneit with the Quene of Scotlande and the Quene douarier hir moder, and the nobill men of Scotlande; and frome that maid his entre in Bloyfe, quhair the Quene of Scotlande and the reft of that cumpanye maid refidens all the reft of that winter. During the quhilk tyme the Quene douarier did oppin the caus of hir cuming into France to the King and his fecreit counfallouris, be the adwyle of the duike of Guise and Cardinall of Lorane hir brethir, principallie for advancing of hir to the government of the realme of Scotland, quhilk was thocht verrey guid, and approved be the King and his counfall, quha referrit the ordering and dres of the hoill matter principallie to the Quene hir felf, specialie quhat was to be observed to draw the government of the realme furth of the Duik of Chattillirailt handis without ony tumult. And to the effect the Quene mycht bring hir purpose bettir to pas, sho persuadit the King to grant a gift of the ducherie of Chattilliro in heretage to the Erle of Arrane, than Governour of Scotlande, making also his eldest some capitane of the Scottis cumpanie and men of armes and archers in France; lyk wayis to mak ane gifte of the erledome of Murray in heretage to the Erle of Huntlie; a gift of the erledome of Rothes to one of the Erle of Rothes awin fonis, quha had mareit the Governors coufignes; a new gifte of the erledome of Angus to the Erle thairof; and ficlike of the erledome of Mortoun to Georg Douglas fone; with a gret nombre of utheris giftis and confirmationis maid be the King to fyndre uther particuler nobill and gentill men onder his feill and hand wreit, oblishing him in verbo regio to caus the Quene of Scotlande, at hir perfyte aige, ratifie and approve the famyn, or ellis he to gif thame as guid within the realme of France; apoun the quhilkis thair wes lettres patentis maid in dew forme, quhilkis the Quene douarier delivered to everye ane at hir discretione.

In this meintyme, the Governour of Scotlande fend Sir Robert Carnegy knycht, in France, to gif the King most hartlie thankis for the gret supporte he had send in Scotlande, throch the quhilk the Inglismen war expellit furth of the realme. Bot or his returning, the Quene douarier caused the king propone to the bischope of Ros, than resident ambassadour for Scotlande in France, and to the faide Sir Robert, and to Maister Gawin Hamiltoun abbot of Kilvinning, the first motione, that the Quene douarier fuld haif the government of the realme of Scotlande, and be maid regent thairof. And to gratifie the Governour in the meintyme, the faid ambassadours receaved possession of the ducherie of Chattilliroult, towin and palice thairof, in the Governouris name, and appointit ane gentill man, callit James Hammiltoun of Ormestoun, to haif cure and charge, and receave the fruittis and rentis thairof, to his utilitie and proffeit; and lykewyse his eldest sone, the Erle of Arrane, being than in France, receaved charge of the Scottis cumpanie, men of armes and archers, with honorabill estait and intertenement for the And so the said Sir Robert Carnegy returnit in Scotlande; and shortlie thairestir, the bischope of Ros followit, to persuaid the Governour to aggre to the kingis defyris, quhairin he maid gret travell, quhill at last he brocht the same to passe; and for his reward, the king gaif to him the abay of Laslye in France, quhilk he enjoyit thaireftir all his dayis.

At this tyme, King Eduard of Inglande fend the Marques of Northamptoun and certane utheris nobill men of Inglande, in meffage to the King of France to Bloyfe; quhair thair was gret bonefpellis, matches and wedfeis betuix the Scottismen and the Inglismen in sindre gammes, exercise of thair bodeis, alsweill with the croce bow, putting of the stane, and bar of irine, as in wrashing and sindre utheris gammes, quhairin thay did excell all uther nations; sua that the King and nobilitie of France tuike gret pleasour thairof, and thay used thame selfs to the gret honor of boith thair nations, albeit in treuith the Scottismen did excell the uther in the most pairt of all the foirsaide gammes.

In the beginning of fymmer thaireftir, the King, accumpaneit with the Quene of Scotlande, Quene douarier, and nobilitie thairof, past to the tounes of Towres, Anges, Nantis, and divers utheris townis in the ducherie of Britangge, and maid his entres, quhair he was with grete triumphe receaved; and eftir his returning, lykewyse in Orleance, and fre that come to Fontaneblew; quhair the Quene douarier and all the nobilitie of Scotlande, tuik thair leif of the King and of the Quene of Scotlande, and nobill men of France, with gret fawour, benevolens and guid intertenement; and fre that the Quene douarier past to Jamveill in Champaingge, to viffe the Duches of Guife hir modir and utheris hir freindis, quha than was in duile for departing of that nobill and ancient prince the Duike of Guyle hir fader, quha deceiffit the yeir preceding. In the meintyme, the most pairt of hir cumpanie remanit in Paris bying and preparing findre thingis to be had in Scotlande with thame, quhilkis was moir superfluus nor necesser, as everie ains, bot specialie the ladeis fantaseis did move thame; and fre that the Quene douarier and all hir cumpanie com to Rwan, quhair sho tuik purpose to pas in Scotlande throch Ingland, and so embarkin thair, past be watter to the New Heavin, and frome that falit throch the fey, and landit at Portifmowth apoun the west parte of Inglande; quhair sho was honorablic receaved and interteneit, and convoyit throch Hampschyre, Suffex and Surrey, be the Erle of Southamptone, Lord Williame Haward and uther nobill men with gret cumpaneis, quhill sho come to Hamptoun courte, quhair sho was receaved be King Eduard, with gret benivolens and well interteneit; and fre that convoyit down the river of Temmes in the Kingis bairges to Lundoun, and ludged in the bischope of Lundonis palice; and shortlie thairestir, King Eduard come to the Quhythall for intertenement of the Quene douarier, quhair gret banqueting and honorable pastyme was maid, and all the antiquiteis, monumentis and princepall jouallis of the realme was shawin to hir. And than was proponit to hir in most effecteous maner be King Eduard, to persuade the King of France to leave the mariage of the Quene of Scotlande with his eldeft fone, and to aggre that he mycht marie hir, according to the first appointment maid be the Governour and estatis of Scotlande to that effect, quhilk he affirmed was most meit for the unione of boith the realmes, ftanching of bluid, and for a perpetuall quietnes in tymis cuming; and he affured hir, that utherwayis quhofoever mareit hir fuld not haif hir with his kindnes, bot he fuld be ennemy to him in all tymis cuming. To the quhilk, the faid nobill lady maid wyfe anfueris, affirmyng that the fault was in the rigorous perswit maid be fyre and suord be the Protectour and utheris of his cunfall, aganis the realme of Scotlande, that forced the nobilitie to feik support fro France, and thair throch was conftraned to fend the Quene thair; and that fic faffione of dealing was not the nerrest way to cunques a lady and princes of heretage in mariage, quho fuld rather be focht be curtes, humane and gentill behaviour, nor be rigorous crewell and extreme perfuit; and forder, gif thay had begun at hir guid will quha was modir to the Quene, quhen thay attempted uther extraordinall meanes, sho had shawin hir moir faworabill in that mater. Yit fince so it was happinnit, that the King him selfe had proponit the mater unto her, sho promifet to make advertisment thairof to the King of France and hir freindis thair, thortlie eftir hir returning in Scotland. And so estir guid intertenement, sho tuike hir leif of the King, and was honorablic convoyit through the citie of Lundoun be the Duik of Northumberland, Erle of Penbruch, and mony uther nobill men; the Mair of the citie and auldermen being placed in the way in honorabill cumpaneis, and thairfre passit to Wair; and all the way quhill sho come to Bervicke, certane nobill was appointit in everie sheresdome for hir honorabill convoye; and thairfre past in Scotlande, quhair sho was receaved be the Erle Bothuile, Lord Hwme and utheris barronis apoun the bordouris, and convoyit to Edinburgh, quhair the Governour receaved hir with gret honour and fawour. And here is to be rememberit, that quhen the Quene ambarqued at Newhevin to pas in Ingland, that the Erle of Huntlie wald not pas with hir, for that he feared that in case he entered within Ingland, he walde be stayed be reasoun he departed, being presoner in thair handis, bot thair licence or ranfoun payed; and thairfoir faled the neirest way be the coast of Ingland in Scotland, and landit at the toun of Montrose, in the end of the moneth of September; and mony of the princepall of the nobill men returnit also in Scotlande be the same way. Quhill the Quene regent was in France, thair was ane treffonable practife devised and interprised to be execut, for poysoning of the Quene of Scotland in France, quhilk was tryed furth and reveled be ane Scottisman callit James Hendersoun, at that tyme resident in Ingland; be quhais advertisment, the princepall authour callit Stewart, being ane archear of the King of France gard, quha had takin upon hand to execut the fame, was apprehendit in the towne of Blaisse in France, and estir dyvers tormentis was hangit and quarterit for the same.

In this yeir of God, I^m V^o and fiftie ane yeiris, the Governour caused hald ane parliament in the moneth of Maij, and ane uther in the moneth of Februar thairestir; quhairin thair was findry actis and guid lawis maid for the commone wele of the realme, and executioun of justice.

Sone eftir the Quenis returning, sho labored to aggre all the nobili men of fic debaittis, controversies and querrellis, as had bene nurift amangis thame the tyme of the warris, specialie for the rycht and tytilles of certane of the princepall benefices of the realme, quhilkis had bene lang in question amangis thame, quhairof the agreement was refferred unto hir; quha, be the adwyse of the Governour, Erlis of Huntlie, Angus, Argyle, ordanit, that the Governouris brodir suld remane bischop of Sanct Androis, quhairto he was alreddy provydit; and his seconde sone suld haif the abacye of Arbroith; and that Maister James Betoun, quha had richt to the faid abacye, fuld be promoved to the archebischoprik of Glasgw; and the possessione of the bischoprik of Dunkell fuld be left be the abbot of Cowper, quha was the Erle of Argylis frend, and gevin to ane Creychtoun, quha was lauchfullie providit thairto; and in recompense of the said abbot, said haif the first bischoprik that hapinnit to waik, quhilk was the bischoprik of Brechin, to the quhilk he was nominant be the Quene thairestir. Lykwyse, Maister Alexander Gordoun, brodir to the Erle of Huntly, being anis providit and confecret at Rowme archebischope of Glasgw; for renuncing of the tytle thairos, he gat the gift of the abbacy of Inchechassiray, and retynit the stile of ane archebischoppe, being titillit of Athenis, till he was promoved to the bischoprik of Galloway in Scotlande. Thir and mony uther controverse war aggreit, be the wisdome and gret discretione of the nobilitie, and the Quene donarier, to the quietnes and contentatioun of all the beill centrey.

About the famyn tyme, and lerned wyse aged father, callit Doctor Wauchop Scottisman, archebischop of Armacham in Ireland, quha was contenowalie frome his infancy blind, yit was of so excellent guid lerning and knawlege, that he was maid doctour of theologie in Paris; for the quhilk, and for his wisdome and experience, he was promoved be Paip Paule the third to the said archebischoprike, and send legate and ambassadour be him and Paip Julij the third oftymes to the Empreour, and in France, Scotland, Ireland, and uther partis, with commission also of a legat a latere, quhair he execut his charge wystye and discretile to the admirations of many, and to the gret honour of his hoill natione, and now deceiffst in Paris the x day of November, and was bureid in the Gray freris.

During the tyme that the Quene douarier and the nobilitie of Scotlande was in France, their come are doctour philitiane, callit Ramfay, Scottifinan, furth of Turing in Pyedmount to France, being of gret size and guid lerning and experience, quas ferved all the nobill men of Scotland and thair hoill cumpanye, with fic things as was necessar for thame, frelie apoun his awin charges, moved onely for the zeill he buir toward his cuntrey; swa that he wald not suffer thame to cum onder the cuir and medicine of strangers, in case they mycht haif hapinait in sum onrecoverabill inconvenient, ather be evill drogges or onlerned mixtour thair of; as hapinait to the nobill men quha come to the mariage of the Quene in France in the sistie aucht yere of God thairestir.

The hoill realme of Scotland being this maner in quyetnes, everye man address him self to policie, and to big, plant and pleneise those rownes quhilkis throch the trublis of the warris, be Inglismen or utheris had bene wasted, brint, spulyeit, or distroyit; and for establishing throch all the partis of the realme, the Governour be advyle of the Quene and nobilitie, determinit to hald justice aris throch all the partis of the realme, and that rather for flaying of trubles in tymis, nor for rigorous punishment of anye offences by past; and to that effect, he being accumpaneit with the Quene and fyndre uther nobill men, past in the north partis of Scotlande, and first held his aris at Invernes in the moneth of Julij; quhair thair was litill punishment or executione of mennis bodeis, bot certane compositioun of money takin frome every man according to his strait conditione, and qualitie of the cryme; and fra that come forduart to Elgin, Banf and Aberden; thaireftir to Dundie and Perth, quhair the lyk ordour was observed and kepit; and from that past in the west cuntrey to Glasgw, Langrig, Dumfreis and utheris partis, doing the like thair; as in Edinburgh, Louthiane and these partis in the nixt winter. And in the tyme of Lentren thaireftir he past to Jedbrough quhair he held his aris, putting ordour and guid rule to all the effaris of the bordouris, boith on the eift and myddill merchis, as he had done in Dumfries on the west of befoir; appointing wyse and discrete capitanis, wardanis and officers theirupoun, quha kepit all the bordouris in guid justice and quietnes.

In this progres, Sir George Douglas of Pettindrich knycht, brodir to the Erle of Angus, quha had beine a man of gret wit and experience, deceiffit in the tyme of the aris in Elgin; quhome I do heir remember, for that he was fo well knawin in his tyme in France, Scotland and in Inglande, for his politeque and wechetie effares in the oft changes of the governement of Scotlande, quhairin his inventionis and moyens was not the leift. About the fame tyme, Alexander Lord Gordon, eldeft fone to the Erle of Huntly, quha had mareit the Governouris dochtir, and was a verrey wyse young man and of guid qualiteis, deceifsit of ane bleding at Edinburgh.

At the tyme of the Governouris refidens in Jedbruche, Maister Dauid Panter bischope of Ros, albeit not than consecrat, quha had bene contenowalie ambassadour resident in France sevin yeris preceding, arryvit in Jedburgh, and was thair consecrat bischope with grete solempnitie, triumphe and banqueting; quhair thair was sindrie of the bordouraris maid knychtis, sic as the lairdis of Sessord, Farneherst, Coldounknowis, Sir Androw Kar of Littildein, the Larde of Grenheide, Balcleuch and sindre utheris; and swa the Governor leissing all in quietnes apoun the bordouris, returnit to Edinburgh.

During all the tyme of this progres and holding of aris, the Quene douarier passit contenowalie in company with the Governor throche all the partis of the realme; quhair sho laborit secreitlie at all the lordis handis, boith spirituall and temporall, to aggre and gif thair consentis to hir to be admittit regent of the realme of Scotlande, during the rest of the minoritie of the Quene hir dochtir; and that sho mycht be receaved thair to quhosone the yeris of the tutorie suld be run surth and endit, and soner gif law wald permit the samin; or in cais the Governour mycht be persuadit for savour, pleasour or guid deid, befoir the tyme thair of war run out, to leif the samyn; and for this effect sho maid syndrie promises of gret rewardis, with privie bandis to the lordis particu-larlie; be the quhilk sho drew almost the hoill nobilitie of Scotland to be of hir opinione, and to fubscrive secretlie with hir; and so thinking hir felf affured of thame, the caused the faid bishope of Ros move the mater to the Governour, defyringe him, apoun the King of Frances name, to leiff the office and government of the realme to the Quene douarier with favour and benevolens. To the quhilk the governour on no wayis at the first wald aggre, so that thair apperit gret divisione to be betuix him and the Quene, in fic fort that all the rest of that yeir the Governour remained for the most pairt in Edinburgh, accumpaneit with ane few nomber of lordis, and the Quene in Striveling, quhair sho had gret refort and almost contenowall cumpanie of the Erle of Angus, Huntly, Argyle, Atholl, Caffillis and mony utheris, in hoip of change of the authoritie, to be rewardit for thair affiftance. The Quene perceaving the Governour not willing to leif the tutorie befoir the xij yeris war compleit, be the adwyfe and counfall of fum exparte, did bringe a questione that the same was alreddy experit and run furth quhosone the Quene was xi yeris compleit and entered in the xij yeir of hir aige, as sho was than presentlie apoun the sevint day of November in the yeir of God Im Voliij yeris; affirming that a yeir befoire the birth, quhen that a prince is in the modir wombe fuld be compted as they had bene borne, quhenfoevir it may further advance thame in ony thing, and fo to haif bene observed alsweill to the Princes of the realme of Scotlande as within utheir cuntreis in tymis past. And to that effecte sho wreit to all the nobill men of Scotlande, to conveine with hir at Striveling at ane certane day appoint it thair to, to gif thair adwyle and confent thair upoun; quhair thay all convenit to that effect; so that the Governour remanit almost his allaine in Edinburgh, accumpaneit onlie with the bischope of Sanct Androis and Lord Levingstoun; quhair considering that he culd not weill refift aganis the Quene douarier and the hoill nobilitie, be eirnstfull messages and lettres send to him be the Erle of Huntlye and uther is nobill men, he past towart Striveling, and thair be the adwyse of the hoill nobilitie and counsall, thair was a finall aggrement maid betuix the Quene and Governour, that he fuld leif, dimit and gif our the office of tutorie of the Quene and government of the realme, to the effect that the Quene mycht cheise curatouris in France, and be thair adwyfe appoint the Quene douarier Regent of the realme of Scotlande, or ony utheir at thair pleafour; and that one parliament fould be appointit to be haldin in the monethe of Aprile nixt following in Edinburgh, quhair the Governour fould publiche gif our the faid office; and in the meintyme, for fuir keping of his part, he aggreit to deliver than presentlie the castell of Edinburgh in the handis of the Lord Erskin, to be kepit unto the faide parliament, apoun that condicioune, that in caife the Governor wald not keip his promeife, than the famyn fould be delivered to the Quene douarier; and on the uther parte, in case sic conditions as was promifed to him fuld not be kept, the faid caftell fould be randerit agane to the Governour. Lykwyse the Quene douarier promesed to the Governour ane full and ample discharge of all intromissioun with King James the fyftis treaffouris of gold and money, jowellis, filver vefhell, copbourdis, movables and plenishing, and all utheris thingis belonging unto him the tyme of his deceis; and ficlik ane discharge of intromisfioun with all the fruittis, rentis, alfweill of the propertie as caufualtie pertening to the patrimonie of the crowne, intromettit or receaved, or quhilkis fuld haif bene receaved be him or ony in his name, from the deceis of the King to the tyme of the nixt parliament; with fufficient confirmatione of all giftis of benefices, wardis, mariages or uther canfualiteis quhatfumevir during the faid tyme, and ane confirmatione of the gift of the ducherie of Chattillirault to him and his aris; and that the castell of Dumbartane suld remane in the Governouris handis qubill the Quenis perfit aige; with findre utheris pactionis, promess and conditionis. And for fuir keping theirof, the Quene prometed to caus the thre estatis of the realme to be bundin and oblist onder thair hand wreit and seales, lyk as the lordis thair present did than oblis thame, that all the foirsaid suld be keipt unto the Governour, and that the Quene sould nevir revoik, bot ratifie and appreve the samyn at hir perfyt aige. And that in the same parliament the Duik of Chattillorault suld be declarit be the thre estatis to be secounde persone to the realme, and just and lawfull heretour to the crowne, sailyeing the Quene and the lauchfull successione of hir body. And swa all thir heades being well aggreit, the conventione was dissolvit; and for performing thairos, the Governor presentie caused deliver the keping of the castell of Edinburgh, with all munitione being thairintill, to the Lord Erskyn; and the Quene send with all speid in France, to obtene all sic discharges, giftis, confirmations, commissionis, and sic uther thing is necessar to be had againe the nixte parliament.

Qubill this apperance of divisione was standing betuix the Governour and Quene, thair was fum in dyvers partis of the realme that preiffed to waikin auld deidlie feaddes, and to quyt querrellis, thinking than to be tyme most convenient, for that it apperit most easie to thame to get remiffioun of thair wicked dedis ather frome thame that left the authorite, or thame that entered thairintill. Apoun this pretence, as appered, the lairdof Balcleuch was flayne in Edinburgh be the Karris; quhairupeun gret fead and displeasour followit betuin the furnames of the Karris and Scottis; and about the famyn tyme the maister of Ruthven slew ane wailyeant gentill man callit Johne Charteris of Kinclevin in Edinburgh, apoun occasions of suld fead, and for flaying of a decreit of ame process quality the faid Johne perfewit aganis him befoir the Lordis of the Seffione; quhairupoun occasioun was taikin in the nixt perliament, that thair was a law maid that quhafianevir he was that flew any man for the perfust of any actions aganis him, that he fulde less the rycht and tytle of his actions, and the flayer fuld be also punished in body and guidis according to the lawis of the realme; quhilk was the occatione of flaying of fic crewell attemptis in tyme cuming. At the fame tyme, the Lord Sempill flew the Lord Creychtoun of Sanchar in the Governouris awin hous, apoun a fuddan, within the toun of Edinburgh; for the quhilk he was taikin and put in the caftell of Edinburgh, and had bene execut thairfoir, war not the gret laboris maid be the Lorde Sancharis freindis for fauftie of his lyf, through ane aggreement that was labored betuix thame, be moyence of the bischop of Sanctandrois and utheris his frendis at that tyme.

Quhen thir things was in doing in Scotlande, Edwarde the fixt King of Ingland be long lingering feiknes departit out of this lyfthe fixt daie of Julij I^m V^oliij yeris; and immediatlie eftir his deceis, apoun the ix daye of Julij, be meanis and laboris of the Duik of Northumberland and utheris of his factione, ane callit Lady Jane, dochtir to the Duik of Suffolke, was proclamed Quene; quhilk was the caus of gret trubill to the faid Duik and Ladye and all thair frendis; for apoun the xx day of Julij nixt following, Ladye Marie, eldest dochtir of King Henry the aucht, was proclamed and receaved Quene be the hoill nobilitie and universall consent of the Estatis of the realme; and shortlie thairestir, the Duik of Northumberland, Duik of Suffolk, Lady Jane and hir husbande Lorde Gilford, with a gret nomber of utheris, war all beheidit at Lundoun; and the faid Quene Marie being cronit, convenit a parleament, in the quhilk sho reduced the hoill realme to the auld catholique religion, for observatione of the ordour used, ministratioun of the facramentis, meffe and utheris fervice; admitting also the suppremicie of the feate of Rome within that realme, as it had bene used in the beginning of King Henry the VIII hir faderis regne. And shortlie thaireftir sho was mareit with Phillip than Prince, now King of Spainye, eldest sone to the emprior; for the quality caus thair was rased findre infurrectionis and confpiraceis within the realme of Inglande aganis the faid mariage; quhilkis was quenched and fet down, bot not without gret executione and bluid shed of the conspiratours thairof, as may be sene in thair cronicles and annellis, quha listis to reid at lenth.

Sone eftir the coronatione, all strangers, specialie the Scottis men, quha ather for crymis or for religione, war banished thair awin cuntreis, and reffait in Ingland in King Eduardis tyme, war charged to depairt furth of that realme; and thairfoir Normound Leslie Maister of Rothes, Laird of Grange, Maister Henry Balnaseis and thair cumpanie, being banished Scotlande for the slauchter of the Cardinall, also the Lairdis of Brunftoun and Ormeftoun, and utheris than refident in Inglande, returnit to France. Normound was employed in fervice of the warris be King Henry of France aganis the Emprior, and gat the charge of ane hundrethe lycht horfmen, in the quhilk he used him self verrey vailyeantlie; purposing thairby, that he mycht recover boith his honour and leaving, quhilk he had lofed in Scotland be wicked counfell of utheris, in affifting that ungodlie deid, qubilk he repented verrey foir at all tyme. Bot eftir fyndre vailyeant factis and dedis of armes, verrey happelie and curageouslie done be him in tha weares, to the gret honour and confort of his natione, in a scarmushe at Rentoun in Picardie, he was woundit be a fhot of a piftolet, and of that hurt he deceiffet at Montrell the xxix day of August 1554. The King of France, for recompance of his fervice, receaved his eldest brodir Williame in fawour, and maid him gentill man of his chalmer, and he fend the Lord of Grange and all the reft of his companie in Scotlande, and caused thame to be restored to thair levinges agane, be the Quene regent and estatis of parliament.

The tyme of the appointit parliament for ending of all things betuix the Quene douarier and the Governour being cumin, the estatis of Scotlande was convenit at Edinburgh, quhairupoun the xij day of the moneth of Aprill, the Governour and Quene comperit, and the parliament was first set and sensed in the Quene oure soveranis name, with consent of James Duik of Chattillire Erle of Arrane, hir tutor and governour; and thair was presented and red in presens of all the estatis, all the contractis maid betuix the Quene and Governour, with the confirmationis granted be the Quene, with confent of hir curatouris in France thairupoun, in ample forme; quhilkis war ratefeit and apprevit be the effatis of parliament; and lykwyfe was red ane contract, be the quality the hoill estatis oblished thame to warrande the same to the Governour according to the former appointment, quhilkis was prefentlie subscrivit be all those quho voit in parliament, and thair seales affixit thairto; quailkis being done, and he declared fecound perfoun of the realme, the Governour in presens of the estatis and of the Quene douarier and Monfieur Dofell, ambaffadour refident for the King of France in Scotland, renuncit and dimittit the office of tutorie and government of the realme; and than prefentlie was pronunced and publiquelie red, ane commission givin be the Quene of Scotlande in France, with the confent of hir foirfaid curators, in most ample forme, making the Quene hir modir regent of hir realme and lieges; quhilk commissione and office sho acceptit apoun hir, and was admittit and receaved be the estaitis thairto; and the parliament being of new fenfed agane in name of the Quene, with confent of the Quene regent hir modir, and approved be the effatis, thaireftir the fame wes diffolvit.

Quhen the Quene was placed in this maner be univerfall confent of the effatis, and receaved as regent of the realme, than as the commoune use is, at the change of the prince and authoritie, all the princepall officiaris to be changed, the Erle of Cassillis was maid thesaurar; and Frenche man callit Welemort wes appoynted comptroller; Maister James McGill maid clark of the register; the abbot of Cowper, Lorde Privie Seill; and callit Monsieur Rubie, Frenchman, a procutour of Paris, appointit to keip the gret seill, and to be as vice Chancelar and affister to the Erle of Huntlie than Chancelar; and sindre uther particular offices war changed lykwyse. Bot the Quene regent shortsie thairestir begouth to use the counsall of these Frenche men, Dosell, Rubie, Welemort, moir nor of the nobilitie of Scotland, and of ane called Monsieur Bonet, quhome sho maid governour of Orknay thairestir; quhilk maid thame to conceave sum jolesie aganis the Quenis governement, evin in the beginning, albeit that kepit the same secrettie within thair breistis quhill the sistic sevin yeir of God; at quhilk tyme it was utterit at Maxwellheuch, to the gret disquieting of the hoill estait.

Eftir the diffolying of this parliament the Quene Regent, willing to put ordour to fum troubles in the hie landis of the cuntrey, caufed the Erle of Huntlie, with a commissione of livetennentrie, pas with ane gret army to Abirtarf, within the sherifdome of Invernes, to invaid Johne Mudyard his kin and affifteris; quhair the faid Erle being convenit with ane gret nomber, alfweill of hieland as lawland men, he proponit to the principallis of the hoill oift, defyring thame to merche forduart in the hie landis, for apprehending of the faide Johne Mudyard and his kin; bot the barronis and gentill men of the lawlandis in speciall, refused to go in that cuntrey les nor thay mycht travell on hors, as thay culd on no wayis do in that boundis; and the faid Erle wald not merche with the hieland men onlie, for the lait hattrent that thai had conceaved aganis him for the deithe of M'Intoche, and thairfoir he returned. Quhairfoir the Quene fend for the faid Erle of Huntlie, and accused him befoir the counsall for negligent executione of his commisfione, and thairfoir he was wardit within the castell of Edinburgh in the moneth of October, quhair he remaned contenowalie till the moneth of Merche nixt following; and in the meintyme, gret inquisitione was maid aganis him, be the informatione of his privat ennemeis; bot at laft the matter was so appointit, that the said Erle was maid content to renunce and dimit to the Quene regent the heretabill infeftment of the erledome of Murray and Lordship of Abirnethy, the takkis and possessione of Orknay and Zetland, the baillierie and takkis of the erledome of Mar and lordship of Straythdie, and was content to pas in France, thair to remaine for the space of syve yeris; and be this appointment he was releislit furth of the castell. And estir he had maid his preparatione reddy to depairt in France, and to that effect the Quene regent had gevin him licence to conye all his silver veshell for his furnessing, sho was content to discharge him of that vyage, swa that he suld remane in Scotland, for payment of certane gret sownis of money, quhilk he caused deliver to hir than presentlie; and thairsoir was restored to his office of chancellarie agane, although Monsieur Rubie had the princepall charge thairof, and kepit the gret seill during the hoill tyme of the Quene regentis governement.

About the famyn tyme returned in Scotland furth of France ane wyse and lerned prelat, maister Henrie Sinclair deane of Glasgw, vice prefident of the college of justice, quha had bene a familiar counsalour to King James the fyft; bot during all the tyme of the Governouris regement was not in gret credeit; yit for his wisdome, knawlege and experience, was holdin in gret honour and estimatione be the Quene regent, and be the hoill nobilitie. Immediatlie eftir his arryving, he caused be his counfall the bischoppe of Orknay, than president of the college of justice, and all the senatouris thairof, mak certane statutes for abbreviation of processis, guid ordour to be observed in the said college, reformatione of abusis, quhairof the actis, statutes and monumentis remanis yit to thir our daies in the faid college, quhairby justice may be indifferentlie, finceirlie and uprichtlie ministred to all personis, and frevolowis and fuperflowis termis and delationis cut away, and diligent ordour be the lordis, thair scrybis, advocattis and members of court observed, and all abuse removed; swa that thairestir justice was dewlie ministrat within the famyn, according to the lawis of the realme, in bettir ordour nor it had bene in ony tyme preceding.

In this mene feafoun thair was a parliament haldin at Edinburgh, in the monethe of Julij, be the Quene regent and thre estatis of the realme; quhair thair was convenit mony nobill, wyse, lerned and expart men as evir had bene at ony parliament mony yeris preceding; and thair was mony and sindre guide statutis and lawis maid for the commoun weill, tending princepallie to the quietnes of the hoill subjectis thairos; quhilkis ar contenit at lenth in the register buikis of the actis of parliament, and thairsoir I will not be superslowus in rehersing thairos; albeit mony of thame be worthie of memorie, specialie the acte of the dischargeing of gadderinges and assembleis used in slitting Fryday and Witsoundaye, the dischargeingis of conventionis under the cullour of Robeine Huid, and the discharge of ligges or bandis to be taikin or gevin frome one subject to ane uther, and utheris siclik; for the quhilkis sufficient ordour was providit in the saidis statutis, for the commowne tranquilitie to be observed in tymis cuming.

At the same tyme, Quene Marie of Ingland was mareit to King Phillop Prince of Spaingye, upoun the xxv day of Julij at Winchester; quha send thairfre ane ambassadour in Scotland in baith thair names to the Quene regent, to congratulat and rejose for the said marriage; defyring hir to conserve amitie, freindship and peace betuix the twa realmes; and for conferming thairof, thair was appointit certane commissioners to meit in the nixt symmer, as thay did apoun the bourdouris.

Quhill the Quene was putting ordour to the effaris of the fouth partis in this wyfe, the Erle of Atholl was fend with speciall commissione into the hielandis for apprehending of Johne Mudyarde; quhair he wrought so be wisdome, policie and guid convoy, that the saide John come with him to the Quene regent, with tow of his sonnis and certane of his kin, and submitted thame into hir will; quha as a clement and mercifull princes, moir of hir guidnes nor thair desertis, pardonit thame at that tyme, and caused thame remane in waird within the toun of Perth and castell of Messane, quhair thay wer weill treated; yit as the tod can not byd furth of his hoill, estir thay had tareit their certane space, thay brak their wardis, and past secreitlie in their awin cuntrey, quhaire they sterit up be their counsall new troble agane, lyk as was also in diverse parties of the hie landis; quhilk moved fore the Quene to make a jornay in the nixt yeir in the north parties, to hold justice aris for punishment of gret offences and stenching of sic misreule in tymes cuming.

In the beginning of this fymmer thair was ane parliament haldin at Edinburgh; in the qubilk the lairdis of Brunftoun, Ormeftoun, Grange, and certane utheris quha had bene forfaltit in the Governouris tyme, war at the special request of the King of France restored, and the same parliament was contenowit thairestir, and callit a running parliament.

During the tyme of the famyn, the Quene regent, be the counsall of Monfieur Dosell, Rube, and certane lordis of the nobilitie, defyred ane new ordour to be taikin be the effatis of the realme for fuftentatione of the warris aganis Ingland, quhen foevir thay fuld happin to be in tymes cuming; and that be payment of certane taxationis, impostis and controbutionis, to be raifed and payit be everye man of quhatfoevir qualitie or estait, conforme to the quantitie of his landis, rentis, guidis and subthance. And to that effect it was devyled that inventouris fuld be taikin be the thereffis of everie mannis rentis, goodes and substance; and that with this taxation, men of weir to be conduced to ly apoun the bordaris, fwa that no man fuld be trubled to cum frome thair awin housses for defence thairof, bot quhen the gret army of Ingland come within the realme; quhilk new inventione, albeit fum of the lordis of the nobilitie for pleasour of the Quene seamed to aggre thairto for the tyme, yit the barronis and gentill men was nathing content thairwith, and for flaying thairof maid mony privie affembleis and conventions; and at last thair convenit in the abbay kirk of Halieruidhous to the number of iij^e barronis, and fend tua of the most ancient amangis thame, quhilkis was the lairds of Calder and Weames, to the Quene regent and lordis of hir counfall, defyring moift humelie not to alter the ancient custome, lawis and liberteis of the realme, in putting thame to fic charges of payment of fowmes of money; affirming that their foirfatheris and prediceffouris had defendit the famyn, mony hundreth yeris, vailyeantlie with thair awin handis; and for that caus principallie thay had thair levingis and landis gevin unto thame be thair prince, to ferve him with thair awin personis into the warris; and as thay beleiffit affuredlie, none had power to dispence with thame, or alter the maner of thair halding, or discharge thame of that service, specialie during the minoritie of thair prince and foverane; for in that respect the King has bene callit at all tymes, King of Scottes, that is rather in respect of men nor of money or fubstance of the cuntrey; declaring also, that thay quha presentlie inhabited the realme, was of als good curage and hardement, abill and vailyeant to defende thair realme as utheris thair forbears hes bene in tymes past, and thairsoir wald secht with thair awin handis, and defende the same with thair bodeis; for thay culd not trust any waged man that he walde so faythfullie defende thair libertie, wyssis, bairnis, landis and possessionis; and that their was not fo gret substance to be spared within the realme, as to fustene so monye ydill men as war necessar for defence of the bordouris; and last of all, thay affirmed, that the same sulde caus the loirdis, barronis, gentill men, fall into fic ydilnes and onskilfulnes, through laik of use of bearing and exercing thair armour, that thay fuld becum ane easie pray to quhatsumevir natione that waild invaid the realme. Quhilkis thingis being declared to the Quene and counfall, all the refionis alleged be thame confiderit, the Quene regent be the 4. adwyse of the nobilitie, desisted for any further travelling in that matter; and thocht thame nothing worthie of thankis that was the inventaris thairof, becaus it maid ane gret gruge and murmour amangis the people of the realme.

At the fame tyme thair was fend to the bourdouris the bishope of Dumblane, the laird of Lethingtone, and maister James McGill commissioners for Scotlande, to meit with ane wyse and learned man, Tonstaill bishop of Durhame, and certane utheris commissioners for Ingland; quhair thay remanit at Dunce during the monethis of Julij, August and September, (at quhilk tyme the Quene was in the north partis of Scotland at the aris,) quhair thair was treated sic things as stude in controversie betuix the twa realmes, and guid justice done and redres maid on ather of the sydis.

In this meintyme the Quene regent, making hir voyage in the north partis, come in the moneth of Julij to Invernes, accompaneit with the Erles of Huntly, Argyle, Atholl, Merchall, bishop of Ros and Orknay, and fyndre uther nobill men, and hir foirfaid counfaloris of Frenche men, quhair sho held justice aris with most extreme and rigorous punishment, and charged everie ane of the capitanis of the hie landis to bring in the offendaris of thair awin kin, according to the ordour prescribit in King James the Fiftis tyme, onder gret panis; quhairthrow mony was entered, boith of M'Kenzey kin, Banagowin, Lord Lowat, M'Kintoche, Laird of Grant and mony utheris, quhairof thar was findrie execut; and amongis the reft, the Laird of Grant being charged to bring in ane special freind of his awin callit James Graunte, for his oppressione, becaus he culd not be apprehendit and brocht quick to the justice, he caused him and the rest of his cumpanye be slayne, and thair heidis be presented to Quene regente. At the samyn tyme, the Erle of Cathenis was charged lykwyse for the lyke causes, and was put in warde, first in Invernes, and next in the castell of Edinburgh, quhair he pait gret fowmis of money or he was delivered. Makky, the famyn tyme capitane of Stranever, be the affiftance of the Glengwn, quha had done gret injures and wronges to the cuntrey of Sutherlande nixt adjacent to thame, walde not entre: Thairfoir ye Quene caused the Erle of Sutherlande convene ane gret army, and pas within the cuntrey of Strathnaver; and lykwyse send certain shippes be sey, quhairby he was constrained to rander him selse, and come with Sir Hew Kennedy to the Quene, quhair he remaned in waird in Edinburgh dyveris yeris thairestir; and syndre pledges was receaved for the Glengwn, quha was kepit in sum strenthes for thair guid rule during the Quene regentis pleasour.

Eftir the Quene had maid her refidens in Invernes, and vifited the cuntre of Ros, sho returned to Elgin, Banf, and Abirdene, quhair sho held aris lykwyse; bot not with so gret executione of mennis bodeis, bot rather be compocitione of money; and so returned to Dundie and Perthe, keping the like ordour; and in the nixt winter, caused the Erle of Huntlie, with the counsall and affishance of the bischoppes of Ros and Orknay, and Sir Hew Kennedy, take up privie indytmentis, and hald..... court thairupoun, within the shyres of Invernes, Elgin, Fores and Nardin, quhair thair was a gret nomber execut, quhilk maid the cuntrey to be haldin in gret quietnes thairestir. And here is to be remembred, that in all this jornay and progres quhair the Quene Regent and her companie did pas, sho was receaved verrey honorablie, and intertenit sumpteouslie in the nobill mennis, prelattis and barrouns house, so that the Frenche men praised the same verrey meikill.

About this tyme, thair come ane gret ship, and with hir a pink, furth of Muscovia, bowin toward Ingland with ane ambassadour frome the Emperor of Muscovia, quhilk ship and pink was drevin be gret stormes and windis apoun the northest of Scotlande, at Kynardis heid, within the cuntrey of Buchane, quhair a gret nombre of thair cumpanie was dronit and boith the shippes, the moist pairt of his guidis losed be the wrake of the sey; bot the ambassadour him selfe was saved, with a gret part of his cumpanie, and was weill intertenit be the cuntreymen, and convoyit thairfre to Edinburgh to the Quene Regent, quha efter guid intertenement caused the Lord Hwme accompanie him to Berwik in the moneth of Februar thairestir.

All this tyme, thair was gret and hoit ware betuix the King of France and King Phillip of Spaine, quha had new receaved the government and possession of the Low Countres of Flanders, Holand, Zelland and the rest; and for his support Quene Marie of Inglande send and denunced warre to the King of France; and sho send ane army of ten thowsand men, the Erle of Penbruch being appointed thair generall of Flanders, to the support of King Phillip; and quhen sho was making preparatione thairfoir, sho sende to the Quene Regent, and desyred, that commissioners sould meit apoun the bordouris for intertenement of peace betuix the tua realmes; and to that effect thay met in the moneth of Junij at Carleill; for the pairt of Scotlande, the bischop of Orknay, the deane of Glasgw, Sir Robert Carnegy, and with thame the Maister of Maxwell, wardene of the west merchis; for the pairt of Inglande, Tunstale, bishop of Durahame, Lord Dacres and Lord Whortoun; quha remanit thair certane space, treating apoun redres of sic wrangis and injureis as had bene laitlie doune apoun the bordouris. In this meinquhyle, thair arrived ane gentill man furth of France be the west sey, fend to Quene Regent, declaring that the Quene of Ingland had fend and declared to him be ane of hir harraultis, callit Clarentious, and had ane army in redines to be transported in Flanders for the supporte of King Phillip hir husbande aganis him; thairfoir desyred hir to move the nobilitie of Scotlande to make war aganis Inglande, be the quhilk thay mycht be conftraned to retire thair army within thair awin realme agane. The Quene Regent being not onwillinge to forduart that thing mightly in her power, to the contentatione and pleasour of the King of France and hir freindis, sho caused suddentlie make ane conventione of the lordis at Newbottle, quhair sho persuadit thame emistelie to move the war aganis Ingland; bot thay confydering the same rather to procead for pleafour of the King of France, nor for defence of thair awin realme, principallie haifling the commissioners of Scotlande lying at Carleill for redres to be had apoun the bourdoris, and that Ingland was willinge to keip peace with thame, it maid thame thairfoir to be laith to aggre to hir defyris, bot gaif differing ansuer to the Quene Regent. Bot sho be the counfall of hir French capitanis, thinking to entre onis the warris, quhairby the Scottismen suld be constrained to go forduart in the mater, fend Monfieur Dofell and Capitane Charlebus with all thair garnefonis of Frenche men fuddantlie to Dumbar; and fre that caufed thame entir in Heymouth, not far distant frome Berwicke, and fortefie the famyn most stronglie, to the gret annoyance of Inglande; and thairfoir the Inglismen being in Berwicke perceaving thair interprice, send furth to make impediment thairto, quhair thair was hott scarmushing amangis thame, bot yit the warke of fortificatione was fett fordwart. And the Quene Regente in the meintyme, fend with all speid to the Scottis commissioners lying at Carleill, to caus thame retire thame self within Scotland, as they did shortlie, albeit not without gret hasfard and perrell to haif bene retened thair, gif thai had tareit ij houris longer than thay did in Inglis ground.

The lordis being with the Quene at Newbottill, hering of Monfieur Dofellis procedingis, thay culd do no utherwyis nor aggre to the Quenes Regentis defyris; and thairfoir thay fend ane harrauld to the Quene of Ingland, to defyre hir to retire hir army furth of France, or ellis, conforme to the ancient leage and confederacie ftanding betuix Scotlande and France, thay behaved to denunce war; and gaif commissione prefentlie to the said harrauld to do the same, quha passit and sulfilled the pointis of his commissione; and quhill he was in this jornay, the Quene appointed the Erle of Huntlie generall liuetennent apoun the bordouris, with certane cumpaneis of horsmen and suit men to await upoun him; quha acceptit the charge and past to the bordouris, and remaned at Dunse in the Merse, quhair he prepared all thingis necessar for the war; and eftir the returning of the harrald frome Ingland, he caused the Lord Hwm wardane of the eist merchis maik the first raid within Ingland, quhair he brint divers townis, spulyeit and tuik awaye gret praye of guidis, in the beginning of the monethe of Julij; and fre that furth, the said erle accumpaneit with the Scottis men and Frenche men maid sindre incursionis within Ingland, burning and spulyeing the cuntrey, but any gret resistance, saissing onlie sum litell scarmishis that the souldioris of Berwick wald sum tyme make for the fassione. And in the meintyme, the Quene caused quarters to be keipt on the bordouris, for assistance to the Erle of Huntlie livetennent, quhill the conventione of the gret army in October nixt.

Quhill thay war thus biffe occupiet apoun the bordouris, the Quene Regent caused affemble ane gret army furth of all the pairtis of the realme; quha convenit at Kelso in the moneth of October, quhair sho maid ernist persuatione to the nobilitie to pas within Ingland, and invaid the famin with fyre and fword. Bot thay taiking to be adwyfed thair upoun, past our the Watter of Tueid to Maxwellheuch to make thair generall mustoris, and estir advisment to gyf ansuer unto the Quene. Bot eftir lang and guid deliberance, the Duik of Chattillero, quha was appointed livetennent generall of the army, accumpaneit with the Erles of Huntly, Argyle, Cassillis, and findre utheris nobill men, come to the Quene and delated unto hir, that thai thocht it sufficient aneuch to thame to haif moved weir aganis Ingland, and to haif maid fo great invafions as thay had done alredy, be the Erle of Huntlie livetennent of the bordours, all the iij monethes preciding; and gif it war hir pleafour, thai wald remane with thair haill fortis apoun the bordouris fo lang as the army mycht be fuftened together, abyding gif the Inglifmen walde mak any invasione; bot that culd not think it for the weill of thair realme to pas within Ingland with thair hoill army at that present, to haffard batle furth of thair cuntrey, thair princes being absente and of les aige; thairfoir defyred hir most humelie to take the samyn in guid pairt. Bot yit the Quene beinge impacient of thair ansuer, wald not defyre thame to remaine any longer apoun the bordouris, les nor thay wald enter within Ingland. And thairfoir, in a gret coler and anger gaif thame licence all to depairt, leiffing only the Frenche men in Haymouth, with certane cumpaneis of horimen and fuit men; and fre that daie furth, the Quene Regent could nevir aggre with the nobilitie; and on the uther pairt, findre of thame foucht be all meanes for to raife fum feditione within the cuntrey aganis hir and the Frenche; and to that effecte thair was mony conventions keipt in dyvers nuikis of the realme all the nixt yeir following. And amangis all politique devyles, ingenious and craftie inventionis, none was thocht fo guid to ferve thair turne, and gif fo guid a cullour to thair interprice, as the cullour of reformatione of the religion; thinking that thairby the hoill nobilitie mycht be brocht to one aggrement, and onder that pretence to take armour and go to the feildis; and being onis entered, and showing thair faces aganis the authoritie, thay mycht be the moir easelie persuadit to concur to the expelling of the Frenche men furth of the realme. And to that effect, thay fend in divers partis of Almany, for findre ministers and precheouris to cum in Scotland; as thay did in the nixt yeir followinge.

During the tyme of thir troblis in Scotland, thair was verrey gret warris betuix the King of France and King Phillip of Spane, apoun the fronters of France, and mony nobill men war taikin also be ane gret affault and force of King Phillips army shortlie thaireftir; quhilk moved the King of France to haift the mariage of the Quene of Scotlande with the Dolphin his sone, soner nor his purpose was befoir; fearing that by this and sic lyke ourthrowes and accedentis, the estatis of Scotlande shuld be fundin the moir unwilling to accomplishe the mariage; and thairfoir the King fend to the Quene Regent in Scotland, message defyring hir to assemble ane parliament, and thairintill be the adwyse of the estaitis, to appoint certan commissioners to pas in France for accomplishment of the mariage, and to aggree to sic lyk conditionis as war necessar to be treated, for the perpetuall aggreement of boith the realmes.

Swa the Quene Regent being most willing to satisfie the Kingis defyre, caused convene ane parliament of the hoill estatis in Edinburgh. in the monethe of December nixt, quhair thair was elected and chosin, be univerfall confent of the thre estatis, certane nobill, wyse and discreit men, James Betoun archebishop of Glasgw, Robert Reid bishop of Orknay, prefident of the college of justice, James Stewart priour of Sanct Androis, for the clargy; George Leslie Erle of Rothes, Gilbert Kennedy Erle of Cassillis, George Settoun Lord Setoun, James Fleming Lord Fleming, for the nobilitie; and John Erskin laird of Dun, proveft of Montrois for the burgeffis; ambaffadouris and commissioners to pas in the realme of France as representinge the estatis, and thairto contract the mariage of the most excellent princes Marie Quene of Scotlande, our Soverane, with Frances, Dolphine, and eldest fone and apperande air to Henry King of France, and to end and folemnisat the famyn; quhairupoun thair was sufficient commissionis and instructionis maid to thame be the hoill estatis of the parliament, and thay acceipt the famyn apoun thame; and eftir dew preparatione maid for thair viage, thay embarqued in the moneth of Februar in the raid of Leyth, and faled throw the feyis with gret stormes and tempestious windis, till thay landit in France. About this tyme in the moneth of Januar, the duik of Gwyse, accumpaneid with Monsieur Daumell his brodir, Marchall Strossy, Monsieur de Thermes and syndre utheris vailyeant capitanis, merched with a gret army towarde Caleis, being than in the Inglismennis possessione, and laide suddantlie the gret artailyerie to the toun, and dang the same with ordinance; and so gret assaultis was gevin thairto, that the capitanis war constrained to rander the toun to the Duike, apoun sic condicionis as he pleased to aggre unto, upoun the viij daye of Januar 1557; and shortlie thairestir, all the hoill countrey with the toun of Guynes, quhilk was rased, and the castell of Hames, quhilk had bene in the possessione of the Inglismen moir nor two hundrethe yeir besoir, was now holliely randerit and reduced to the King of France obedience, with no les honour to the duik of Guise for this vailyeant interprice so happelie accheved, nor commoditie to the hoill realme of France. And whosone the advertisment was brocht to Scotland thairof, the Quene regent causit mak publick fyris of joy in the principall townis of the realme, for the confortable newis of the same.

At the fame tyme, Charles the fyft Empriour, being aged and fubject to seiknes, and thairsoire retired to Spane to pas the rest of his dayis in quyet and solitarie lys, send ambassadors to the electouris of the impyre, with sufficient commissionis and mandatis to renunce all his authoritie and office of the impyre, in savours of Ferdinande his broder, King of the Romanis; quha was admitted thairto and crownit Empriour be universall consent of the electors, the xvij day of Merche. Not long estir, the said Charles, quha was all his daies a vailyeant and victorious prince, deceissed in Spane in the nixt yeir 1559.

All thingis necessarie for the mariage of the Quene of Scottis with the Dolphine being prepared, and the hoill nobilitie and estatis of the realme of France being convenit at Paris, apoun the xx day of Aprill 1588, in the gret hall of the palice of the Louver, in presens of Kinge Henry of France, of the Quene his wyfe, and gret nomber of cardinallis, duikis, erlis, bischoppis and nobill men, the fianzeillis, utherwyis callit the hand fastinge, was maid with gret triumphe be the cardinall of Loran, betuix the excellent young prince Frances, eldeft fone to the most vailyeant, curageous and victorious prince Henry King of France, and Marie Quene, heritour of the realme of Scotland, ane of the farest, most civile and verteous princes of the hoill world, with gret folempnitie, triumphe and banquating; and upoun the nixt Sonday, being the xxiiij of Aprill, the mariage was folempnizat and compleit betuix thame be the Cardinall of Burboun, Archebishop of Rowen, in Noster damis kirke of Pareis; quhair the bishop of Paris maid ane verrey lerned and eloquent fermon, in prefens and affiftance of the King, Eftir the quhilk thair was als gret magnifique folempniteis used in the kirke, with als gret dignitie and reverence as was possible; quhilk being done, thay entered in to the bischoppis palice, quhair thair was ane sumpteous and princelie denner prepared to the hoill cumpanie; and eftir thay had dyned, thair was used a princely dansinge, called the ball royall, to the gret confort and pleafour of all being thair prefente; and quhosone the balling was endit, thay passed to the gret hall of the pallice royall, quhair thay suped with so gret magnificence, pompte and triumphe, that none of the afliftance thair had evir fene the lyke; and thair prefentlie was gevine to the Dolphine the title of King Dolphine, fwa that he and the Quene was called thaireftir King and Quene Dolphine. The nixt day thay dyned in the fame palice, and eftir denner retired to the Louver, quhair the banquatinge and triumphe was contenowed money dayes thaireftir; during the quhilk tyme thair was findre gret mariages maid in the Court.

During this hoill fymmer, the warris continowit still betuix France and Flanders verey hoit, and lykwyse betuix Scotlande and Inglande, quhair Monsieur Dosell and the Frenche men maid continowall incursionis, and the hoill nobill men and gentill men and substancious yemen keped the bordouris, and accompaned the Frenche men be quartaris, as use is of the realme; and thair was mony gret scarmishis maid with Ingland, quhair sindre was slayne and mony taikin on boith the sydis.

Quhill the realme was in this maner trubled with the warris, thay quha had invented of befoir, at Maxwell heuch, to fleir up fum commotione and feditione aganis the Quene Regent and the Frenche men, begane to put thair practife to executione, and caufed certane preachers cum within the realme, principallie Paul Meffen, Johne Willox, Johne Douglas and certane utheris, quha in divers partis of the realme preached privatlie, and maid fic tumulte and uproir amangis the peple, that thay culd not be conteaned within the boundis of lauchfull obedience. of thame spak verrey sklanderouslie aganis the sacramentis, the authoritie of the kirk and utheris articles of the Catholique religeone; for the quhilk caus thair was ane conventione or provinciall counfall of the hoill prelattis and clargie of the realme affembled at Edinburgh, aboute the ende of the monethe of Julij, quhair findre was accused for herefie, bot nane was executed or punished in thair bodeis, bot ordanit to abjure thair arrouris at the marcatt croce of Edinburgh, apoun Sainct Gelis day the first of September; bot thair was so gret a tumult rased that day on the hie stret of Edinburgh, that thay quha was appointed to do opin pennance war fuddantlie careid away, and the hoill processione of the clargie disperced; the image of Sanct Geill being borne in processione, was taikin perforce fre the beraris thairof, brokin and diffroyed; quhairwith the Quene Regent was hiechlie offendit, and for stanchinge of the lyk truble in tyme cuming, sho appointed the Lorde Setoun to be provest of the toun of Edinburgh, quha keped the same in resonable guid ordour quhill the nixt fymmer thaireftir.

Quhen the ambaffadouris and commissioners of Scotlande had tareit in the courte of France quhill the monethe of August, thay tuik thair leif of the Kinge, the Quene thayre owin Soverane, and of all the nobilitie, being richelie rewardit and propyned with copburdis of silver pairtlie gilt, of sindre sortes, to everie ane of thame, of sic quantitie as was convenient to thair estate and calling. And being honorable dimissed, taiking thair jornay frome Paris, thay come to Deip about the ende of the said monethe, quhair suddantlie all the principall nobill men and prelatis become seik. Bot shortlie thairestir the most of thame, being of the wysest and most vailyeant of the realme of Scotlande, deceisset thair, to the gret hurt of the commoune weill of the realme; for the bishope of Orknay, president of the college of justice, of singular wit, jugement, guid lerning and lyve, with lang experience, decessed in Deip the fixt of September. The Erle of Rothes, ane wyse nobill man and a counsalor of longe tyme, deit also thair the ix of November; and the Erle of Cassillis, lord thesaurer of Scotland, quho was boith wyse and vailyeant, deit thair the xiiij daye of the same monethe: And my Lord Fleming, a nobill young man of guid curage and jugement, deceissed at Paris the xviij day of September thairestir. And swa thair returnit in Scotlande the archebishope of Glasgw, priour of Sanct Androis, the Lord Setoune, and laird of Dun, quha landit at Monros in the monethe of October; estir quhais arryving, the Quene caused proclame a parliament to be haldin in Edinburgh in December followinge.

In the monethe of August in this yeir, ane nobill and wyse man, Archebalde Campbell Erle of Argyle, justice generall of Scotlande, and knycht of the ordour of Sanct Michaell in France, deit; and about the samyn tyme, the bishop of Breachin deceiffit, and the abbot of Cuper was nominat to the bishoperike be the Quene; and Andro Durie bishope of Galloway deit lykwyse, and Maister Alexander Gordoun archebishope of Athenis, was nominat to the same; and David Panter bishope of Ros, and secretar of Scotland, deceifst, and Maister Henry Sinclair dein of Glasgw and president of the college of justice, was nominat thairto; and the abbayis of Melros and Kelso was gevin to the cardinall of Gueis in France, be vertue of the acte of naturalization soirsaide; quhilk abbayis was than vacande be the deceis of the Lorde James, eldest of the Kingis bastarde sonis. That deceifsed about the same tyme the abbot of Bamurinoche; quhilk was gevin to Maister Johne Haye.

About the middis of the monethe of November, Marie Quene of Inglande, pairtlie throuche gret maloncolie for the lose of Calice, and pairtlie throuch confumptione of seiknes, endit hir lyse the xvij day of the same monethe, and in hir place are beutifull and verteous princes, Lady Elizabethe, was proclamed Quene of Inglande, quha joyses the same to thir dais.

At the tyme appointed, the parliament was convenit at Edinburgh in the monethe of December, quhair the effatis of the realme, ondirftandinge the proceding is of the ambaffadouris and commissioneris for thame in France, in contractinge and affiftinge to the Quenis mariage with the Dolphin, thay approved and confermit the famin be univerfall confent, finding guid all that the ambassadours and commissioners had done thair-Thaireftir, in the same parliament, the Quene regent proponit to the estatis, desyring thame to grant ane crowne matrimoniall to the Dolphine of France, fua that he mycht be called and intitulat, King of Scotlande, duringe the matrimonie betuix thame; quhilk was aggreit, and act of parliament maid thairupoun, and all lettres in Scotland styled "Frances and Marie, be the grace of God, King and Quene of Scotland, Dolphyne and Dolphines of Vien," and the feales and conye irnis changed in lyk maner. And the Erle of Argyle, and priour of Sanct Androis, was chosin be the estatis to pas in France with declaratione of the famin, quha eftir the parliament maid fum licklie preparatione to that effect; bot yeat, be counfall of fum utheris, feing a wechtier biffines abill to be fhortlie in hande within the realme, quhairunto thay war cheislie employed, apoun that respect stayit thair jornay and past not in France at that tyme.

The King of France hering of the deathe of Quene Marie of Ingland, and of fic actis of parleament and statutes as sho had maid aganis hir fifter Lady Elizabethe, to debar hir frome the successione of the crowne; considering thairsoir that the Quenis majestie of Scotlande being laitlie mareit to the dolphine his eldest sone, was just heritour of the realme of Inglande, as nerreft and lauchfull to the croun thairof, being onelie dochtir to King James the Fyst of Scotlande, quhois moder Quene Margaret was eldest fifter to King Henry the viij; and thairfoir caused make publict proclamatione in Paris, publishing the Quenis majestie of Scotlande to be Quene of Inglande, Scotlande and Ireland, and caufed hir and the dolphin hir husbande tak the armes of Inglande, and jone with the armes of Scotland and France, and make all thair feales conforme thairto, and mark thair filver plait, brodir thair tapistries, hingers and all uthers thingis with the famyn. And King Henrie being a prince of hiech and magnificque curage, and weill animated and incouraged be the vailyeant Duike of Gueis and his frendis, intendit to recover and obteane the realme of Inglande, as justlie pertening to the Quene of Scotlande; quhilk was the caus of gret truble betuix the Frenche men, Scottismen, and Inglismen, in Scotlande, the nixt twa yeares following, quhill the hoill controverfie was aggreit at the feige of Leith, as eftirwart shall appeare.

In this meintyme the tumult increffed dalie within the realme of Scotland, quhill at last the precheours begouth to preche opinlie in divers partis, and principallie within sum houssis of the toun of Edinburgh; and findre Inglis buikis, ballettis and treateis was gevin furth be thame amangis the people, to move thame to seditione. The Quene regent perceaving the tumult incres, past all the rest of that winter in sumpteous and magnificque banqueting, quhilk sho caused the lordis make severalie in Edinburgh, thinking be that and siclike samiliar intertenement to have stayed all thair interprices; bot nothing culd stay thame frome the same. Thairsoir, at the desyre of sum temporal lordis and barronis, sho caused all the hoill prelattis and principallis of the clargie convene and begin a provinciall counsall in Edinburgh, the seconde day of Merche, quhilk continowit to the x day of Aprill thairestir; and send to thame with the Erle of Huntlie certane articles presented to hir be the lordis and barronis; and thaireftir sho departed to Striveling, leaving the Lord Setoun provest of the toun, to await apoun the prelattis. Quhilkis articles war in effect as followis:—

First, That the commone prayers shuld be permitted to be used publiclie in the parryshe kirkis, and the ministratione of the facramentis, in the Inglis toung.

Secoundlie, That all bischoprikes and uther benifices should be disponit to qualifeat men, to be chosin thair to be the electione of the temporall lordis, and people of thair dyoseis and parochynns.

Thirdlie, That all bishoppis and utheris benefest men suld make residence at their kirkis, and preche be thame selses, conforme to their calling; or utheris to be placed, quho culd best do the samyn.

Fourtlie, That none shuld be admittit in tymes cuming to anye benefice, bot these qua war of sic lernit and utheris qualiteis, as thay culd be thame selfes but helpe of utheris execut thair charge in precheing and ministratione of the sacramentis; with sindre utheris articles to this effect.

Eftir the prelattis had confulted lang thairupoun, thay gaf ansuer to the Quene in this maner. As to the first, they had no power to alter the ordour of publique prayers and administratione of the facramentis, prescryved and observed so mony yeris be the Catholique kirke; and thairsoir wald not agree that any prayers war used publicklie in the volgar tounge, leaving to everye manis discretione to use his private prayers in quhat toung pleased him best. And as to the electione of bishoppis and uther benises men, thay walde wishe that the same ordour quhilk is prescrivit be the cannowne law, in the electione of bishoppis and uther ministers of the kirke, war observed. Bot becaus the nominatione of the prelattis of the realme pertenis principallie to the prince, thairsoir thay remit the ansuer thairsof to be gevin be the prince hir self with hir counsall. As to the uther two articles, tueching the residence of benefest men in executione of thair office in precheing and ministratioun of the facramentis, and that none fuld be promoved to benefices bot thay that are weill qualifeit thairfoir, thay affirmed that thair was no bettir ordour culd be devised nor was prescrivit already be the cannone law and flatutes of thair provinciall counsall to that effect; and thairfoir thay promefed to caus the same be put to dew executione in all pointis. And than presentlie thay maid mony sharp flatutes, and commandit all the bishoppis, abbottis, prioris, deanes, archedeanes and all the reft thair presentlie assembled, and utheris throche all the partis of the realme, to mak thame felffis able, and use thair awin offices according to thair fondationis and callingis, within the space of fax monethes, onder the pane of deprivation; quhilk was the princepall caus that a gret nomber of younge abbottis, priors, deanis and benefeft men affifted to the interprice and practife devyled for the ourthrow of the catholicke religeon, and tumult aganis the Quene and Frenche men, fearing tham felffis to be put at, according to the lawis and flatutes. And so the counsal was endit apoun the x daye of Apryle. Estir the quhilk the Quene regent immediatlie caused summounde Johne Knox, Johne Willox, John Douglas and Paule Meffane, to compeir befoir the justice in Striveling the x day of Maij, onder the pane of rebellioun. Bot thay war be thair fecreit favoraris convoyit to Perth, quhair thair was convenit certane of the princepall barronis of Fyf, Angus and Meirnis, fic as the maister of Lyndsay, the lordis of Tulibarne, Dun, Pettero and dyvers utheris; quha fende the lairde Dun in meffage to the Quene regent, defyring hir to discharge the saide summoundis, quhilk sho wald on no wayis do, bot becaus thay comperit not, sho procedit aganis thame, and caused denunse thame rebellis and put thame to the horne; and thairfoir incontinent eftir the returning of the lairde Dun with the Queins ansuer to Perth, Johne Knox past to the parishe kirke of the toun and maid a publick fermound; declaring that it was most acceptable fervice to God to deftroy and cast doune the altaris, burne

the images, pull downe the religious places and deftroy thame, cast out the monkis and freris, and to make ficlik reformatione. And fwa the multitude of the people and craftismen, being moved speciallie be the perswatione of the sermonde, and encouraged with the presence of the barronis, and one ficht of the Lord Ruthven, thair provefte of the toun, and bailyeis thairof, than presentlie thay pulled downe the hoill altaris, images and tabernacles of the paroche kirke, and brint the famyn; and fre that passed strait way to the abbay of the charter hous, and pullit all the hoill place downe, alfweill the kirk thairof as uther houstes, places, and all the coastlie bigginis quhilkis was maid be King James the First, fundatour thairof, quhilk was the farest abbay and best biggit of any within the realme of Scotlande; and cuttit downe the hoill growing trees and all uther polices; and without any forder flay, past to the gray and black freris, and to the Carmaleittis place callit the Tullielum, and thair pulled thame all three downe to the erd, with fic rage and furie of the people, that scarsie was thair lefte ane stone standing apone another; and all the freris put furth of thame, and spulyeit of all that they had; and fre that past to all parishe kirks and uther places thairabout, and maid the lyk reformatione. And thair first thay tuike to thame the name of the Congregatione, and fet furth proclamationis, declaring the caus moving thame to proceide of zeill and conscience to remove idolatrie and fuperstitione, and to place finceir and trew religione within the realme; and wreit findre lettres through all the partis of the realme, to perfuse the lordis and barronis to affift to thame in thair interprice, as findre did, quhilk maid shortlie a gret tumult in divers partis of the realme.

Quhowsone knawlege was brocht to the Quene regent of this tumult and uproir begun in Perth, sho send suddantlie Monsieur Dosell and his Frenche men, and caused thame cum to Striveling; and lykewyse for the Duik of Chattilliro, the Erle of Argyle, Atholl, Mershell, and for divers utheris nobill men furth of findre partis of the realme, quho come to Striveling; sho being accompaneit with thame, and with the archebishoppis of San& Androis, Glasgw, bishoppes of Dunkell, Dumblane, priour of Sanct Androis, abbottis of Cuper, Dumfermeling; and mony uther prelattis, past thair fre to the toun of Perth, quhair thay war receaved be the Lord Ruthvene proveft of the toun, and princepallis thairof. Bot the cheif authoris of the commotione war departed or thair cuming; and fue the Quene tareing thair certane dayes, tuik deliberatione be the adwyfe of the hoill counfall, quhat was best to be done for flanching of those trobles; and quhill thay war advising thairupoun, the Erle of Argyle and priour of Sanct Androis departed furth of the toun fecreitlie, but knowlege of the Quene or counfall, and past to the citie of Sanct Androis, quhair thay used the same ordour quhilk was begun at Perthe of befoir, and caufed cast down alteris, burne the images of all the kirkis within that citie, and to pull doune the freris places, kirkis and bigginis, with the college kirke of Heuche, and all uther privat chappellis within the toun; and convenit a gret cumpanie of the cuntrie men, and passed to the abbayis of Lundoris, Balmerino, the parishe kirkis within Fyse, and did the like; and frome that to Cuper, quhair thay remaned.

The Quene regent hering of that departing and proceding is, be the adwyse of the counsal committed the toun of Perthe to capitane James Stewart of Cardonell and capitane James Culane, quha remaned thair with sax hundreth souldioris; and the Quene with hir hoill cumpanie past to Falklande, and in the nixt day send to the Erle of Argyle and priour of Sanct Androis, being in Cowper, and commandit thame to repaire to Falklande, quhilk thay resuled to do; and thairsoire the hoill cumpanie of the Frenchemen merched forduart to haif apprehendit thame, quhill thay come to the mure of Couper, quhair lykwyse the Scottismen come furth and mustered in thair fight; and quhen boith the armeis was reddye to have joyned in battell, the Duike of Chattilliro and the Erle Mershell travelled fo eirnestlie betuix thame, that thay caused the Erle of Argyle and priour of Sanct Androis, with thair hoill cumpaneis, retire to Sanct Androis; and fo returning with the Frenche men to Falklande, thay perfuadit the Quene to returne to Edinburgh with hir hoill cumpanie, and thair to fend for the nobilitie, and be thair advyle take ordour quhat was best to be done for flanchinge of the prefent gret trubles, quhilk was apperand to be throughe all the realme. And the nixt day thaireftir departed frome Falklande to Edinburgh, quhair was convenit all the foirfaid nobill men and prelattis, with the Erlis of Huntlie, Bothwell, Craufurd and mony utheris; bot in the meintyme, the Erle of Argyle and the priour determined to recover the toune of Sanct Johnstone, and to [make reformatioun] in all uther borrows townis in the fouthe and west pairts of Scotlande; and to that effect fend to the Erle of Glencarne, Lord Boyd and fyndre utheris of the west pairtis, to cum forwart and jone with thame; as thay did at the faid toun of Sanct Johnstone, quhilk thay feged; quhairof the Quene regent being advertefed, fend the Erle of Huntlie, defyring thame to defift frome thair interprice and leif the feging of the toun; quhilk thay wald on no wayis do, bot persevered in their persuit quhill the toun was randered to thame, quhair thaye tareit certane daies; and in the mein seasone, the communiteis of the townis of Dundie and Perth past to the abbay of Scone, situat within a myle to the toun; and becaus fum reftrainct was maid unto thame at thair first enteres, thay thairfoir brint the maift parte of the kirke and hoill abbay, spulyeit and diffroyed the hoill policie thairof; and fuddantlie thaireftir thay past to Strivelinge, quhair thay used the lyk ordour, and pulled down the black and grey freris kirkes, and hoill places; and but ony long tarie past fordwart to Linlythgw, quhair thay caused pull down the frearis lykwise; and flaved in that toun certane space for the westland men, quha was appointed to joyne with thame, to the intent thay mycht go with greter forces toward Edinburgh.

The Quene regent, eftir sho had hard thair answer reported be the Erle of Huntlie, that thay wold not leave thair interprice, bot that thay procedit with gret rigour, and purposed to cum to the toun of Edinburghe; thairfoir sho send for the provest and baillies of Edinburgh, and required thame to defend the toun, and not to fuffer the Erle of Argyle and the congregatione enter thair intill; and offered thame the affiftance and forces of the Frenche men, to remane within the toun for thair defence. Bot the baillies gave answere, that the multitude of the commone people was so effectionat to the new alteratione, specialie for hoip of the spulye of the freris places and kirkis, thay culd not be governit nor rewled; and thairfoir thay wald not take upoun hande to debar those lordis furth of the toune; quhilk moved the Quene regent with the hoill cumpanie of the lordis and Frenchemen to depairt prefentlie furth of the abbaye towart Dumbar; bot or thay war past four myle frome Edinburgh, the Erle of Argyle and all his cumpanie entered in the toune of Edinburgh without anye refishance, quhair thay war weill receaved; and fuddantlie the black and gray freris places war fpulyeit and cassin doune, the haill growing treis plucked up be the ruittis; the Trinitie College and all the prebendaris houffis thair of lykwyle caffin doun; the altaris and images within Sanct Gelis kirke and the kirke of Feild destroyed and brint; and thairfre past to the Quenis palice of Halierudhous, and intromitted with the Quenis hoill movables and furnessing being thair intill; siclyke tuke the conve hous and conve irins fre Maister Robert Richardsone than thesaurar, and caused him deliver to thame all the reddy conyeit money quhilk was in his handis, of no fmall quantitie; and than stablished ane counsall, proclamed lettres in the Quene thair foveranis name, be the advyle of the lordis of hir fecreit counsall as thay called thame felffis, publishing the caus of thair

About this tyme the Maister of Maxwell, quha was keped present in the castell of Edinburgh, departed furth of the same be ane corde our the wall thairof, quhair thair was certane h. ries in redines with frendis of his owne, quha receaved and convoyide him in his owne countrey; and sone thairestir he joyned him selfe with the lordis of the Congregatione.

Quhill thay tareid in this maner in Edinburgh, the Quene regent, be the advyse of the hoill counsall, willing to caus thame depairt furthe of that toun, caused the Frenche men merche forduart, accumpaneit with the Duike of Chattilliro, Erlis of Huntlie, Bothwell, Mortoun, lordis Setoun, Borthuike and monye utheris barronis and gentill men, quha come apoun the suddane to the linkis of Leithe, of purpois to geve battell to the loirdis of the Congregatione, or ellis to caus thame departe furth of the toune of Edinburghe. The lordis being in Edinburgh hering of thair suddane cuming, war affrayed, and notwithstandinge, come furth of the toune and assembled thair hoill forces together, but cald not be sufficient nomber to resist aganis the Frenche men; and thair-foir be mediatione and labouris of the Erle of Huntlie, quha travelled ernistlie for stanchinge of bluidshed that day, caused xij lordis and barronis meit on everie syde; quhair thair was ane appointment maid, contayning certane articles of the effect following, upoun the xxiij of Julij.

And lykwyse the palice of Halierudhous should be left and randered to the keper thairof, or to any uther having sufficient pouer of the Quene, in the same estait as it was receaved, and that befoir thay depairt of the toun of Edinburgh; and for keping of the twa foirsaidis articles, the Lord Ruthven and the Lorde of Pettarro was delivered as pledges be thame to the loirdis commissioneris for the Quenis pairt. The saidis lordis of the Congregatione, and all those that dependis apoun thame, shall remane subjectis and obedient to the authoritie of the King and Quene thair soveranis, and to the Quene regent, and shall obey all lawis and customis of the realme, as evir thay war wount befoir this truble and controversie, except in that quhilk concernis the religeone, as shalbe heirestir specisijt.

The faidis lordis of the Congregatione shall not truble nor molest any preliattis or kirkmen be way of deid in thair persones, nor shall make any impediment to thame to jois thair rentis, profsittis and dewtes of thair benifices, swa that thay shall use frelie and dispone thair upoun, conforme to the lawis and customes of the realme, quhill the x day of Januar nixt following.

These articles being concludit, the Frenchemen entered within the toun of Leith; and upoun the nixt day thairestir, the hoill lordis departed furth of Edinburgh toward the west cuntrey. The Quene regent come frome Dumbar to the palice of Halieruidhous, quhair sho remaned; and becaus it appeared that the trubles and tumultis was stayed be the former aggreement, the Quene licensed the Duike of Chattilliro to pas to Hamiltoun, the Erlis of Huntlie and Mershell northward, and all the rest of the lordis to pas to thair owin housses.

Quhill this commotione was in this wyis handled in Scotlande, thair was peace concludit betuix King Henry of France and King Phillip of Spangye, and the King of Spane mareit the King of Frances eldeft dochtir called Elizabeth, be the Duike of Alvay his commissioner at Paris, the xxij day of Junij, quhair thair was gret triumphe maid; bot in the middis thairof, apoun the last day of the same moneth, King Henry running his spear in the liftis at Paris, in the rew of San&t Anthony, he was strikin with the stroke of ane speare and hurt in the sace, quhairof he lay seik in his ludgeing in the Turnallis, and deceifed thairestir the x day of Julij. And shortlie eftir his deceife, Frances his eldest sone being xvj yeir of aige, and mareit upoun the Quenis Majestie of Scotland, was crownit King of France; and he hering of the trubles than being in Scotlande, fend ane wyse and vailyeant capitane, called Monfieur de la Broche, and the bischope of Ameanis, with tow doctours of theologie, to affift the Quene regent with thair counfall, for pecefeing of the trubles within Scotlande; quha arrivit at Leithe in the moneth of September; and in the meintyme, the French men was fortefling the toun of Leithe, to the effect thay myght make refidence thair intill, to refift all affaltis that myght be maid aganis thame.

Duringe this feasone, the Erle of Argyle and utheris of the west cun-

trev, perfuadit the Duik of Chattilliro to jone with the lordis of the Congregatioune; quhilk he did, the rather that his sone the Erle of Arrane being capitane of the Scottis cumpanie in France and weill treted, was fecretlie departed for the religeon to Geneva; and fre that was convoyed be ane Inglisman, callit Maister Randell, into Ingland, quhair he was well treated and encouraged be the Quene to go foruart with this interprice, as he did erniftlie eftir his coming in Scotlande.

About the ende of September, the Duik of Chattilliro and lordis of the Congregatione, fend to the Quene, and defyred hir to caus the Frenche men leif the forteseing of the toune of Leithe, quhilkis sho refused; and thairfoir thay convenit thair hoill forces, and come forduart to flave the famyn. The Quene heiring thairof, entered within the toun of Leith with hir hoill Frenche men, and the bishoppis of Sanct Androis, Glasgw, Dunkell, Lordis Setoun, abbote of Dumsermelinge, and findre utheris, and fortefiet and keipt the toun; and the Duike and lordis of the Congregatione come to Edinburgh, and prepared for the fegeing of Leith; bot the Frenche men was bettir furneffed of gret ordinance and uther fmall artailyerie and all kinde of munitione nor thay, and was not contente to be feged within the toun, bot used daylie, and maid findre scarmishis, and at last thay come forduart with thair hoill forces, purposing to invayde the toune of Edinburgh; bot the Scottis men come furth of the toun, albeit oute of ordour, and encontered the Frenche men apoun the croftis befyde the abbay of Holieruidhous, betuix Leithe and Edinburgh; quhair the Scottismen was put to flyte, and capitane Alexander Halieburtin with mony utheris was flayne, and the Frenchmen persewit the chase evin to the poirtis of Edinburgh, and had maid gret flauchter, war not thair was twa gret cannonis schot furth of the castell at the Frenche army, quhilk stayed thame frome forder perfuit, so thay retered agane to Leithe. In the meintyme, the Duik of Chattilliro and the rest of the congregatione, hering of the diffait of thair cumpanie, departed fuddantlie furth of Edinburgh to the west cuntrey; and the nixt day, the Quene Regent and Frenche men come to Edinburgh, quhair ane gret pairt of thame remaned with the Quene all the nixt winter, the rest travelling in the cuntrey, as estirward will appeir.

In the moneth of November, Monsieur Martigo, ane vailyeant and curageous capitane, arryved at Leith, with ane thusand guid souldioris, and he was appointed crownell of the hoill Frenche army, quha extendit in nowmer to thre thusand and fyve hundreth men, befydis twa anseinges of Scottismen, ondir the gyding of James Steward of Caradonell and Anthony Kennedy, thair capitanis for the tyme,

The Duike of Chattilliro and lordis of the Congregatione, feing the army of the Frenche men increffed, swa that thay be thair owne forces onlie war not abill to refift thame, fend the younge Lorde of Lethingtoun to the Quene of Inglande, defyring support of hir to expell the Frenche men furth of Scotlande; quhilk the Quene of Inglande granted glaidlie, not onelie for the pleasour and sauftie of Scottismen, bot principallie because sho feared the hastard of hir owne realme and estate, in case the Frenche men war suffered to make residence in that realme; and thairfoir the Quene of Ingland fend the Duik of Norfolk to Berwike, quhair thair come the Erle of Argyle, the priour of Sanct Androis, the Maifter of Maxwell, and the young laird of Lethingtoun, and maid ane contracte for receaving support of Inglande; prometing thair faythfull concurrence and affiftance to the Inglismen, during the King of France lyftyme, and ane yeir eftir; with findre utheris heiddis contened in the appointment; and for the keping of the fame, the loirdis of Scotlande entered pledges within Ingland, quha remaned quhill eftir the deceis of the King of France. The pledges war David Hammiltoun, third fone to the Duik of Chattilliro, ane uther called Campbell, coufing to the Erle of Argyle, Robert Douglas, brodir to the priour of Sanct Androis, and laird of Lochleavin, and ane fone of the Lorde Ruthvenis.

The contracte of Inglande being endit, the lordis preiffed to fet fourduart thair interprice through all the pairtis of the realme, and thairfore the Duike of Chattilliro, Erle of Argyle, Erle of Arrane and utheris, come to the toun of Glasgw, and caused tak done the images and altaris, and intromitted with the bischoppis castell and rentis, and pat in certane gentill men to keip the samyn. The Frenche men hering thairof, past at the Quenis commandment, be the persuatione of the bischope of Glasgw, [and] merched forduart to Glasgw with thair hoill cumpanie; the bischoppe thairof, Lordis Symple, Setoun, Ros, Hacket, and divers utheris being with thame, recovered the castell againe, and tareit ane nycht in the cittie, and returned on the morne to Kirkintulloch, and swe fre that to Leithqw and Edinburgh.

At the same tyme, ane cumpanie of Frenche men being in Striveling, past be the brige thairof into Fyse, and downe the coaste of Forth, with twa thousand men, of purpose to have gone to the cittie of Sanct Androis, and to have forteseit that toun, and keipt the same. At thair cuming to Kingorne, thair convenit together in Fyse the Erles of Arrane, Erle of Rothes, the priour of Sanct Androis, Lorde Ruthven, Maister of Lindsa and dyveris utheris; being albeit sew in nomber, yit thay daylie scarmisched the Frenchmen, and wold not suffer thame to go any space from the coast syd; and in the scarmishis thair was divers Frenche men slayne, and specialie a capitane called with threttie of his souldioris, above Kirkcaldie; and sew Scottismen was slayne or hurt, except the Erle of Sutherlande, quha being send be the Erle of Huntlie to the Quene Regent, happinit in cumpanie with the Scottis lordis at the priking besyd Kingcorne, quhair he was evill hurt be the shot of ane caliver in the arme, furth of the Frenche army.

And the Frenche men being in their progres at the mouth of the N n water of Leavin in Fyfe, thair arryvit in thair fight ane navie of shippis, quhilk at the first kenning thay beleaved to have bene Frenche shippis; bot shortlie thairestir perceaving that to be the Inglis navie, thay retired thair army with gret diligence to the Brunt Ilande, quhair thay past the ferry of Kingcorne in boittis and crayers to Leith, and thair ernestlie travelled, forteseing the toun of Leith, casting gret sole about the same, and making gret block houses for thair desence thair.

The Inglis shippes come to the raid of Leyth, quhair thay kest thair anckeris, the x day of Januar. The Quene Regent fend unto the vice admirall, quha was capitane of the navie, called Maister Winter, and askit at him for quhat caus he was come in those watters; quha ansuered, that he had bene on the feyis ferching pirattis, and in cais any of thame wold cum in the firth, he was cum to await apoun thame. Albeit this was his ansuer, the princepall caus was to stop any Frenche men to land furth of thir shippes, in case any war send furth of France, and als to keip the fort of Incht keyth on victualed, and that none of the Frenche men might ishe furth of Leyth be sey, during the tyme of the sege of the toun. And in the meintyme, thair was ane army of aucht thousande men fend to Berwik, under the governement of the Duike of Norfolke generall thairof; and the hoill army was fend in Scotlande with the Lord Gray, being appointed liuetennent thairto; quha come to the lynkis befyd the toun of Leithe, on Satirday the faxt day of Aprill; quhair at thair first arryvinge, or thay fet down thair campt, Monfieur Martigo, crowner of the Frenche army, ishewt furth of the toun with ix hundrethe harcabushers of French men, to ane litell know called the Haik hill, quhair thair was gret contenowall and hat scarmishing betuix the Inglismen and French men, with harcabushers, culvering is and pistolettis, quhilk lefted the space of fyve or fax houris, in the quhilk thair was mony Inglismen and Frenche men also slane, and dyvers hurt; and the said Martigo reterred him felfe and his cumpanie in ordour to the toune of Leith, and the Inglismen set down thair campte, and planted thair gret ordinance befyd the said hill.

The Lorde Graye fend from Muffilburgh to the Quene Regent, being than in the castell of Edinburgh, and defyred sum abstinence to be takin for xxiiij houris, to the effect he mycht fend to hir two of his counfall, to declare to hir the caus of the cuming of the army, and to defyre fic thingis as mycht flanche the shedding of bloode quhilk appeared; quhairwith the Quene being content, and fend ane harrault to Levth to caus the faid affurance be taikin; bot or he come to the toune the scarmishe was begun. In this meintyme, the Lorde Gray fend Sir George Hawart and Sir James Croftis to the castell of Edinburgh, to fpeik with the Quein to this effect; quha had long conference with hir, apoun the blok hous at the utter yeit of the faide castell, the fame day, during the tyme of the scarmishe; quhair thay declared the caus of the cuming of the army was as is abone mentioned, and defyred the Quene to caus the Frenche men to depairt furth of the realme of Scotland, and thay promeded in that case, the Inglis army should returne agane presentlie in thair owin realme, and should not inquiet or trubill Franch or Scottis; quhairupoun the Quene tuik to be advysed quhill the nixt day, that sho mycht consult with the princepallis of thame quha was within the toune of Leyth, defyring it should be lesum to hir to fend to thame to that effect, quhilk was aggreit. And so on the morne, sho fend Drummounde ane trumpetour with ane lettre to Monfieur de la Broche, to the effect foirsaid, and directed him to pas to the Inglis campte, and get ane gyde with him to the toun of Leyth, as was aggreit, quhair thair was ane appointit to go with him. But sone estir his departing fre the Lord Grays campt, he was fuddantlie fend for againe, and his lettres taikin frome him, and commandit to returne to the castell of Edinburgh to the Quene, and declare thay wold haif no commouning. bot be revenged on the Frenche men for the flauchter of thair men the night preceding. And on this way is all commouning was discharged, and the sege confermed, with most sharpe persuit and stronge defending on ather syd.

Than the Inglismen begouth to cast trinches apoun the south syd of the toun, and beggit ane litill mont, quhilk thay called Mounte Pellam, and placed thair ordinance thairupoun; bot the samen was so far distant from the toun, that thai mycht not do so gret hurt to the same be thair ordinance, as thay intendit.

At this feige, the Lord Gray livetennent of the Inglis army ludged in Leftalrig toun in the Deanis hous, and mony of all thair hors and demilances. The fuitmen, with thair capitanis, ludgit in thair tentis and pailyeons on the fouth and fouth eft fyd of the toun of Leith, and diveris Scottis lordis campit on the feildis with thame, fic as the Erlis of Argyle, Arrane, Glencarne, Rothes, Lordis Boyde, Uchiltre, the priour The Duik of of Sanct Androis, the Maister of Maxwell and utheris. Chattilliro and divers utheris remaned in the abbay of Halieruidhous, and fumtyme in the toun of Edinburgh. Thair was with the Quene in the castell, the bischope of Sanct Androis, the bishop of Dunkeld, the Erle Mershell, the Lord Erskin, capitane of the castell, Maister James M'Gill, clarke of the register, the provest of Dunglas, callit Maister Abrahame Creychtoun, and findre utheris. The Quene all the tyme of this fege was wonderous foir vexit with feiknes till hir death; yit sho ceased not continowalie to send message to the lordis to have all matteris taikin up and aggreit betuix thame and the Frenche men; and to that effect fend for the Erle of Huntlie, quha come fre the north lande, and remaned in the toun of Edinburgh a certane space. He returned north againe, taikand gret laboris betuix the Quene and the lordis, to have all agreit. Bot feing he culd proffeit no thing thairintill, eftir he had tareit in Edinburgh a certane space, he returned north agane during the tyme of the faid feige.

In this meintyme, the Inglismen lying encamped upoun the south est fyd of the toun, befyd Mount (Pellam,) ichot many gret ichottis of cannonis and gret ordinances, at the parrishe kirk of Leyth and Sanct Anthoneis steple, quhilk was fortesiit with mounted artailyerie thair upoun be the French men, and brak down the fame. Bot apoun the Pasche Mounday, being the xy day of Aprile, the French men ishewd furth of the towne at xj howres of the day, and entered in the Inglis mennis trinches befoir thay culd be advertifed, and maid gret flauchter upoun the watches and utheris, quha come reschlie to the alarum without armor; amangis the quhilk the Maister of Gray, being the Lorde Grayis eldest fone of Ingland, was hurt, and mony flayne. Bot they feing thay culd do no gret hurt to the wallis of the toune be ordinance in that manner, thay keift new trinches apoun the fouthe and fouth west partis of the toun, and biggit ane mount thair, quhilk thay called Mont Somerfett, quhair thay placed thair ordinance, and shot at the wallis so many shottis that ane gret parte thairof fell down; and the Inglismen perceaving the famyn, thinking to haif interes thairat in the toune, one day in the morning befoir day thay gaif ane gret brafe and affault to the fame, with ane thousand fouldioris Inglis and Scottis, with mony ledderis maid to that effect, quha affailyeit the same verrey stoutlie; bot the wallis was fo curageouslie defendit be the Frenche men, that the Inglifmen war repulfed and gret number of thame flayne. The Inglismen confidering that thay had gottin no advantage be this affault, thay invented ane uther moven, and caused mak ane litell hill of erd apoun the west syid of the watter of Leith, of ane gret heicht, quhilk thay callit Mont Falcone, and caused mont and place gret ordinance thairupoun, quhilkis war shot contenowalie in the toun, speciallie at the ludgeingis on the schoir syd; for thay did gret skaith, for whatsumevir travelled within the toun, was markit by thame quha was on that mont, and shot at be certain stelled pecis of ordinance appointed for that purpois.

All the tyme of this fege the Frenche men oftymis ishewd apoun the fandis of Leith, and sum tymis upoun the Inglis trinches, quhair thair was wonderous sair skarmishing and money slayne, alswell Scottis men as Frenche or Inglis; amangis the quhilkis, Capitane Kennedy, quha was within the toun, and yong Harrie Drommond was slayne, and the lairde of Cleische without the toun was slayne also.

This army of the Inglismen was well furneshed of all kinde of victuallis and provisione necessar, furth of all pairtis of the realme, upour resonable prices; but the Frenchemen within Leyth had gret penuritie of all kinde of victuallis, so that they war constrayed to eit their owine horses, and esteame the slesche of theme moir delitious nor evir they did venisone of befoir. Their was also gret skarsetye of victuallis in Inche keyth, yeat nodir of theme wold rander their streathis, hoping for releif surth of France, quhilk the King prepared to be send with the Merques of Albuise; but their was sic ane suddane tumult and seditione raised at Ambose aganis the Kinge, that the same stayed the said support, and mony uther goode purposes.

In this means tyme the Quene regent, being fair vexit with feiknes, perceaving the tyme of hir death to approche, fend for the Duike of Chattilliro and all the lordis of Scotland that was in the toune of Edinburgh and campte; quha come to hir to the caftell of Edinburgh, quhair sho maid unto thame ane godlie and wyse exhortatione; persuading thame to unitie and concord with thair ancient freind and confiderattis of France, and now mair tendir to thame nor ever thai weare of befoir, be reasone of the mariage of the Quene thair soverane with the King of France; and shew unto thame that Ingland used thame onelie bot as instrumentis to serve thair owine turne; and the support quhilk thay had sende to expell the Frenche men was onelie in respect of thair owne saissie, and not for the weill of any Scottis man; and declared for hir owine pairte, sho savored the weill of the realme of Scotlands alfwell as France, be reasone sho had the honour to be Quene and regent thairof, and hir dochtir heretable Quene of the samyn; and yf evir sho did or attempted any thing quhilk semit, or apparit to the nobill men, utherwayis nor as sho did than presentlie declair, sho affermit the famyn to haif bene rather for lacke of wisdome and judgment nor for want of guid will; and gif God wold prolong hir daies, sho wald amend the famyn; and gif it plesed him to call hir to his mercye, sho prayit thame most hartlie to acknowledge thair duetie unto the Quene thair foverayne, and keip thair ancient frendshipe with the King and realme of France thair confederattis, and to make ane guid concorde and appointment with the Frenche men in the toun of Leyth, quha wold accept the same gladlye, to the effect that thay and the Inglismen boithe myght depairt furth of Scotlande; for sho feared grettumlie that, in case the French men war departit, the Inglismen wald remane and fubject the cuntrey to thair obediens; and thairfoir prayit all guid Scottismen, to haif respect to the libertie and weill of his cuntrey. Estir sho had spokin ane lang space on this wayis to the lordis, with mony teares, sho defyred thame to forgif hir of any thing sho had done to offende any of thame during hir remaning in Scotlande; quhilk thay glaidlie granted unto hir; and ficlicke sho remitted thame hartlie all offences quhilkis thay had done aganis hir; and fo divers of thame and thay all tuike thair leif and returned to Edinburgh, and to thair campt.

During this fege of Leith, thair was raifed divers gret trubles in findre partis of the realme, and principallie betuix the Erle of Huntlie and the Erle of Atholl, quhair thair was takin of men and down cafting of houffes on ather fyd, and gret preparatione maid be ather of thame to invaide utheris, and armeis in redines to pas in ather of thair cuntreis to that effect. Bot the famin was flayed be the laboris of Maifter Alexander Gordoun than poftulat of Galloway, Maifter Johne Leflie officiall of Aberdene, and William Leflie young laird of Balquhane, quha appointed thame upoun all eliftis, wrangis and controverfeis, and caused thame meit and pas to atheris housses, and so contenowed in guid freindshipe estirwart. The lordis of the Congregatione all this tyme caused sindre in all parties of the realme medle with the kirkmennis housses and thair guidis, and speciallie the bishop of Rosses hous of the channonre of Ros, the bishoppis of Glasgw, Dunkell, Dumblane; Dumfermeling, Melros, Kelso and mony utheris; and sactors was appointed to thair benefices, quha wold not adjone with thame, be the quhilk cullour thay tuike upe the fruttes to thair awn use and commoditie.

Capitane Charlebus remaned all the tyme of the fege in Dumbar, and scarmished the Inglismen in their jornay cuming frome Inglande to Leith and returning, be the concurrence of the Erle Bothuile, quha contenowalie maid privat incursionis aganis the Inglismen all that tyme.

At the same tyme the Duike of Norfolke, quha was generall for the Quene of Inglande and remaned contenowalie in Berwik, come secreit-lie with ane sew cumpanie and viseit the camp at Leithe and the toun of Edinburgh, and returned agane or any knawlege was spred of his being thair.

The Kinge of France being advertesed of the extremyte that his capitanis and souldioris being in the toun of Leyth was into, through the contenowall and sharpe persuit and segeing of the Inglis and Scottismen, and perceaving that he could not be abill to sende sic forces as shuld be sufficient for thair relief, within sa schorte tyme as thair necessitie required; and considering the new tumult begun within his awin cuntrey at Amboist, he thought best to travell to haif the essares in Scotlande componed and aggreit. And to that essect he sende two ambassadouris to the Quene of Inglande, quhilk was Monsieur Monluke bischope of Valance and Drusse, and the Erle of Randen; quha cuming in Inglande, declared to the Quene, thay war sende to desyre hir to retire hir army furthe of Scotlande, upoun sic reasonable treatis and conditionis as thay culd aggre apoun, quhilke thai offered to treat apoun with hir; for that thay affermed it was not decent that the Kinge of France should sende to his awine subjects of Scotlande, as he affermed thame to be, through the lait mariage of the Quene thair Soverane, to treat for peace or contract with tham. The Quene of Inglande being glade of this office, send Sir William Cecill knycht, hir principall secretare, and Doctor Wolton deane of Cantirberry and Yorke, with the Frenche ambassadouris, into Scotlande, to treat, appoint, conclude and determine ane peace amangis Frenche, Inglis and Scottis; and being honorable and saussie convoyde, thay maid thair jornay quhill thay come to the town of Edinburgh in Scotlande.

Quhen thir ambassadours was apoun thair jornay, beleaving to have found the Quene Regent leaving in the castell of Edinburgh, quhome thay thought fuld be ane guide inflrument to further this concorde, at thair arryving, thay did know that this honorable princes, pairtlie confumed with gret malancolie, thought and grevous displeasour, pairtlie with lang and incurable feiknes, was called be the pleafour of God to his mercy, and decessed in the castell of Edinburgh the x day of Junij, in the yeir of God I^m V^clx yeris. Hir body thaireftir was careid to France in ane ship, to the abbay of Feckin in Normandie. nobill, wyfe and honorable princeffe and chaift Ladie, ever weill and verteouslie exerced, keping hir vidowit with gret honor. During hir tyme, sho lerned als guid experience of the natour of Scotlande, and inclinatione of the nobilitie and peple, as evir ony Kinge of that realme had, and culd apply hir als weill to thair maners and conditiones; and in the tyme that sho was Regent, sho kepit guid justice, and was weill obeyit our all the partis of Scotlande, as also in Orknay and in the Ilis; and affuredlie gif sho had bene suffreid to haif reulit the realme be hir owin jugement and experience, with the counsell of the nobilitie and wyse men of the samin, (as of hir self sho was inclinit to do,) thair had nevir bene controversie nor debaite betuix hir or any Scottismen. Bot becaus Monfieur Dofell, Rubie, and utheris Frenche men wer adjoned to hir, without the advyle of the flatis of Scotlande, quha daylie preffed hir be thair new inventionis to make alteratione of lawis, raising of impositionis, taxtis and uther sic things as had nevir bene used in that realme; thairfoir the effatis and peple did murmour and grudge thairat, and not for any evill contentment thay had at the faid noble princes: for the deceiffed with gret regrait, in meane maid for hir throch the hoill realme. A litell befoir hir departing, sho caused make ane buike, quhairin was written the names of all the principall men of any calling or estate quhatsumevir, spirituall or temporall, clark, barron or burges, within the dominionis of Scotlande, and of thair guide behaveour and evill, notinge thame quha was dewitifull fubjectis from the uther that was feditious; and sho caused send the same to the Quenis Majestie our Soverane, hir dochtir in France, that thairby sho should lerne and understande the state of the cuntrey, and quhome to traist, and in quhat maner to behave hir felf in tymis cuming. The deith of the Quene Regent discouraged mekle the Frenche men within Leyth, and the French ambaffadoris alfo that was cum to treat concorde, and maid thame to aggre upoun far inferiour conditionis nor thay war of purpose of befoire.

The four ambaffadoris and commissioners of France and Inglande, cuming to Edinburgh, entered in conference amangis thame selfs apour mony and syndre articles, quhilks was proponed on all sydis, alswell for the releif of Scottismen as for the weill and suirtie of the Quene of Inglande; quhairupoun certane lordis of Scotlande conferred with tham, and estir long treatie, thair was a peace concludit and contracted the saxt daie of Julij, in the yeir of God I^m V^c Ix yeris, bearing divers heidis and articles to be done be Frenche, Scottise and Inglismen, as is conteaned at lenth in the treatie and aggreement maid at that tyme, quhairof the soume and essect was as heir followis:

That the King of France and Quene of Scotlande his fpous, fould not use the armes or tytle of Inglande or Irelande in tymes cuming; and that all lettres sealed with that armes sould be called in within fax monethes, and maid null.

That the realme of Scotland fuld be governit be xij counfalours of the nobilytic and lordis, and fevin of thame to be gevin be the Quene, and the reft be the lordis.

That all injuries and lait hurttis done in this yeire fuld be foryet; and to that effect a parliament to be haldin in the nixt moneth of August, for conferminge ane acte of oblivione of all injuries done fra the xth daye of Marche 1558, to the first daye of August 1560 yeris; and that a commissione should be send frome France to holde the same parliament.

That every man fould be reftorit to fic offices as he had of befoir, and that no Frenche man should bruik office in Scotland.

That the wallis of the toun of Leith should be cassin down to the ground, and siclyke the fort biggit befoir Dumbar, gif the nobill men of Scotland thoucht the same to be done.

That all the French capitanes and men of warr that were in Scotland, fuld embark within xx^{ij} daies, and fuld depairt furth of the realme, faving onlie ane hundreth and xx^{ij} foldiours, who should remane in Dumbar and Inchekeith, for keping of thame; and thay to be subject to the lawis of the realme as any uther Scottismen.

Item, That the hoill Inglis army fuld depairt furth of Scotland at the same tyme.

That it should not be lesum to any Frenche soldiours to cum in Scotland, or munitione to be send from France, but by the consent of the nobilitie thairof.

And as to the flate of religione, the same was deferrit to ane new treatie.

Heir is necessar to be rememberit, the caus quhy in this treatye their was nothing aggreit tueching religione; becaus the commissioners of Ingland wald haif wished the Congregatione of Scotland to haif ressarit the discipline and ceremonies conforme to the order establishit laitly befoir in thair parliament of Ingland, so that boith the realmes micht haif ben uniforme in religione and ceremonies; bot the ministers and congregatione of Scotland, thinking thair awin profession estir the order and discipline of Geneva, to be moir puir, as conteyning no uther ceremonies nor is expressely mentioned in the scriptour, thairfore wald not ressare or admitt any uther; and the commissioners for France walde not appreve nane of the tua, and thairfoir that mater was delayit.

Eftir this appointment was endit, all the portis of the town of Leith was opinnit and maid patent; and becaus thair was no Frenche shippes thair to carye awaye thair armye, thairfoir the Quene of Inglandis shippis was conductit thairto, and the Frenchmen, the bischop of Glasgw, and Lord Setoun, embarquit about the xixth daye of Julye, and maid saill with prosperous winde and weddir to France. The Inglis armye departit likwyise, and be the waye causit cast down the foirt before the castle of Dumbar, as it was appointit besoir.

In the beginning of August, thair was a parliament haldin in Edinburgh, conforme to the appointment, quhair the acte of oblivione was published, and a generall remitt of all offences bigane, as was aggreit in the treatye laitly maid at Leith. It was thair also aggreit to send the Erlis of Mortoun, Glencarne, and the young laird of Lethingtoun, to the Quene of Ingland, to gif hir thankis for thair support, and to offre the best amangis thame, (quhome they esteamit to be the Erle of Arrane,) to be disposit in mariage at hir pleasour, meanynge to be maryet with hir self. And schortlie thairestir they passit in Ingland with the said message, quhair thay ressavit guid wordis and intertenement, and no moir, and so returnit in Scotland.

The lordis remanit the most part of this winter in Edinburgh, quhair thay begouth to establishe the religion, appointing superintendentis to diverse partis of the realme; specially ane to Fife, ane to Lowthiane, and ane to Glasgw, ane to Angus, ane to Galloway; and implanting ministers in the principall borrow tounis, to remane quhair thay war receavit; and than causit summone sindre of the best learnit men out of all the partis of the realme to cum to Edinburgh, to gif reason of thair faith and professione of thar religeowne. Amangis the quhilkis, thair was causit to compeir furth of the universite of Aberdene, Mr John Leslye official of Aberdene, licentiat in boith the lawis, Mr Alexander Andersone principall of the college, professor of theologie, and findrie utheris; quha compeirit befoir the lordis in the tolbuith at Edinburghe, and being inquirit of the articles of doctryne be Johne Knox, John Willox, and Mr Guidman ministers, thair was very sharpe and hard disputacions amangis thame, fpeciallie concerninge the veritie of the body and bluid of Christ, in the facrament and facrefice of the Messe. Bot nothing was concludit, for that every ane of them remanit conftant in their awin professione; and thairfore these clarkis of Aberdene war commandit to waird in Edinburgh a lang space thairester, and that thay shuld not preiche in ony wyis in tymes cumming.

Quhill this was in doing in Scotland, Frances King of France had affemblit the hoill estaitis of France in the town of Orleance, quhair he was fuddantly firiken with seiknes, and deceissit thair the first days of December. And incontynent thairestir, Charles his brodir was receavit King be the hoill estatis in his place, and crownit. And the Quenes hieghnes of Scotland being now lest widowe, estir sho had remanit thair certane space in quyet maner, murning for the death of the King hir husband, sho departit to the toun of Renis, quhair sho past all the rest of the winter and quhill the nixt Pasche, and thair tuik deliberatione to returne in Scotland in that symmer; and in the meine tyme, past to Jamveill and Lorraine to taik hir leif of hir freindis, and to that effect begouth hir progres from Renis in the beginning of Aprill, and past to Chaloim, and fra that to Wyntrye St Dissers, and so to Jamveill, quhair sho remanit certaine days with the auld duches hir guidame, weill interteinit.

About this tyme, Lord James priour of Sanct Androis, hering that the Quenis Majestie was of purpois to returne in Scotland, be reison of the deith of the King hir husband, he thouht it necessar to prevene tyme for obteining of hir benevolens; and to that effect he departit frome Edinburgh the xviij th daye of Merche, throch Ingland, quhair he was weill intertenit be the Quene, and thairfra past in France, and come to the Quenis Majestie of Scotland his Soveraine, in the toun of Sanct Disieris in Champanye, the xvth daye of Aprill; quhair he did promes his faithfull obedience unto her Majestie, and requirit to haif the Erledome of Murray; bot sho differrit to gif aunswere to that or any uther thing quhilkis he did propone, quhill hir cuming in Scotland; and estir he had convoyit hir highnes to Jamveill, and tareit thair four or fyve dayis, he departit thairfra about the ende of Aprill, and returnit in Scotland.

At the same tyme, Mr John Leslye officiall of Aberdene, being send with special commission be the Erles of Huntley, Atholl, Crausurd, Merchell, Sutherland, Cathnes, bischoppis of Aberdene, Murray, Ros, and many utheris, embarquit in Aberdene, and landit at the toun of Briole in Holland, and thairfra come to the Quenis Majestie the xiiijth days of Aprile, to Vitrie.... in Champaigne, to offer and promyse the faithfull service and dewtie from all the principall nobill men, bischoppis, clergie, and borrowis of the north of Scotland; quhilk was acceptit in very guid part be hir highnes, and he remanit still with hir Majestie, till hir returning in Scotland.

Not long eftir, the Erlis Bothwell and Eglintoun, the bischop of Orknay, and findre uther nobill men and clarkis, arrivit in France, quha returnit in Scotland with the Quenes Majestie agane.

Thair was findrie publict disputacionis haldin apoun the controversies of religione this symmer; amangis the quhilkis, ane betuix Johne Willox and frier Johne Black. The heidis of thair disputatione war the three heir followings.

Quhethir the naturall body of Christ was really in the sacrament of the altar, be vertue of the wordis spokin be the priest or no? Quethir in the sacrament, efter the wordis of consecration, war any uther substance, than the substance of the body and bluid of Christ? Quethir in the Messe war a sacrifice propiatorie for the sinnes of the quicke and the deid? Bot in the ende nothing was agreit, bot thay remanit ather of thame in thair awin opinions, quhairby thair arraise greter contentione and doubt amangis the peple nor any proffeitt, as comonlye procedes of sic publict and obstinat ressoninge.

Quhen that the Quenes Majestie had tareit with the duiches her guiddame certane dayes in Jamveill, sho tuik her jornay thairfra towart Lorrain in the beginning of Maij, accompaniet with the cardinalls of Lorane and Gueise, and the Duik Domell, hir uncles, with findrie Scottismen; and the Duik of Lorrane, with the ould Duiches his modir, mett hir Majestie at the bordouris of his cuntrey, and convoyit hir with ane honorabill companye quhill sho come to the toun of Nantsy, his principall citye and strenth, in the quhilk also his best palace is scituate; quhair thair wes maid ane magnisque triumphe and entres, and all the ordinances gret and small on the wallis of the toun was shott, and hir hienes wes honorably and hartely receavit thair be the young Duiches of Lorrane, the King of France sister, and the nobills of that hoill cuntrey, and was weill intertenit, sum tymes in hunting on the seildis, and uther quhills seing and behalding plesant farces and playes, and using all kinde of honorabill pastymes within the palice; yit in the mein tyme hir Majestie become seik of ane sevir terrce, quhairof the Duiches of Guise her guiddame being advertifit, come fra Jamveill to Nantfy with guidlye fpeid, and causit the Quene be convoyit thairfra be easie jornaies to Jamveile, affirming be long experience, nothing to be better for the releif of that feiknes nor easye travaill and changing of the aire; and thair remaning quaill the beginning of the month of July, travellit thaireftir to the toun of Renis in Champaigne, and having tareit thair certane dayes weill intertenit be the cardinall, archbischop of Reanis, and Madame de Sampeir, hir modir fifter, hir grace past thairfra towart Paris; quhair thair come furth of the town the Kingis brodir, Duik of Angeow, the Prince of Condie, Duik of Guise, with mony princis, duikis, erles and noble men, and mett hir, and convoyit hir hichnes verrey honorably throch the toun of Paris, to the Faulxboures of Sanct Germanes, quhair the King was ludged, becaus he had not yet maid his entres in Paris; and thair remaning in cumpany with the King and Quene modir quhill about the ende of Julij, weill and honorablie intertenyt with all kinde of honest recreatione, aswell be boittis appoun the ryver of Seane, as utherwyis be triumphes and feactis of armes exerced within the abbay of Sanct Germans. And in this mein tyme, her Majestie pat ordour to her particular effares, and preparit all thingis necessar for hir jornay into Scotlande, obteinit all kinde of securiteis neidfull apoun hir duarie of France, appointit hir thefauraris, receavers, commissioners and other officiaries; causit send down be the wattir of Seane to Rowan and Newheavin, all her hingers, abilyeamentis, and all kinde of furnitour, quhilk was thair embarquet, and efter careit in Scotlande. And haifing all thair preparationis weill endit, hir Majestie begouth hir jornay the xxth of Julij frome Paris; and to the effect that the greiter honour and favour micht be schawin unto hir, the King him self, the Quene modir, the Duik of Angeow, Kinge of Navarre, and all uthers princes, duikis, cardinalls, and uthers nobill men of court, past for hir convoy to the

Kingis pallice of Sanct Germane in Lay five liggis distant frome Paris, quhair being reposed few daies, tuik hir leif of the King, Quene and hoill nobilitie, with gret honour, favorabill and loving interteinment, and most frendlie amyte, with confirmatione of ane perpetuall frendschipp to stand amangis thame, as it had done betuix thair predecessouris be most ancient bande and leage inviolably observit in all tymes past; and so departit throch Normandie and Picardie, accumpaneit with her fax uncles, quhilkis was the Duik of Guife, the cardinallis of Lorrane and Guife, the Duik of Omeill, the grande Prior, and the Marques of Albufe, and Monfieur de Cammorense and Monfieur Danveill, the Constables second sonne, with findrie uther nobill men, and convoyit hir to Abavile Montreill, and frome that to Calice; quhair thair wes preparit two gallayes, and fower gret schippis for her convoye, and thair embarqued the xiiijth daye of August, with three of hir uncles, Duik of Oumell, the grand Priour, and the Marques, and Monsieur Danveill, with many ladies and gentillwomen, specialie the four maidis of honour quha passit with hir hienes in France, of hir awin aige, bering the name everie ane of Marie, as is befoir mencioned; and likwyse ane doctor of theologie, twa doctours of medicine, and all uther necessar officers of hir hous being Frenche men; and fra that making faill, and rowing throw the feys with prosperous weddir, bot allwayis (as God wald haif it,) covered with mist all the way, so that the Quene of Inglandis shippis, quha was avating upoun that pray, culd nevir gett ficht of the gallayis quhill thay war past the coist of Ingland, and happely arrivit in the raid of Leith with all hir Majesteis cumpanye, and landit the xxth of August; quhair the Erle of Argile, Lord Erskin, Lord James priour of Sanct Androis, and findrie nobill men, and the toun of Edinburgh, convoyit hir hichnes to the abbay of Halierudhous. Schortly thaireftir, the Duik of Chatiliro, Erle of Huntley, Atholl, Merschall, Craufurd, and mony uther nobill men, being rejosed of hir Majesteis returning, come to Edinburgh with all possible diligence, offering their most humble fervice, dewty and obedience to their Soveraigne; quhilk not onlie hir hience exceptit in guide part, bot gaif theme most hartie thanckis, with loving countenance, and comelie behaviour, quhairof every ane of hir subjectis was meikle rejosed, as likwyse was hir uncles, seing so loving and hartlie meting betuix her Majestie, and hir nobilitie and subjectis.

Quhill preparatione was making in France for this convoye be fey towart Scotland, the Quene of Ingland fett furth certane of hir gret shippes, quha still awaitet alongest the coist of Ingland, of purpois as was advertist, to haif causit hir hienes mete with the Quene thairos, other with hir pleasour or utherwyis be force; thairsore to avoyde all danger, her Majestie send the abbott of Sanct Colmes to the Quene of Ingland, desiringe are safe conduct, incase be tempesteous and stormye wyndis sho war forced to land in Ingland, quhilk was grantit. But or he returnit to Calice thairwith, the Quene and hir hoill cumpany war weill and plesantie landit in Scotland. And in the mein season, the Inglis shippis tuik sum Scottis schippis, quhairin was certane lordis of hir cumpany, sic as the Erle of Eglintoun and utheris, and was stayit in Ingland sume space, albeit thairester shortlie releved, and suffred to returne in Scotland, the moir easely that the Quenes hienes was alreddye eschapped thair handis.

At the fame tyme, the King of France directit Monsieur Dosell toward Scotland, to haif remanit in the castle of Dumbar and fort of Inchekeith, to the cuming of the Quenes hienes, and than to haif randerit these strenthis at hir command. Notwithstanding, whosone he come to London, the Quene of Ingland wald not suffer him to pass surder, bot causit him returns again in France, for that she affermit that he and Monsieur Rubie, was the principall aucthoris of all the trubles quhilkis was in Scotland, betuin the Quene Regent and the nobilytic thairof, and that it was to be fearit he wald doo the lyke in tyme cuming, gif he warpermittit to pas in thair cuntrey.

Attour the Quenes hienes fornitour, hinging is and appareill, quhilk wes schippit at Newheavin and careit in Scotland, was also in hir awin cumpanye transportit with hir Majestie in Scotland; mony costlye jewells and goldin wark, precious stanis, orient pearle, maist excellent of any that was in Europe, and mony coistly abilyeament is for hir body, with meikill silver wark of coistlye cupbordis, cowpis, plaite.

Eftir hir Majestie and hir uncles, with their hoill cumpanye, was reposed certane dayes at Halieruidhouse, with guid entertainment and bancquetting maid also be the toun of Edinburgh, as be the lordis of the nobilitie, the Duik Domell and the grand Prior departit in the gallayis to France; Monsieur Danvele tareit three moneths thairestir, and past throw Ingland into France. And Monsieur Merques, hir hienes uncle, remanit in Scotlande all the next wynter, and in the begynnyng of the moneth of Marche, takand his jornay through Ingland, he returnit into France.

In the meine tyme, quhowsone all the principalls of the nobilite was convenit, thair was ane act maid be the lordis, to the quhilk thay procurit the Quenes hienes to consent, that becaus thair had bene greit tumult and disordour within the realme of Scotland for the controversie of religione, thairsore to remove all occasions of truble in tymes cammyng, it was ordanit, that no alteratione should be maid of the estate of religious publicktlie professit at the Quenis arryvall within the realme, quhill forder ordour should be tane thair intill; and that nothing sould be attemptit publicktly nor privatile contrar the same onder gret panis; quhilk wes schortlie proclamit and published throw all partis. And with the same, ordour was taik in that the Quenes hienes suld be governit be one counsall in tymes cuming; and to that effect thair was chosin ten temporall Lordis and two spiritual, to be of hir Majessies secreit counsall, be quhais adwyse sho suld doo all things; and sax of thame to remane contenowallye in cumpanye with hir hienes, befyde hir ordiner officiers, fic as thefaurer, fecretar, comptroller, lord privye feill and utheris. The lordis chosin to be of the privey counsall was thir following; the Duik of Shatiliro, the Erle of Huntley Chanceller, the Erle of Argile, the Erle of Atholl, the Erle Merschell, the Erle of Glencarne, the Erle of Mortoun, the Erle of Montroyfe, the Erle of Erroll, the Lord Erskyne, the bischop of Ros and Lord James prior Bot notwithstanding of the publicke choosing of this of St Andros. counfall, becaus hir Majestie was of young and tendir aige, nurifihet and brocht up in France, quhairby culd not haif learnit knawledge or experience of hir awin natyve cuntrey, nor of the maners of the nobilitie, peple and subjectis, nor yit of the lawis and customes of hir awin realme; thairfore sho did cheis the said Lord James, apoun quhome as hir brodir (albeit unlauchfull) sho did repose hir self holelie, putting hir most fuir trust and considence in him, befoir all utheris of hir nobilytic and fubjectis; and he acceptit the hoill charge and government of the realme apoun him, and causit appoint sic like personis to everie office about the Prince, fic as thefaurar, fecretar, comptroller, and utheris as he thouht best to nominat, quhairwith all the lordis of the nobilitie did murmour and grudge; yit nevertheles, he buir the matier fo fordwart aganis thame all, be the contenance and fortificatione of the Quenes aucthorytye, that he causit within short space thairestir the wisest and maist principallis of the nobilytie, thair howsis and freindis, to be put to gret wrak and utter ruyne; the Erles of Arrane, Bothwell and utheris put in preasone, the Erle of Huntley slayne and his sone heidit, the Erle of Sutherland and Lord Gordoun forfaltit, the ane baneist the realme, and the uther put in perpetuall preason, and the most part of thair kinn rewined, as in the particuler storie will esterwart appeir more at large.

Sindrie guid reffonis hes movit me to ende and conclude this my ruid and onlearnit wark, not worthye in name of ane cronicle, in this place; and not to pas at this tyme furthe with the declaratione of the historye of the yeires following, in that maner as I have done with the utheris Amangis the quhilkis, ane cause micht be alledged for my excuse, that it ye the custome and use allmost of all nations, nocht to wreit the historye of the government of any prince during thair awin tyme, for advoiding of the vice of flatterie, or ellis the perill of disdane and displeasour of that prince; for that micht be weill ineuch avoydit in this case, becaus that (as I tueched of befoir) this most gracious lady and verteous Princesse Quene Mary, did not governe the realme be hir felfe, during the most part of hir residence in Scotland, bot onlye be the faid Lord James; and quhen yt happenit him apon his desertis to be ablent, quhilk was bot for verry short space, utheris did taik the governement apon thame; fwa that these actis done at that tyme, of the quhilkis (with greit regrait and heavye hart I doo report the same) sindrye of thame are knowin to haif ben vicketlie attemptit and done, are thairfore to be impute to the governours and aucthoris thairof, and not to hir hienes. Bot I am principally movit to staye heir, considering the douptfull reportis that are fpred, throwch the ondewtifull doing is of the subjectis aganis thair soverayne Princesse, utterit be findrie plattis and interprices attemptit aganis hir procedingis, rather of ambitious myndes tendinge to usurpe the government, nor of any just caus thay culd pretend aganis hir hienes, quha wes at all tymes fo liberall and beneficiall to the principallis of thame that schew thame selfis maift ingrait and onthankfull eftirwart, that sho promovit findrie of thame to Erledomes and lordshippes, with uther gret benefices; besides that fic was hir clemencye, that sho pardonit and remittit thame often tymes, quhen thay had justly deservit be the lawys both deith, forfaltour and perpetuall infamye; yit hir Majestie never desirit revengement of hir enemye, not to be fatiffyet with the bluid of traitouris, bot in all thes cales hes preferrit mercy befoir justice. Quhairfore, confidering with my felf that this and the like proceding is in this government, being of so gret wecht requires ane large discourse, in the quhilk all the circumflances of those thingis quhilkis did occur ar to be declarit, and with discret adwyse to be pondered and weyit, quhairby the treuth may be difcerned from falleit, the trew historye may appere frome the falle reportis, and that innocent lady our foverayne princesse, may be deliverit from the fclaunderis and calumnies quhair with fum hes gone about to ftane and blott hir honour without any just desert, quhilkis cannot be at sic lenth weill comprehendit in this treatye as ys necessarlie requirit; for it is cum allreadye to ane full and greiter volume nor I intendit that the matier fuld haif careyt me at the beginning; the same being also of so gret importance, requiris to be handelit in ane hiecher maner of ftyle than I am abill to wreit, and bettir ya littell or nothing to be faid be me in these princely affaires then for laick of learning and eloquence in expressinge, to darkin or rather deface the excellencye of the same. And forder, I am certefeit that thair ys findrie men of excellent knawledge, and of diverse nationis, that purposis to sett forth the historye of Scotland, frome the tyme of the arriving of hir hienes thair furth of France, in the 1561 yeire of God to thir dayes; so that dewtye bindis me heir to conclude and flaye, referring the delirous reder that wald onderfland trewely the particular thingis quhilkis hes past in that tyme, unto fum breve nottis as are already, or to be shortlie set furth of the same tyme. Quhairfore I beseik the, gentill reader, to judge favorably and correct freindlie, so as thy correctione may rather be ane instruction than ane condempning of me, for I will not invy any quha will preifs to doe bettir; and fo to the closing and ending of this buik, latt all guid native trew Scottis hartis praye to Almichtye God to deliver the Quenis Majestie our Soverane, as he hes done oftymes heirtosoir, furth of all perrills and daungiers, and preserve hir hienes in most prosperous and honorabill estait, long to leve and raigne with honour, comfort and all happines; and thus I finishe and maik ane end, the xxvth day of Marche 1570 yeires.
